A BOY OF GALILEE

By Mildred Whitney Stillman

Author of "Queens and Crickets," "Unknowing," and "Wood Notes"

An exquisite little story, woven 'round the boyhood of the son of Joseph and Mary,—the warmly human Jesus of the Gospels.

The author pictures him, at the age of twelve, like most lads of twelve, absent-minded, filled with dreams of his future, and endlessly curious. Yet the mysticism, the power, the gentleness, which characterized Jesus the man, becomes apparent in the boy.

Though the story is, of course, imaginative rather than historic, the author acknowledges her indebtedness to Renan's "Life of Jesus" for the Nazareth background, and to Geike's "Life and Words of Christ" for the vivid and picturesque descriptions of Jerusalem and of the Passover.

WEIR MITCHELL

HIS LIFE AND LETTERS

By Anna Robeson Burr

Dr. S. Weir Mitchell lived in an era that produced many extraordinary men. His own life was remarkable for the extent of his achievements and the variety of his contacts. He knew Lowell, Meredith, Holmes, Carnegie, Phillips Brooks, Noguchi, Dr. Osler, Fanny Kemble, Whitcomb Riley, Earl Grey, Taft, Roosevelt, Hugo Münsterberg, and countless others. A young man at the time of the Civil War, he lived to correspond with President Wilhe lived to correspond with President Wilson,—who wrote of him: "I know of no one whose praise I would rather have . . ."

The letters that passed between Dr. Mitchell and these persons are singularly illuminating. They cast a unique light on the period, and evince, on the part of Weir Mitchell, a vast capacity for friendship, an amazing energy, and an intellect perfectly attuned to the forces of its own times and environment.

Weir Mitchell was one of several famous physicians who have followed the side-career of letters. Holmes warned him that side-shows generally fail to attract public interest; yet Mitchell's 2-volume novel, Hugh Wynne, has almost become a classic, and some of his other work is still reprinted.

He took pride in his non-professional associations, and moved in a memorable social group. The book is, in part, a glamorous chapter of Philadelphia history. Large 8vo., Illustrated, $6.00

"Leading the charger behind the casket, came the inevitable Sergeant Secrett, Earl Haig's lifelong friend."—New York Times.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS WITH EARL HAIG

By Sergeant T. Secrett, M. M.

In spite of all that has been written about Earl Haig, he has remained a rather mysterious figure until now. Sergeant Secrett, the great Field Marshal's body servant for 25 years, and his constant companion, reveals Haig as he actually was, in all moods, at all times, and in all places.

This intimate record is full of the most engrossing stories of Lord Haig at home, in South Africa, India, and particularly at G. H. Q. in France—thrilling incidents, picturing his brilliant leadership, indomitable courage, imperturbability and great humanity. This penetrating, simple, straightforward story contains material which will prove invaluable to the historian.

LIVING EAST

By David Wooster King
Author of "L. M. 8046"

Living East is the personal record of an adventurer in India and Afghanistan. Volumes have been written about these countries by the historian, the mystic, the diplomat and the reformer. Mr. King is not concerned with their questions; he finds the event of living too varied and too exciting. Whether dodging sharpshooters in the Khyber or money sharpers in Calcutta, climbing the Himalayas or throwing himself under the Juggernaut, crashing the gates of a Mohammedan Mosque or of the best English club, he tells it simply, directly, electrically.

Benares, Darjeeling, the Lake Country, the Taj Mahal, Peshawar, the nautch dancers, the fakirs, the ascetics, the pilgrims, the vipers, the incredible servants,—they are all here, presented spontaneously and without pretense.

The illustrations are from photographs taken by Lowell Thomas, author of "With Lawrence in Arabia," who accompanied Mr. King.

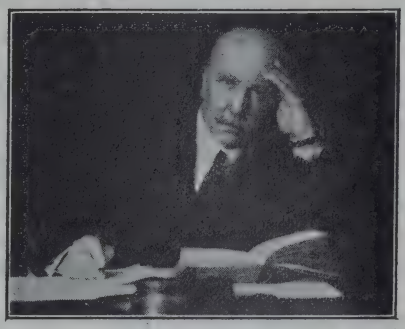
THE BOOKS OF

GENERAL P. N. KRASSNOFF

"All seeing, all comprehending, Krassnoff belongs among the literary masters"—International Book Review.



THE WHITE COAT

Introduction by Henry Irving Brock

Ready Sept. 30th.

'Tho exiled from his beloved Russia, General Krassnoff is fully aware, through the intermedium of friends on the other side of the frontier, of the mood and spirit of the masses who have recovered from the heavy fumes of the Red drug; of the untiring preparation, under the surface of Red prosperity—determined to dig a grave for the III Internationale. In "The White Coat" (an organization not unlike our "K.K.K." of Civil war days), the reader is swept along with these counter-revolutionists; feels the grandeur of their interior flame—or is drawn down into the abyss to which their souls are sometimes precipitated (vide the "Black Mass"). From beginning to end, the picture is painted in the extraordinarily vivid colors that readers of Krassnoff have come to know.

FROM DOUBLE EAGLE TO RED FLAG

6TH LARGE EDITION

"A canvas so gigantic . . . it will surely take its place as one of the great books of the century."—The Forum.

"A stupendous novel."—Boston Transcript.

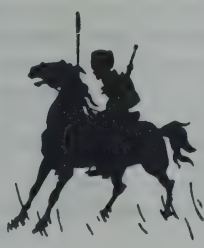
"More than fiction—better than ten volumes of political discussion."—Saturday Review of Literature. 8vo., 2 Vol., Boxed, $7.50

THE UNFORGIVEN

2ND EDITION

A gigantic epilogue to "Double Eagle to Red Flag"—a gorgeous and vivid panorama, and in natural sequence, the forerunner of "The White Coat." 8vo., $3.50

THE AMAZON OF THE DESERT

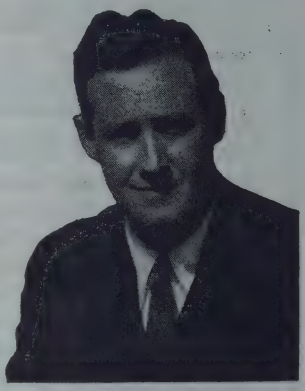


The epic note of Krassnoff's political novels, here gives way to an idyllic chapter of Russian outpost life before the war—a thrilling romance of the wild Tien Shan frontier, its effect on a young Cossack officer and the tumultous, fascinating Fedossia—the Amazon.

"Glowing, swift-moving . . . full of color."—Boston Post. "Clean, inspiring . . . adventurous."—Ohio State Journal. "Admirable for adventure fans."—N. Y. Herald Tribune. "One of the most entertaining and interesting stories in many, many months . . . different from any you have read."—Charlotte Observer. $2.00

MUD AND GLORY

By James N. Neville



This novel revolves about a personal situation known to have existed on a Yale football squad in the year ——. Into this is brought the famous bonehead run which occurred in the California vs. Georgia Tech. game of 1928. Despite the author's assertion to the contrary, several well-known athletes, and at least one coach, are easily recognizable. Among the characters are: Terry—greatest of Quarterbacks; Margot—gay, modern, "Seeking a solution to the difficult art of living gracefully and without inconvenience, discarding the mouldy virtues and syndicated thought handed down by inhibited ancestors," and "Red"—big-hearted, thick-skinned, lazy, cruel. A modern, high-spirited tale. $2.00

UNMARRIED LIFE

A COMEDY OF MANNERS

By John North, Author of "Patricia Lacked a Lover"

Had it not been for a thoughtful examination of the liaison between his friend, Dennis Heigham, and the charming Joan Marland; had not his impeccable secretary and Mrs. Goodbody, his housekeeper, unconsciously conspired against it, Charles Maybrook might have legalized his relationship with Foy Broadwater two or three years before. A various and vivacious comedy, achieving authentic realism and lively characterization through the author's gift of deft delineation of tremendous trifles. $2.00

PATRICIA LACKED A LOVER

By John North

As this list goes to press, Patricia is enjoying the same sort of success which has made her author the London vogue. In other words, Patricia is selling fast—and she is one to catch. When life with her matter-of-fact husband, Robin, begins to pall, she naturally runs away in Robin's beloved car. Then . . . well, you must read about her.

"Brisk, sophisticated, thoroughly entertaining."—Hartford Courant.

"Neatly executed, never dull."—N. Y. World.

"Gay comedy . . . diverting dialogue."—Outlook.

THE GREAT WEIRD STORIES

Edited by Arthur Neale

"Twenty authors do their infernal best to keep nervous readers from sleeping nights"—N. Y. Herald Tribune

There have been other collections of stories of the unnatural and weird in the past, but we are confident that there has been no such gathering together of the uncany in literature as is presented here. Some of these you undoubtedly know, but it is unlikely that you have read them all. A partial list of the contents follows:

"The Great Keinplatz Experiment," by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle*; "In Letters of Fire," by* Gaston Leroux*; "The Red Room," by* H. G. Wells*; "The Two Sisters of Cologne," Anonymous; "The Woman's Ghost Story," by* Algernon Blackwood*; "Almodoro's Cupid," by* William Waldorf Astor*; "The Ghost's Double," by* L. F. Austin*; "In the Valley of the Sorceress," By* Sax Rohmer*; "The Mark of the Beast," by* Rudyard Kipling*; "The Man Who Lived Backwards," by* Allen Upward, and ten other chill-raising masterpieces. Twenty stories in all. $2.00

THE NEGRO IN LITERATURE AND ART

By Benjamin Brawley, Author of "A Short History of the American Negro"

THIRD EDITION

This volume, now deservedly famous, treats more thoroughly than has ever before been attempted the achievement of the Negro along literary and artistic lines. The author who began his intensive study twenty years ago, has revised the material over and over again, and presents here, in a new edition, the most comprehensive work obtainable on the Negro, as represented in the various arts. Illus. Appendix, Bibliography, $2.00

GUILTY OR NOT GUILTY?

STORIES OF CELEBRATED CRIMES

By Guy B. H. Logan

One of the greatest indoor sports of the day, is the attempt to solve mysteries in which the author has given all the facts of a crime, but left the solution to the reader. Hence the present volume finds a fitting place in the game. The murders dealt with in these pages are all actual cases which, for the most part, are still surrounded by doubt and mystery.

These celebrated crimes are fertile fields for thought and speculation; they lend themselves to argument and debate, and leave us with the uncomfortable feeling that "Justice" was meted out, though the crime was still unsolved. 8vo., $3.50

THE STRAWBERRY GIRLS

By Helen Milicete Duffus

Wracking their brains, the publishers could not possibly write a clearer recommendation of "Strawberry Girls" than this—a report on the manuscript from one of our young readers:

" 'Strawberry Girls' is the best book I've read for a long time. It is a lot like Little Women by Louise M. Alcott, only it has a charm all its own, also lively fancies and trueness of life. I think you ought to publish it right away, because no girl could help being interested in it. Nan is very fine the way she pulls things up, and is like Jo in Little Women. Lil is like Meg: she is also good, but is rather stuck up, sometimes." Signed—Alison Green. $2.00

BLUE PIGEONS

By Emma Gelders Sterne

A charming tale of ancient Greece, and an excellent introductory glimpse, for any child, of the spirit of classic times and the matchless Athenian way of living. It is the story of Paulus, a slave boy, captured after the Spartan invasion, and brought up in an Athenian family; of his companionship with children of the household, but, as a slave, debarred from most of their games—and of how, by an act of courage, he wins, not only his freedom, but citizenship as well. 8vo., Illus. $2.00

WHITE SWALLOW

By Emma Gelders Sterne

Recommended by the A.L.A., The Child Welfare Association and many Circles and school boards.

A charming and adventurous folk-tale of a little Indian boy and his sister, "White Swallow," who lived in the long-ago time. A delightful and enticing story for all young children, beautifully written, and most attractively illustrated by Edna Potter. $2.00

BUMMER'S CIRCUS

By Robert Starkey

Illustrated by Dorothy Owen

A big book, gorgeously illustrated, about a town where only dogs live—about a circus, by dogs for a dog audience—and you know how dogs love a circus. Bummer, the young pointer who organized this big show, was a real dog, so some of this book is bound to be true. The author, for many years, travelled with a circus as an acrobat, and Bummer was his own dog, so named because of his wandering habits. "He was very intelligent, and my constant companion," says Mr. Starkey.

A NEW BAKER BOOK!

TOMSON'S HALLOWE'EN

By Margaret and Mary Baker

The old witch was tired of Hallowe'en pranks, so she brewed her a broth at home, and sent out Tomson the cat, and her favorite broom to tend to her annual job. If it is possible for the Bakers to write or illustrate more charmingly and sympathetically than heretofore, they have achieved it in "Tomson's Hallowe'en."

Silhouettes on every page, $2.00

THE OTHER BAKER BOOKS:

"It begins to look as if the Brothers Grimm had found a pair of present day successors in the Sisters Baker . . . Hans Andersen would have been the first to praise the silhouettes . . . There should always be a new Baker book to appear as regularly as a Kate Greenaway Almanack, or the London revival of 'Peter Pan' and the Christmas pantomime."—Rachel Field in N. Y. Evening Post.

TRACK ATHLETICS
UP-TO-DATE
New Edition with Additional Text
Introduction by Grantland Rice

Ten years ago, when Ellery Clark's "Track Athletics Up-to-Date" was first brought out, it was hailed as the best book yet published on the various sports represented. Now, in the new edition of 1929, brought entirely up-to-date once more, is presented practically all there is to know and should be known, about Track and Field sports. The history of Track Athletics is briefly traced; there is a summary of our present knowledge of proper methods of training and of performing the various events. All notable records are given, and the volume is illustrated throughout with photographic reproductions.
With new wrapper in full color. 8vo., $2.00

LEARNING TENNIS
By Betty Nuthall

A book of pleasure and instruction for all Tennis "fans," by the English school-girl who, in 1927, came over to Forest Hills and created the sensation of the year by defeating all comers with the exception of Helen Wills.

"One of the best, and best written books on the game."—New York Evening Post.

"Things the beginner must know, and do, and remember . . . simple, direct, a practical book."—New York Times.

8vo., Illus. from photos. $2.50

FOOTBALL: Today and Tomorrow
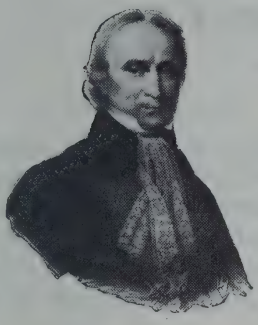
By Coach Bill Roper, Princeton '02

Here is the greatest book on the great game, by the greatest coach. It is not alone a valuable book of instruction—it is a book for every lover of the sport. There are inside stories of famous plays and famous games, and many exciting incidents.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger, in a long review, says: "Thrills in this book for the college man, the school boy, casual man, woman, boy or girl who ever saw or ever expects to see a game . . . his book lives."

8vo., Fully illus. with action photos., $2.50



OUR REVOLUTIONARY FOREFATHERS

By François Marbois, Marquis de Barbé-Marbois

These fascinating letters—for 150 years deep hidden in ancestral vaults—were written to his sweetheart at the time the famous Marquis was secretary to the French Minister to the U. S. (1779-1785). Naturally he hobnobbed with Washington, Franklin and virtually all the great men of the time. Less naturally, he had a delightful sense of humor, and put down his sometimes amused, sometimes respectful, always eager impressions of American customs.

"We have far too little such history."—N. Y. World. 8vo., Illus., $3.50

MEMOIRS OF NAPOLEON I

Compiled by Dr. F. M. Kircheisen

A unique volume, by one of the foremost Napoleonic scholars, who, out of the enormous bulk of literature, has extracted enough material to make a personal life narrative of the "Little Corporal" in Napoleon's own words from start to finish. Written in the first person, this work has an intimate touch absent from any of the very best biographies. 8vo., Illus., $5.00

MEMORIES OF MY FATHER

By Sir Henry Fielding Dickens, K.C.

While not a "Life" of Dickens, these short recollections of the great novelist by his son, now 80 years old, form a valuable contribution to Dickensiana.

8vo., 12 hitherto unpublished illus., $2.00

MY PERILOUS LIFE IN PALESTINE

By Rosamond Dale Owen (Mrs. Laurence Oliphant)

The autobiography of the famous mystic who braved the fury of the "old" Turks, and finally secured ownership of the site of Solomon's stables—"The place which is called Armageddon." 8vo., $3.00

THE PORTRAIT OF A BANKER

JAMES STILLMAN 1850-1918

By Anna Robeson Burr

A splendid biography of one of the makers of modern American history.
"All the human interest anybody could ask."—Sat. Review of Literature.
"Masterly."—Phila. Public Ledger. Large 8vo., Illus., $5.00

ARMENIA and the Near East

By Dr. Fridtjof Nansen

SECOND EDITION

Nansen, professor, explorer, Nobel Prize winner and High Commissioner for Refugees for the League of Nations, tells modestly and fearlessly of succoring millions of his fellow men, whom the young Turks almost succeeded in exterminating during the great war. It is a moving tale, lightened by vivid word pictures of a most picturesque country and its inhabitants. 8vo., Fully illustrated, $3.00

FATAL KISSES

By Elliott O'Donnell

Author of "Strange Disappearances," "Strange Sea Mysteries," etc.

The fate of nations as well as individuals, has sometimes hung on a kiss. In this volume, the author gives some very remarkable instances of it; the Princess Nuzzly, luring to death the romantic youth of Cairo—Egypt's modern Cleopatra; Bianca Capello, lovely Venetian, who enslaved a Duke and dealt death all 'round; "Good Queen Bess" as a seducer; the notorious Countess Tarnovsky, to be kissed by whom, men sacrificed life and honor—and a long procession of women, leading, through passion, to every sort of intrigue and tragedy. 8vo., $2.50

BUCK FEVER

By Henry Morton Robinson

The narrative and lyric poetry of the former Editor of "Contemporary Verse" is known to a multitude of readers, and loved for its direct vigor.

The New York Sun, in commenting on this new collection, says: "Something of a triumph . . . when he deals with the visual and the objective, he is in full command." $1.75

MAÑANALAND

By John Cudahy

The fascinating record of an expedition of "discovery" into great, and little-known Lower California—a vivid description of the country, its inhabitants and luxurious wild life. A handsome book, generously illustrated from photographs, this is an ideal gift to the hunter or adventurer. 8vo., Fully Illus., $3.00

THE INTELLECT IS A BRUTE

By Samuel H. Ordway, Jr.

A brilliant novel of emancipated youth searching our confused intellectual heritage for a satisfying philosophy. The clash of passions, the liberation of feelings—over the high-road from Rousseau to Shaw—youth, beauty, battles, the devil, true love—all are, allegorically entwined.

"A modern Faust . . . finely written . . . amusing."—New York Sun.

THE SON OF DR. TRADUSAC

By Elizabeth Huntington

Ruthless, powerful and partly autobiographical—this novel is a study of New York respectability in the Gay Nineties, the story of life behind the Brown Stone front, with its bunk, bosh and sentimentality.

"I read it with a high degree of interest . . . it is rare in these days to find anybody writing with such a fiery conviction."—Elmer Davis.

PERIODICALS

HISPANIC AMERICAN HISTORICAL REVIEW. A quarterly review dealing with the study of the history of the Latin-American countries in all of its aspects conducted with the co-operation of a representative group of American scholars. Subscription, $4.00 a year.

A limited number of sets of complete files of the Review are still available at $5.00 the volume.

THE SOUTH ATLANTIC QUARTERLY. A magazine which serves as a medium for the expression of views on social, literary, and historical subjects. While not limited to a section, it contains many articles dealing with the South. It is now in its twenty-seventh year. Subscription, $3.00 a year.

Owing to a fire, there are no complete files of the South Atlantic Quarterly available. Several sets almost complete are still to be had. For prices, write to the Manager of Duke University Press, Durham, North Carolina.

AMERICAN LITERATURE. Duke University has recently established a quarterly journal devoted to research in the field of American literature. This periodical is "published by the Duke University Press with the co-operation of the American Literature Group of the Modern Language Association of America." Its scope and purpose are indicated in its name, AMERICAN LITERATURE: A Quarterly Journal of American Literary History, Criticism, and Bibliography. Subscription, $4.00 a year.

The board of editors consists of the following well-known representatives in the field of American literature: Jay B. Hubbell, Duke University, chairman; Kenneth B. Murdock, Harvard University; Ralph Leslie Rusk, Columbia University; Fred Lewis Pattee, Pennsylvania State College; and W. B. Cairns, the University of Wisconsin.

The journal will fill a need which has been felt for some time. The support given it by the very active American literature scholars in the Modern Language Association will insure its high quality. The first number appeared in March, 1929.

This book presents the elementary theory of electricity and magnetism without departing for a moment from the things and conditions which are met with in practice; it sets forth a point of view that has been urged by the authors for many years, and it deserves very careful examination and trial by teachers of Applied Electricity in Technical High Schools.

Advanced Electricity and Magnetism . . . Price $2.50

This book presents certain important topics (Magnetism of Iron, Ship's Magnetism and the Compensation of the Compass, Inductance, Electrostatics, and Electromagnetic Wave Motion) in a manner that is unique in its simple but rigorous mathematical style and in its vivid emphasis on what is practically real.

HOLIDAY by Philip Barry
A COMEDY IN THREE ACTS

This is the latest play by Philip Barry, and one of the outstanding successes of the New York season. Holiday is the story of a young man who is engaged to a girl of great wealth and social standing. But he refuses to "make good" with her father, preferring to enjoy life as a holiday and an independent venture in happiness. Because of this the two separate, but at the end the girl's sister, realizing that the young man is right and her family wrong, confesses that she is in love with him and agrees to go away and marry him. A delightful and brilliant comedy.

PRICE $2.00

PLAYS BY PHILIP BARRY

HOLIDAY—A Comedy in Three Acts. See detailed description above.

PARIS BOUND—A Comedy in Three Acts. One of Mr. Barry's most skillful studies; a brilliant comedy on modern marriage.

JOHN—A Play in Five Acts. A profoundly beautiful play about John the Baptist, written in the human manner of modern biography.

WHITE WINGS—A Comedy in Three Acts. Conceded by the critics to be one of the most charming and subtle fantastic comedies ever written by an American.

IN A GARDEN—A Comedy in Three Acts. This delicate high comedy was acclaimed as a little masterpiece of delicate irony and character analysis.

YOU AND I—A Comedy in Three Acts. The first of Mr. Barry's plays to be produced, and for some years his most popular and oftenest acted.

THE YOUNGEST—A Comedy in Three Acts. A very human and appealing comedy of contemporary life.

STREET SCENE by Elmer Rice
1929 PULITZER PRIZE PLAY
A PLAY IN THREE ACTS

Street Scene is the outstanding success of the New York season. This is a remarkable picture of the teeming life in a brown-stone Manhattan apartment building that has seen better days. A panorama of the comedy and tragedy of daily life played to the accompaniment of rumbling elevated trains and the hooting of the river whistles.

PRICE $2.00

ALEXANDER, JAMES

Thought-Control in Everyday Life. A practical, sincere, and helpful book, by an experienced psychologist, which tells how to control the mind and all its activities in the rush and stress of modern life and thus promote daily happiness and business efficiency. The first half of the volume is devoted to all the factors that keep people from controlling their thoughts; the second half explains just how individuals may overcome these hindrances, how they may begin to be masters of their thought, what aids to employ, and finally how to create a personal thought-control system and practise it in everyday life. Mr. Alexander's method can be used alike in the busy outer world and in the quiet privacy of the home. It is for women as well as for men. The author has developed a simple yet effective system for the curing of evil thought habits, and the forming of good ones, for the controlling of emotional states, the banishing of worries and regrets, and the focusing of all the energies of the mind upon the work in hand. There are sections on thought-control in study, in a crowd, in public speaking, in ill health, in every activity of life.
12mo, Cloth, 275 pages. $2.00.

"A book such as 'Thought-Control in Everyday Life' has in it the qualities that would make thousands more intelligent about themselves, happier, more cheerful and more successful. It is a veritable path to 'know thyself,' and the path in this case is very easy to tread: arguments are easily understood: methods are clearly expressed: we see ourselves in a clear looking-glass. As a so-called 'self helpful book' I know not its equal for simplicity and easy understanding."—Edward W. Bok.

BRAZELTON, ETHEL M. COLSON

Writing and Editing for Women. A complete guide for women who wish to prepare themselves for professional writing through home study—a text-book for the use of schools in teaching journalism to women. The author's experience has given her exceptional qualifications for preparing a practical manual of this sort. She was special writer for the Chicago Tribune and Chicago Record-Herald, and later became literary editor of the last-named paper, and has done practically every kind of newspaper and magazine work; she is now instructor in the Medill School of Journalism, Northwestern University. This volume covers a very large field with surprizing completeness and unusual clarity, and in it the author seeks to pass along to others such methods of craftsmanship and salesmanship which have won success for her as free-lance writer, critic, and editor. The thirteen main chapters are: How to become a reporter; how to write for children; how to run a woman's department; what club editors must know and do; why women succeed with civic subjects; how to become a "publicity secretary"; the handling of commercial propaganda and advertising; the requirements of a house organ or trade paper; women as literary and dramatic critics; how to write about moving pictures; the technique of editing and editorial writing; how to write feature articles that will be accepted; how to syndicate them; how to get and keep a position as reporter or editor. In fact, every field is covered in which the ambitious, up-to-date woman can reasonably hope to earn money as a writer or editor. A score of prominent writers and editors in various lines have contributed several pages of advice which the reader will find of unusual value.
Crown 8vo, Cloth, with appendixes, 285 pages. $2.50.

BRUCE, H. ADDINGTON

Your Growing Child. A volume of such specific help and such gripping interest to every parent that it may seem surprizing that no other writer has produced one of similar character. H. Addington Bruce, author of "Nerve Control and How to Gain It," "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," etc., is an authority on psychology and mind-body relationships, and is one of the few men who can write about a scientific subject in language which the average person may readily understand. What the parent-reader will most appreciate is the fact that the author does not lay down hard-and-fast rules for the management of the young, realizing that no book, however excellent, can serve as an adequate substitute for the exercise of parental common sense and intuition in dealing with children. It does, however, give the most helpful instructions for the exercise of intuition and common sense, for thinking and acting, and in general for conserving home life in the best sense of the term. Summarized, what the parent will find in this volume is the latest research, the latest established principles of psychology as applied to the character training and mental training of children—a cheerful guide and one which is full of encouragement and practical common sense.

Crown 8vo, Cloth, 417 pages. $2.50.

CARTER, PROFESSOR JAMES, D.D.

The Gospel Message in Great Pictures. Seldom have the better known religious paintings been made the basis for such inspiring sermons as are contained in this volume. These fifteen impressive discourses are drawn not alone from famous paintings and sculptures, but also from the personalities of the artists who created these masterpieces. Each sermon is based on a Scripture text and written with a rare combination of religious feeling, eloquence, and practical knowledge of the needs of the present age. The illustrations, themselves, are fine reproductions of the original paintings—each occupying a full page. They include such great works as "Christ Before Pilate," by Munkacsy; "The Light of the World," by Hunt; "Christ Casting Out the Money-Changers," by Kirchbuck; "Christ Preaching From a Boat," by Hofmann; and many others. When the preacher has finished this volume he will have acquired enough of the author's technique to enable him to build like sermons upon other great pictures, thus providing himself with another vehicle for more deeply impressing spiritual truths on his listeners.
Crown 8vo, Cloth. $2.00.

COSSLEY-BATT, JILL L., O.B.E., B.A., B.Sc.

The Last of the California Rangers. The life story of William James Howard, one of the original 49-ers, who died in Portland, Oregon, in 1924, at the age of ninety-seven, the last surviving member of the fearless company of Rangers who stamped out banditry in California in the gold-rush days. The author first gives us glimpses of life in old Virginia, where Howard was born; in Mississippi and later in Texas; then on the plains, where he nearly perished of thirst, and in the California gold-mines, where he came within an ace of being lynched; next among the Indians, who nursed him back to health, and later as a trader, a deputy sheriff, and explorer of the Yosemite, and a California Ranger, helping to hunt down Joaquin Murieta's band of cut-throats. Illustrated with reproductions of original drawings, rare pictures, letters, etc.
Crown 8vo, Cloth. $2.50.

Special autographed, De Luxe Edition, limited to two hundred numbered copies. Bound in three-quarter genuine morocco. $10.00.

CROY, MAE SAVELL (Mrs. Homer Croy)

How Women Can Make Money. An intensely practical volume full of workable suggestions as to how a woman may make money. It contains no trite advice regarding house-to-house canvassing or such like schemes, but presents real ideas upon which any woman may found a means of providing an income to an extent limited only by her own energies and abilities. The author knows something of the necessity of earning money. At the age of seventeen she was thrust out into the world to make her own living. A Southern girl of an old Southern family with all the background and tradition of the South behind her, she struggled through country-school teaching, office-work, secretarial work, and finally into her own business. She is now writing plays. As a result of her own experience, she has a sympathetic attitude which is evidenced throughout the volume. Her entire book is flavored with a thorough understanding of the value of energetically and enthusiastically pursuing whatever line of activities the reader may decide upon. The following chapter headings will give an excellent idea of the practical value of the work: If a Woman Suddenly Has to Support Herself; For the Woman Who Wants to Earn Money in Her Home; For the Woman Who Can Go Outside Her Home to Earn Money; Opportunities in Radio; For the Woman Who Can Give Only an Hour or Two a Day to Earning Money; For the Young Woman Who Wants to Earn Money; The Elderly Woman Who Needs to Earn Extra Money; For the Woman Who is Physically Vigorous; For the Woman Who has Never Worked Except in Her Home; For the Genteel Lady Who Wishes to Make Extra Money; For the Woman Who Lives in a Large City; For the Woman Who Lives in the Country or in a Small Town; Don't Waste Your Time On.....
A most helpful and valuable work.
Crown 8vo, Cloth. $2.00.

DALTON, FRANK EUGEN

Swimming Scientifically Taught. (Seventh Edition.) Completely rewritten, and brought up to date with much new material, records of the latest Channel swims, and 87 illustrations of swimming positions and strokes specially posed for this work. The author, expert swimmer and instructor himself, and son of the Captain Davis Dalton who swam the English Channel in 1890, describes all the up-to-date strokes used by modern swimmers, including the famous crawl, trudgen, trudgen-crawl, breast, over-arm; diving, floating, sculling, rolling, treading water, plunging, trick swimming, water-polo, somersaults, etc. The author gives details of the successful English Channel swimmers, from Capt. Webb in 1875 to Gertrude Ederle and others in 1926, describing their achievements. He also records the exploit of George Young whose record-breaking feat in swimming from Catalina Island to the California shore was accomplished with the trudgen-crawl stroke in January, 1927. A chapter is devoted to methods of rescuing and reviving drowning persons and what to do in emergencies. For years this book has been a standard manual of instruction for men, women, and children. The method of teaching is so plainly explained and so splendidly illustrated by photographs and diagrams that every movement and position can be accurately copied.

ELLSWORTH, WILLIAM WEBSTER

Creative Writing: A Guide for Those Who Aspire to Authorship. This is a book to inspire young writers and help older ones on the way to the goal in their chosen art. In it the former president of the Century Company tells what his long experience as a publisher taught him about the things that make for success in literary work. There are appendixes giving the style-rules used in magazine offices, and others analyzing the preparation that contributed to the success of more than ninety leading authors of the nineteenth century.
12mo, Cloth, 207 pages. $2.00.

"Now and then there comes along a book on writing which should interest the public. There is one this year: 'Creative Writing'. . . . It is full of chunks of horse-sense about writing."—Arnold Bennett, in The Evening Standard, London, England.

FISCHER, LOUIS, M.D.

Health-Care of the Baby. (Seventeenth Edition Revised.) The importance of this new edition may be realized when it is understood that the recent advances made in the management and feeding of normal infants have made necessary radical changes in diet, particularly in the quantity of milk given. Complete instructions are given for feeding healthy and full-term infants as well as for premature, sick, and delicate babies. What to do in emergencies and accidents is well covered and wise counsel is given regarding what action to take in treating the principal diseases and affections of childhood, including a complete daily routine to follow in airing, bathing, clothing, and diet. The principal elements in the prevention of disease and in the hardening of infants against taking cold are completely described. A new chapter has been added describing the use of the Ultra Violet Rays in the treatment of rickets for a general restorative and their influence on the growth of the child. Also the use of Vita Glass for the summer home is fully described. A classic for the nursery and the home.
12mo, Cloth, 267 pages, illustrated. $1.00.

FITCH, HENRY

The Perfect Calendar. This is a newly revised edition of this standard work which now contains, in addition to a calendar for every year of the Christian Era, a chronological record of important events in the history of the world from B.C. 10000 to 1926 A.D. The most practical of all perpetual calendars because it requires no manipulation and adjustment of mechanical devices, no wheels, sectors, pointers, or sliding-slips to consume time and tax patience. Its accuracy is absolutely assured—among other reasons because the work consists of but 14 different annual calendars arranged in the regular form of ordinary monthly calendars which cover all dates in the Julian or in the Gregorian System. Although intended primarily for commercial use and for modern dates, it will be found of special value to students of profane and sacred history.
8vo, Fabrikoid. $1.50.

FITZPATRICK, BENEDICT

Ireland and the Foundations of Europe. (Companion volume to the author's previous work, "Ireland and the Making of Britain.") This new volume presents a series of revelations which may prove revolutionary to the average person whose study of history has been through orthodox channels. Here, indeed, is an arresting story, founded firmly on fact, to which future historians must refer if the history of Europe is to be truthfully presented. The author spent many years in the preparation of this volume and searched into documents in many languages, in many museums, and in many out-of-the-way sources. It covers a period of time which is outstandingly poorly represented in histories—the Middle Ages. While of highest value to historians, this volume is of equal if not greater value to lay-readers—to average men and women interested in history and truth, and to those of Gaelic or Scottish descent.

8vo, Cloth, with map of Hibernicized Medieval Europe and chronological tables. $4.00.

GOBRECHT, REV. WALTER R. Pastor, St. John's Reformed Church, Chambersburg, Pa.

The Gospel Message in Great Poems. With an introduction by George L. Omrake, A.M., Ph.D., President, Ursinus College. A series of beautiful sermons based upon poems or sections of poems by great poets, the poem supplying the background for the main body of the sermon with the sermon-texts always Biblical. This is a unique idea in the preparation of sermons, and was developed because of the feeling the author has that there is a close kinship between the poet and the minister of the Gospel. Edwin Markham says "the poet's device is that deep saying written upon an ancient page, 'We look not at the things that are seen and temporal but at the things which are not seen and eternal.'" That the same is true of the minister of the Gospel goes without saying. The combination of poetry and Biblical texts is productive of sermons unusually rich in beauty and inspirational appeal. To the minister this volume will provide a source of stimulation and also a source of ideas which he may develop to almost an endless extent. The lay-reader will find the Word of God brought to him vividly and beautifully through these sermons. The author's style is delightfully direct and appealing yet vigorous and convincing in presenting the truth.

LAUCK, W. JETT

The New Industrial Revolution and Wages. A Study of the Radical Changes in American Theory and Practise Which Have Come in Since the World War and Created the Present Era of Prosperity. A new epochmaking industrial revolution has been inaugurated in the United States. The unprecedented marvel of declining production costs, lower prices, higher wages, and rising standards of living during the past five years has been the wonder of the civilized world. This brilliant and practical volume by an authority—former Professor of Economics, Washington and Lee University; Secretary of Former War Labor Board, etc.—describes how and why these changes have taken place. The problems which have arisen from the new order—instability, lack of coordination, the unemployment menace—are also fully examined and constructive remedies which have been proposed are carefully analyzed. This is a work with an appeal to every business man, banker, or social student.

Crown 8vo, Cloth, 317 pages. $2.50.

LEVINTHAL, DR. ISRAEL H. Rabbi of the Brooklyn Jewish Center.

Steering or Drifting—Which? Solutions of Every-Day Problems Confronting the American Jew. With a Prefatory Note by the Very Rev. Dr. J. H. Hertz, Chief Rabbi of the British Empire. A sincere and intensely interesting volume dealing with such phases of Jewish life as: How shall Jewish children be held and guided in the new American environment? What shall be done to prevent empty synagogues as well as empty churches? Should the Jew amalgamate with the Christian? Encouraging answers to these and many similar questions will be found in the twenty-seven sermons and addresses, delivered on various occasions, which comprise this book.
Crown 8vo, Cloth, 331 pages. $2.50.

LITERARY DIGEST BOOK OF ART, THE

MARSHALL, FRANCIS W.

Common Legal Principles That Every One Should Know. This volume is built on an entirely new plan which most clearly informs the average man and woman on points of law by quoting the opinions of famed judges of courts of last resort—material which could be quoted in court and accepted as final authority. Some ninety per cent of the volume is made up of such material—the other ten per cent is taken from the great writers on law as Blackstone, Kent, etc.—material acceptable in court as persuasive authority. Since, in this commercial age, we are all more or less men and women of affairs, the author had chiefly in mind the general public in preparing this remarkable treatise. Yet so authoritative is it that lawyers, bankers, real estate and insurance men, village and town officials, members of legislative bodies or those interested in legislative enactments, and law students about to take Bar examinations will find it indispensable. School-teachers who are required to instruct their pupils in our Constitutional law will find no work so satisfactory as this.
Crown 8vo, Law Buckram. Two volumes, 762 pages. $10.00.

MARTIN, EDWIN MOORE

They Knew Jesus: A Series of Evangelistic Sermons in Narrative Form. A brilliant and successful departure from generally accepted methods of preparing evangelistic sermons makes this volume a most welcome one. The author—Pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Cincinnati, Ohio—has selected lives of men who came into touch with Jesus Christ while He lived among men—lives that had been transformed by Him, and lives that have shown no results other than negative from such relationship—and tells the story of these individuals as they themselves might have told it to him, if face to face with him to-day. There is not only an appealing beauty in the tone of these seventeen sermons but also one of conviction.
Crown 8vo, Cloth. $2.50.

"I do not wonder that these sermons have brought many to the Master."—Rev. Daniel A. Poling.

MITCHELL, WILLIAM S., D.D.

A Seven-Day Church at Work. Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church, Worcester, Massachusetts, has won out against all the distracting materialism of the age to solve the problem of dwindling attendance, and in two years has become an important factor in the city's social and spiritual life every day in the week. Dr. Mitchell took the idea of the institutional church and developed it into something warm, individual, human—an instrument of daily service for everybody, yet workable. Just how all of this has been accomplished is told graphically and appealingly in this splendid volume, which ministers and church-workers of all denominations will find a treasure-house of practical help and inspiration.
12mo, Cloth, Illustrated, $2.00.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERIES, THE

In order to make available to the general public at moderate prices authoritative books on all phases of human health, the National Health Council arranged with the Funk & Wagnalls Company for the publication of The National Health Series. It contains pocket-size volumes of about 18,000 words each, written in easily-understood, non-technical language, by the leading health authorities of the country. NEWMAN, E. M.

Seeing Germany. (The first travel-book on Germany since the War.) An anecdote-spiced account of what the author himself has recently seen, beautifully illustrated from his own photographs. Mr. Newman finds a new spirit in Germany and he writes of the young republic with a zest which instantly communicates itself to the reader. Beginning with Munich and the splendid scenery of the Bavarian Alps, he takes the reader wandering down through the Black Forest, dropping in at Wildbad, Baden-Baden and other popular resorts; calling on Anton Lang and the Passion Players at Oberammergau; and then glimpsing Nuremberg; Eisenach and the Wartburg with their memories of Luther; Ratisbon; and quaint old Rothenburg, each with an ancient story to tell. We visit the haunts of Wagner at Beyreuth, of Goethe and Schiller at Weimar; the repositories of great art at Dresden, and the scenes of greatest romantic interest from Heidelberg and Frankfort to the Rhine and its castled vineyards. At Berlin and Potsdam the new Germany is especially in evidence in the haunts of the former Kaiser, now thrown open to the public. And so back home by way of old Hildesheim, Brunswick, Hamburg, and other ports of the North. All along the way we have been regaled with the author's own experiences, episodes from the lives of famous Germans, and curious legends and bits of dramatic history. This is certain to be one of the most popular volumes in the "Traveltalk" series.
8vo, Cloth, with more than 300 photographic illustrations. $5.00.

Seeing Egypt and the Holy Land. The third and latest volume in the author's delightful "Traveltalk" series. This work, like his earlier books, "Seeing Italy," and "Seeing Russia," is a delightfully readable account of the things and places most worth seeing, and is enlivened, on almost every page, with anecdotes and personal experiences of the author. The first sight that Mr. Newman presents us is Cairo with its kaleidoscopic mingling of races and creeds, then the Sphinx and Pyramids, up the Nile on a house-boat viewing the stupendous temples of Luxor and Karnak, the Tombs of the Kings, and the mysterious ruins of Philae. On the way to Palestine the author takes us into the Arabian Desert, by railroad-train and caravan; then to the city of Petra, one of the mysteries and marvels of history. Then, by way of Damascus, Baalbek, and the mountains of Judea to the Holy Land, visiting all the sacred places from Nazareth to Jerusalem. At every turn the author has something of popular interest to relate, some fragrant memory of the Old or New Testament to recall and, wherever possible, the scene is pictured with the aid of his wonderful camera. Among the three hundred photographic reproductions, all original, are some superb views of forbidden Mecca and its sacred Kaaba; probably the best existing photographs of Petra; views of Tel Aviv, near Jaffa, and other Jewish colonies in Palestine; the Holy Sepulcher at Jerusalem, and glimpses of present-day life in Bethlehem, in Cana, on the Sea of Galilee, and other spots associated with the life of Jesus.
8vo, Cloth, with 300 illustrations from original photographs. $5.00.

Seeing Italy. There have been many books published on Italy but this is unique. It is not a guide, nor a history, nor an academic description but an intimate story by an experienced traveler who tells of his visits to the most interesting and most popular places in this land which is so popular with tourists. The aim of the volume is to familiarize the traveler with the chief places and objects of interest, as well as to give him useful hints. Realizing that tastes differ, the author has written a book which includes something for everybody—for those who prefer art, architecture, ruins, history, human interest, and scenery. To see thoroughly what is included in this book will be sufficient to tax the energy of the most ambitious tourist whose time is limited. Yet it is a volume which every traveler will find of outstanding value—one which should be purchased long before a guide-book is thought of, and carried by the traveler in Italy for quick reference to the places which he is to visit. The host of illustrations will prove particularly fascinating as well as informative, and will make the identification of points of interest extremely easy.
8vo, Cloth, 428 pages, with 298 photographic illustrations. $5.00.

Seeing Russia. The story of a great human experiment, told in breezy narrative, illustrated with hundreds of the superb photographs that have delighted the author's "Traveltalk" audiences. Mr. Newman is the first and only traveler in Soviet Russia who has been allowed to photograph whatever he pleased, and to take his pictures out of the country absolutely uncensored. The authorities knew that he was no Communist, but such was their faith in his fairness, and their desire for American publicity, that they gave him a free hand, even in the locked palace rooms of the dead Czar's family. Again and again he was arrested or threatened with the fixed bayonets of local guards, but the magic permit from Moscow always prevailed. The result is a unique book. Mr. Newman takes the reader all over Russia, from Petrograd to the Crimea, from the Volga Valley to the mountain Republics of the Caucasus, visiting the more important cities, and chatting all the way upon the human-interest aspects of the things seen. Toward Bolshevism the author maintains a neutral attitude, simply explaining at each step what the eye of the camera reveals. The book leaves one with the conviction that here at last is an accurate presentation of what Mr. Newman calls "the first act in a wonderful drama that involves a considerable portion of the human race."

8vo, Cloth, 412 pages, with 300 photographic illustrations. $5.00.

PARIS, W. FRANCKLYN

Napoleon's Legion. A complete history of the creation of the Legion of Honor, the most famous of the orders of Napoleon, together with the record of the establishment of the American Society of the French Legion of Honor of which the author is one of the founders. After tracing older orders of chivalry in France, the author takes up the present National order from the moment of its conception, and chronicles its varying fortunes through the Governments of Louis XVIII, Charles X, Louis Phillippe, Napoleon III, and the two intervening Republics. A special chapter is devoted to Foreign Légionnaires, another to the American Society of the Legion of Honor, etc. Throughout the book there are items of special interest to Americans, as the late War holds a large place in the recital. Records of regiments having won the right to carry the Legion of Honor with the regimental colors are given, as are the cities entitled to incorporate the insignia of the Legion in their coats-of-arms. The law governing admission into the Order; promotion; the wearing of insignia; the privileges and obligations attached to the quality of Légionnaire, are gone into at length, as are all topics that a member of the Order would value. In addition there are chapters describing the educational institutions maintained by the Legion for the daughters of members in reduced circumstances; the palace of Salm which houses the Grande Chancellerie of the Order; the new Museum of the Légion d'Honneur, just opened, and a chapter devoted to women Légionnaires, in which space is given to relief work by American women during the late War. Profusely illustrated.

Subscription Edition. Superbly bound in imported green polished Morocco leather, artistically pressed and tooled in the Empire style, printed on specially-made pure rag fiber book paper, illustrations on double-coated white plate paper, except the Honor Diplomas which are reproduced on white parchment. Two plates of Napoleon and the Legion of Honor decoration are in color. All copies of the Subscription Edition are signed personally by General Dubail, the Grand Chancellor of the Legion of Honor. Of an edition limited to 600 copies bearing General Dubail's signature, only a few are now available. $50.00.

PETRE, EDWIN ROBERT

Shrines of the Great in Europe. A unique tourist directory of the birthplaces, homes, story scenes and working background of more than two thousand authors, painters, sculptors, musicians, dramatists, scientists, explorers, philosophers, and others—past and present—who have left their mark on modern culture. The entire contents are arranged alphabetically for quick and easy reference; first by countries and cities, so that when you are in a certain town you simply glance at the proper page and see if the place contains any shrine that you ought to visit; then alphabetically by names, so that if you are following the trail of some great master, a glance at his name will show the places he helped to make famous, and recall the outstanding facts about his life and work. So often have travelers through storied Europe wished to identify literary or artistic landmarks and have seen them without knowing it, that the author has provided this—the only handbook of its kind in existence. No careful tourist will be content to leave it out of his kit-bag.
12mo (pocket size), bound in genuine Fabrikoid. $2.00.

POST, EMILY

Etiquette—"The Blue Book of Social Usage." Entirely New Edition. The first edition of Mrs. Post's "Etiquette" has already gone through seventeen printings. The intense interest in the subject, and the many changes that have occurred in the social amenities in recent years have created the necessity for this new edition which is, in effect, an entirely new work. The sum and substance of answers to thousands of letters received by the author and the interpretations of the rules of conduct by the young moderns, where actually accepted by Best Society, are also embodied in this new Etiquette. Many new illustrations have been interspersed throughout the author's worldly wise and illuminating text. In addition to covering all of the subjects embraced in the first edition, this new "Etiquette" contains, among other new features, the following: Etiquette in Washington and in State Capitals; A Complete List of Diplomatic, Ecclesiastical, and Official Precedence (information which was formerly considered unobtainable;) American Neighborhood Customs; How Young Householders Can Cook, Wait, and be Charming Hostesses Without the Aid of Servants; Flat

Silver and Its Usage; Weddings including Catholic and Jewish Weddings and the Wedding Where Both Bride's and Groom's Parents are Divorced; Etiquette of Women in Business; Instructions for a Guest in a Hotel and for Those Who Take Meals in Restaurants, including Scale of Tips, etc. In fact, there is no necessary detail of modern etiquette that is not clearly explained in brilliant literary style in this distinguished new volume. Unquestionably the authority.
Crown 8vo., Cloth, with many new illustrations and diagrams, indexed. $4.00. Bound in full leather, gilt-edged paper, boxed. $7.50.

The Personality of a House—"The Blue Book of Home Design and Decoration." A decidedly important book which treats the ever-popular subject of home decoration in a new and up-to-date fashion, and tells how to make a home express, in its architecture, colors, and setting, all that is most attractive in the personality of its occupants, and especially of the woman who is its presiding genius. There are chapters on how to plan and build a new house, and chapters on how to put distinction and charm into an old house. The major portion of the book is devoted to the interior—the best decorative effects, the right furniture, rugs, hangings, etc.—and is as rich in suggestions for the apartment-dweller as for the house-owner. The author describes, in spicy and authoritative fashion, how she transformed shriekingly ugly interiors into things of beauty at small expense—all by means of harmony in colors. Mrs. Post is the daughter of the late Bruce Price, who was one of the foremost architects of his day, and has been herself noted always for her knowledge of colors and arrangement, and for her flawless taste. In fact, she is professionally associated with a prominent firm of architects as a consultant.
8vo, Cloth, with 63 full-page illustrations in half-tone, and a color chart. Cloth, $4.00; Full Leather, $7.50.

ROBB, JOHN F., LL.B., LL.M., M.P.L.

Patent Essentials. For the Executive, Engineer, Lawyer, and Inventor. New and Revised Edition. Since its publication some five years ago, this volume has become the standard in its field—for laymen and attorneys alike. It gives in non-technical language a practical explanation of the nature of patents, the mechanics of their procurement, the scientific drafting of patent claims, conduct of cases, and special proceedings, including forms, together with complete illustrative cases. This new edition contains also the 1927 revisions of the Patent laws; amendments to the rules of practise of the Patent Office putting into effect the 1927 changes in the Patent statutes; the 1927 amended Patent statutes themselves together with certain new forms of value; and material bringing the law of employer-employee rights up to date. Indispensable to business men, engineers, young patent solicitors, recruit patent examiners, inventors, mechanics, students of Patent law, lawyers with but few patent cases, assistants in patent law-offices, and foreign patent lawyers or solicitors. The author is both an inventor and a patent attorney of high repute and some twenty-eight years' experience and a member of the Cleveland and District of Columbia bars.
8vo, Cloth, 467 pages, with 9 full-page illustrations and charts, and numerous smaller ones throughout the text. $5.00.

SADLER, WILLIAM S., M.D., F.A.C.S.

The Mind at Mischief: Tricks and Deceptions of the Subconscious, and How to Cope With Them. Dr. Sadler, in brightly written vein, leads the reader through hitherto unexplored regions of that mysterious world within us, pursuing the "subconscious" to its secret lair and letting us see it in the performance of its benign acts and also of its incredibly malicious and harmful tricks. The author has drawn upon his twenty-three years' experience as director of the Chicago Institute of Research and Diagnosis for a large number of interesting cases by way of illustration. In untechnical language he explains such cases and tells what methods are being used to cure them. Dr. Sadler is an authority in this field, the author of many books on mental hygiene, but this more nearly meets the popular demand for information on the workings of the mind than any other work for the layman.
8vo, Cloth, about 400 pages. $4.00.

ALEXANDER, JAMES

Thought-Control in Everyday Life. An original, non-technical, accurate, and sensible presentation of the truths of psychology and their everyday application to the attainment of mind-control, the overcoming of bad habits, the conquering of obstacles, and the achieving of the success for which you aim, both physical and mental. It offers a clear, logical explanation with but one objective toward which all statements aim—the control and direction of mind, your own and others. It is not only believable but actually workable. As discussed in this volume the mind of the average person takes on a new significance. Instead of being an arbitrary and domineering factor, at cross-purposes with the individual's best interests, it is shown to be a working force easily controlled and susceptible of guidance along definite lines to insure greatest efficiency—and this without the colossal effort of will which many have thought necessary to bring the mind under control. In short, the reader is shown how to take advantage of every practical agency for the attainment of mind-control—how to recognize and use those factors which, with or without conscious effort, lead to the centering of the mental processes on achievement. 12mo, Cloth, 275 pages. $2.00.

"A book such as 'Thought-Control in Everyday Life' has in it the qualities that would make thousands more intelligent about themselves, happier, more cheerful and more successful. It is a veritable path to 'know thyself,' and the path in this case is very easy to tread: arguments are easily understood: methods are clearly expressed: we see ourselves in a clear looking-glass. As a so-called 'self helpful book' I know not its equal for simplicity and easy understanding."—Edward W. Bok.

"The book is a marvel of compactness, wealth of material, and practical value."—Rev. Bishop John H. Vincent, D.D., Chicago, Ill.

"I regard The Analytical Reference Bible as a most valuable contribution to our literature. It combines advantages which I have never seen before in one work. That it is a storehouse of valuable helps for every minister and theological student is very clear. There is no work with which I am acquainted that at all supplied the need which this work is sure to do. I fully believe it is a book which will open the Bible and the depth of its meaning to large numbers who have not yet seen it in the clear light in which it is here revealed."—Rev. Bishop John F. Hurst, D.D., Washington, D. C.

"The Analytical Reference Bible has superseded the  in use on my study table for sixteen years, and with it various Bible helps, all of which I find between the covers of this work in more available form."—Rev. Josiah Strong, D.D., Pres. Amer. Inst. Social Service, New York.

"It would not be possible to find in the compass of any other single volume so complete and valuable apparatus for the direct study of the text of the English Bible."—Rev. Dr. W. Henry Green, Princeton, N. J.

Spurgeon's Illustrative Anecdotes. Arranged under subjects and topics. Cloth. $1.75.

The Christian Gentleman. Informal talks to young men on the essentials of the true gentleman. They deal with the practical matters of every-day life in a vigorous, manly way. Apt illustrations give life and interest to the talks. 12mo, Cloth, 123 pp. $1.25.

The Problems of Youth. A series of discourses for young people on themes from the Book of Proverbs, consisting of thirty Character-Building Talks. 12mo, Cloth, 486 pp. $1.75.

The Saloon-Keeper's Ledger. A series of temperance revival discourses. Introduction by Theodore L. Cuyler, D.D. 12mo, Cloth, 129 pp. $1.00.

The Winds of God. Thirty sermons glowing with evangelistic fervor and Biblical to a degree, into which the author has poured all that his ripe experience and expanding vision could furnish. 12mo, Cloth, 473 pp. $1.75.

The Sunday Evening Evangel. A series of Sunday evening sermons. $1.75.

The Unexpected Christ. A series of thirty evangelistic sermons written in Dr. Banks's characteristic style. 12mo, Cloth, 328 pp. $1.75.

Twentieth-Century Knighthood. Helpful addresses to young men in which examples of ancient chivalry are used to illustrate modern conditions. A companion volume to "The Christian Gentleman" and "My Young Man." 12mo, Cloth, 142 pp. $1.25.

The World's Childhood. Thirty sermons based on the first three chapters of the Book of Genesis. They are marked by modernity and application to present conditions, and abound in suggestive anecdotes, pertinent quotations and uplifting comments. $1.75.

Windows for Sermons. A study of the art of sermonic illustration, with 400 fresh illustrations suited for sermons and reform addresses. 12mo, Cloth, 440 pp. $1.75.

Dramatic Stories of Jesus. Twenty-one short stories covering the life of Jesus. In the Bible numerous incidents of Jesus' life are condensed by the four apostles into mere statements of fact or a few short paragraphs. But as the complete details would prove of intense interest, Dr. Banks has endeavored to fill a few of these "silent places in the Gospels" with his "Dramatic Stories of Jesus"—stories, he says, "as they might have been." Necessarily the stories are fiction, and more entertaining in that they are in conversational style. Beautifully illustrated with 21 selections from the world's masterpieces (frontispiece in colors). 12mo, Cloth, 310 pages. $2.00.

BIBLE DICTIONARY, A NEW STANDARD

A completely revised, enlarged, and reset edition based on the original, which has been the leading authority for a number of years. Professor Melancthon W. Jacobus, Professor Edward E. Nourse, and Professor Andrew C. Zenos, the editors of the original work, spent nearly a year in the preparation of this new edition, with the help of thirty-seven of the ablest Biblical scholars of this country, Great Britain, and the Continent. So thorough has been the work of the editors that this is practically a new book. The latest findings of Biblical scholars are included and several new articles are added, Professor James Moffatt and Professor John E. McFadyen having contributed articles on The Right Approach to the Bible, thus affording a guide to the study of the Bible as well as to the most profitable use of the New Standard Bible Dictionary. Other added articles deal with English Versions of the Bible, The Religion and History of Israel, The Synoptic Problem, Greek Religion, and Roman Religion. Imperial 8vo, Cloth, 989 pp., $7.50; Buckram, $8.50; Three Quarter Morocco, $12.50. Thumb-notch index, 75 cents extra. Many illustrations.

"The sanest book of its kind I have ever seen,—a comprehensive and authoritative guide to the Scriptures."—Evansville (Ind.) Courier.

"This work is the most up-to-date, complete, and satisfactory Bible Dictionary, and should be in the possession of all interested in those historical, social, political, and religious conditions which constitute the background of the Bible."—S. Angus, Theological Hall, St. Andrews College, Sydney, Australia.

BRAZELTON, ETHEL M. COLSON

Writing and Editing for Women. This book offers a bird's-eye view of the new opportunities for women in newspaper, magazine, and other lines of writing, with practical instruction in each section of the field. It is intended at once as a textbook for the teaching of journalism and as a guide for women who wish to prepare themselves for professional writing through home study. Mrs. Brazelton is an instructor in Medill School of Journalism, Northwestern University. She has done practically every kind of newspaper and magazine work, and through her book she seeks to pass along to others the secrets of craftsmanship (likewise salesmanship) that have won success in her own career. At the end of each chapter are a dozen assignments for practise lessons or classroom work, and at the end of the book are useful appendixes on technical phases of the writer's work. There are several pages of advice by a score of prominent writers and editors. Crown 8vo, Cloth, with Appendixes. 275 pp. $2.50.

BURNABY, COL. FRED

†A Ride to Khiva. Tales of adventures in Central Asia, with portrait of the author, and seven illustrations. Crown 8vo, Cloth, 346 pp. $2.00.

BURRELL, DAVID J., D.D., LL.D.

A Quiver of Arrows. This volume is far more than a collection of pulpit discourses. It consists of seventy sermons, each of which has been reduced by severe, tho intelligent, epitomizing to a fifteen minutes' discourse — terse, clear, and forcible, by Thomas Douglas, Ph.D. The rhetorical divisions are few and plain and simple, making the sermons models of composition for the theological student, the young preacher and the class leader. A topical index of sermonic illustrations adds still further to the homiletic value of the book. The sermons in the book are grouped under the following classifications: Textual sermons, Expository sermons, Topical sermons, Doctrinal sermons, Biographical sermons, Ethical sermons, Sociological sermons, Anniversary sermons. 8vo, Cloth, 391 pp. $1.50.

The Lure of the City. Twenty-two chapters devoted to the young man who is just leaving the rural home to take up life in the city. 12mo, Cloth. $1.25.

BURTON, WILLIAM, M.A., F.C.S.

†A General History of Porcelain (Two Volumes). The author, Mr. William Burton, probably the greatest living authority on porcelain, here presents the most incisive, most authoritative, and most instructive work that has ever been published for the student and collector. The volumes contain a complete survey of the development of porcelain from the earliest Chinese production down to the present day. They are further enriched by a series of colored plates and other illustrations which are remarkable for their quality. Of these, there are 32 plates in color and 80 in black and white, while the text also contains reproductions, in facsimile, of works connected with the various periods and porcelain factories. The first volume deals with the porcelains of China, Japan, Korea, Persia, Italy, Spain, Portugal, and France, the second embracing chapters on the minor French factories, and the porcelains of England, Germany, Norway, Sweden, and other European countries. Two volumes, 8vo, Cloth, profusely illustrated, with many color plates. 460 pp. $30.00 the set.

†Josiah Wedgwood and His Pottery. This book is something different from any on the subject that has appeared hitherto. It is not so much a biography as a story of Wedgwood's work; it shows the development of the great potter's achievements — how his ideas were worked out, step by step, to ultimate successful practice. There is much that is of paramount historical and technical interest concerning Wedgwood's glazes, his kilns, his methods of working his clay, and of obtaining his designs, and the expression of his ideas. For a considerable time the author worked at Etruria, the world-famous works that Josiah Wedgwood built; he penetrated Wedgwood's technical secrets, he knew his formulæ, he discovered new facts concerning the man as well as his work. He therefore writes with authority. The color plates especially are triumphs of color photography. Their wide range of subject will doubtless surprize many who have come to associate the name of Wedgwood almost entirely with the "jasper" and basalt wares. Representative examples are given of every type of production of the Etruria kilns. The most famous of Wedgwood's reproductions from the antique is represented by his copies of the "Portland Vase." The illustration of one of these copies is of a specimen obtained from Charles Darwin, whose father bought it from Wedgwood in 1793 and which is now in the Victoria and Albert Museum. There are 32 plates in color and 72 in half-tone. Edition limited to 500 copies for the United States. Super-royal 8vo, Cloth, 206 pp. $25.00.

BUTLER, ELLIS PARKER

The Incubator Baby. By the author of "Pigs is Pigs," and just as full of fun. In a gently satirical way the author reflects the thoughts and philosophy of a wee bit of humanity who is being reared by the incubator process. This big, stupid world is all very strange to the mite, and it is a source of wonderment to her that the stork should have paused in his flight to deposit her among such a lot of uncongenial companions, especially when she so "vastly preferred Paradise," as "it was far more comfortable"; by Paradise, meaning the fairyland whence all stork babies come. A little classic brimming over with Satire—Sentiment—Sense. 12mo, Cloth, illustrated. $1.00.

"A delicious satire which will be enjoyed by all families where the real baby, reared by natural processes, is the monarch of the crib, and all intervening space and time."—Pittsburgh Post.

"Filled with delightful humor and a touch of pathos."—Detroit News.

BUTLER, J. GLENTWORTH, D.D.

Butler Bible Work, The. Over 100,000 volumes in the hands of more than 20,000 students and expositors of the Bible, from whom have come the most enthusiastic words of praise. Eleven volumes, bound in Seal-brown Silk Cloth. Send for descriptive circular. Price, $44.00.

CHARACTERISTIC FEATURES

1. An incomparably full and inspiring comment, explanatory of the sense or meaning of the text and suggestive of its underlying spirit.
2. Details touching the origin, structure, contents, and connections of the Bible and its several books—questions of Science and facts of archeology and chronology treated by expert investigators. Geographical and topographical matter and maps taken from eminent geographers and explorers.
3. Fulness of study is also largely insured by the Introductions and by numerous special treatises set in place throughout all the volumes. In these are condensed the substance of many small books in current use.
4. A carefully studied and largely interpreted Codification of the Laws given to Moses at Sinai.
5. The Four Gospels are condensed into a continuous Life History of the Christ, in the order of its events and, in the words of the writers, to "get a clear and accurate idea of the Master's Life."

CARTER, PROFESSOR JAMES, D.D.

Gospel Messages in Great Pictures. Seldom have the better known religious paintings been made the basis for such inspiring sermons as are contained in this volume. These fifteen impressive discourses are drawn not alone from famous paintings and sculptures, but also from the personalities of the artists who created these masterpieces. Each sermon is based on a Scripture text and written with a rare combination of religious feeling, eloquence, and practical knowledge of the needs of the present age. When the preacher has finished this volume he will have acquired enough of the author's technique to enable him to build like sermons upon other great pictures, thus providing himself with another vehicle for more deeply impressing spiritual truths on his listeners. Crown 8vo, Cloth. Illustrated with fine reproductions of original paintings. $2.00.

"Dr. Carter takes a great picture and a great text and preaches a simple, strong, soul-reaching sermon that fits into the need of heart and mind as well."—The Christian Advocate, New York City.

"Dr. Carter has rendered an important service in selecting fifteen great religious pictures and interpreting them in a series of sermons that are at once practical and inspirational . . . a unique and helpful book."—Sunday School Magazine, Nashville, Tennessee.

CHURCHILL, A. L., and WICKENDEN, LEONARD

The House-Owner's Book. An ideal, non-technical volume of great practical value to all people interested in homes, from the architect to the carpenter, from the prospective builder to the landlord. It should be read by every one who owns a home, rents one, who is contemplating building one, or who possesses vast holdings. Loan associations, real-estate dealers, and builders will find it invaluable. "The House-Owner's Book" covers perplexing problems that have never before been brought together in book form, and is written with clarity and precision. It is complete along lines of wide-reaching interest. It tells the prospective house-owner how to select a site for a house, and how to finance the building of it; tells him what he needs to know about the construction of the house; has a full chapter on different kinds of common woods and their uses; a short chapter on metals used in the house; a chapter on plumbing and how to make ordinary repairs; a chapter on heating and ventilation; another on the water supply, with special reference to wells and their care; a chapter on painting, and how to do it where professional skill is not required; a chapter on electricity; a chapter on special appliances, such as the iceless ice-box, vacuum cleaners, etc.; and additional chapters on drainage, lighting, home electricity, the garage, etc. There is also a wealth of information on fire hazards in the house; gas accidents; dangers from electricity; and hazards from electrical appliances. 12mo, Cloth, with numerous illustrations. 404 pp. $2.00.

"The house-owner who objects to the high cost of repairs in these days may learn many money-saving tricks from this book. And even if economy is not his first thought, there are many things about the house—such as its electrical equipment, the treatment of hardwood floors, the water supply, etc.—that are explained so simply and thoroughly that the puzzled reader will be happy in the possession of the book."—Outlook, New York.

CLAXTON, WILLIAM J.

†Insect Workers. The author gives a hint of the character of the work in his introduction: "We human beings think ourselves clever. Men talk proudly about the wonderful buildings they erect, the splendid machines they construct, and the grand furniture they make for their houses. But I shall show you some mechanics, laborers, carpenters and builders far more wonderful than man." As you read, you see beautifully laid out dwellings with terraced roofs adorned with cupolas; walls hung with lovely tapestries and inhabited by busy little masons. Soldiers, policemen, undertakers, cigarmakers, and representatives of nearly all professions and trades are met with. A delightful book from start to finish. With colored plates. 16mo, Illustrated. 75 cents.

COBERN, CAMDEN M., D.D., Litt.D.

The New Archeological Discoveries, and Their Bearing upon the New Testament and upon the Life and Times of the Primitive Church. (New Edition.) With Introduction by Edouard Naville, D.C.L., LL.D. The new supplement by Prof. George W. Gilmore covers the work done during the last decade, and brings the account of the principal discoveries in the archeological field fully up to date (1929). The new material deals with Modern Archeological Methods, Decipherment and Interpretation of Documents; excavations in North Africa, Egypt, Ethiopia, Palestine, Asia Minor (Hittites) and Babylonia; and with Documents and Inscriptions. While filled with material that will be of intense interest to scholars and Bible students, this illuminating work is written in a style so popular as to make a strong appeal to every book-lover. Not only does it throw strong light on the text and style of the New Testament; it also presents a most interesting picture, drawn from the original sources, of the life, social and religious customs, art, literature, family relations, etc., of the early Christian centuries, that will make the people of New Testament times as real to us as our associates and friends of to-day. The book has many illustrations, is popular in form, yet loses nothing of scientific value by simplicity of presentation. Large 8vo. $4.00.

"The first section of the book, dealing with the modern discoveries of papyri, presents some hundred large pages of great fascination. Also of great interest is the second chapter on the new light from papyri upon the language of the New Testament. . . . But this is only Part I. In Part II are studied the monuments, inscriptions and other remains with respect to their bearing on the life and times of the primitive church. The material comes mainly from Palestine, Pompeii, the Roman Catacombs, Phrygia and Syria. The excavations at the famous cities mentioned in the New Testament are treated in a special section, and finally the author considers new documentary and other evidence throwing light upon the early Christian centuries. This last section treats of classical texts in the light of new discoveries, non-Biblical Jewish literature which influenced theological and ethical thought of Palestine in the first century and the intellectual, social and religious life as seen in the papyri."—The Sun, New York.

"I have known for some time that Dr. Cobern was planning this book, and I rejoice that it has been successfully completed. . . . Although I have been quite familiar with the material of the book, I have found much in it that is new."—Dr. Adolph Deissmann, great German Archæological Authority.

"With its Indians, highwaymen, gamblers and duelists, this semi-biography becomes a real thriller—a book which boys will find interesting, regardless of the fact that it was not designed as a juvenile."—Fort Worth Press, Fort Worth, Texas.

COWAN, SAM K.

Sergeant York and His People. A graphic, intensely interesting, and truthful account of the deeds of this American hero whom General John J. Pershing called the greatest civilian soldier of the war and whose feat Marshal Foch characterized as the World War's most remarkable individual achievement. Truthful in every statement, it will be found more fascinating, more interesting than a novel. To those who believe all Tennessee mountaineers to be "feudists," this book will provide many surprizes. To all who wish to know more of this great American hero, his home life, his friends, his surroundings, his lineage, his character—in fact, all the intimate details of his life and personality, "Sergeant York and His People" will bring hours of absorbing interest. It also reveals with mirror-like accuracy the condition and mode of life of the sturdy, pious, whole-hearted people of pure Anglo-Saxon stock who inhabit the mountain regions in Tennessee. The author's style is particularly pleasing, being direct, forceful, and easy to read. 12mo, Cloth, illustrated with 16 full-page half-tone illustrations. Jacket in colors. 292 pages. $2.00.

"We'll say there's a good honest American story in this book about Sergeant York, and if it doesn't hold a thrill and a smile and a tightening of the throat for you, then you are not the reader for whom we are editing this book page, that's all."—Daily News, Chicago, Ill.

"The story of Sergeant York gathers all the halo, official and romantic, into as thrilling a recital as anything in English literature."—Journal of Education, by Dr. A. E. Winship.

CROY, MAE SAVELL (Mrs. Homer Croy)

How Women Can Make Money. A genuinely practical volume of sound advice and real help which outlines specific things which women may do to provide a source of income. In addition, a word of warning is sounded regarding things not to do which in the long run may prove quite as valuable as any chapter in the volume. For the woman who lives in a large city, or who lives in the country or in a small town; for the woman who suddenly has to support herself; for those who wish to secure an income for complete support or for extra money—in fact for every woman, young or old, however situated, there is encouragement and direct guidance in this splendid volume. 12mo, Cloth. $2.00.

CYCLOPEDIA OF ILLUSTRATIONS FOR PUBLIC SPEAKERS. (See page 32.)

DALTON, FRANK EUGEN

Swimming Scientifically Taught. (Seventh edition.) Completely revised and reset, with much new material. A practical manual of instruction for men, women and children—for beginners as well as experts. After telling how to get used to the water, the author describes the various strokes—crawl, trudgeon, trudgeon-crawl, breast, over-arm, etc. He instructs in treading water, floating, diving, plunging, sculling, long-distance swimming, racing, water-polo, what to do in emergencies, methods of rescue, artificial respiration, etc. The eighty-seven illustrations are mostly specially-posed photographs of water positions. 12mo, Cloth, 247 pp. $1.75.

DARBISHIRE, A. D.

†An Introduction to a Biology and Other Papers. A scientific work in non-technical terms. It embraces the deductions made by the author as a result of his experiments while at Oxford in crossing Japanese waltzing mice with European albino races. Mendel's famous hybridization experiments with peas in the garden of the monastery of which he was abbot are analyzed and discussed and compared with biometric theories of heredity and the pre-Mendelian systems of how animals would breed. The book will appeal to all who are curious about the meaning and origin of life. 8vo, Cloth, 320 pp. $2.50.

DIMNET, ERNEST, of the Faculty of the Collège Stanislas, Paris

French Grammar Made Clear. A grammar for schools and colleges, made up on a new plan which is designed to be of help to the pupil by giving him the rules that he must know and by leaving out all those that are unnecessary and confusing. Two of the outstanding features are the large number of phrases of the very latest coinage in both French and English, including military, aviation, naval, and war terms, political and economical expressions, etc.; and long lists of French and English conversational phrases embracing many of the most recent origin. Methods of address, types of French poetry, historical material, and other valuable information is also given. Great pains are taken to explain the differences between French and English usages, showing how impossible it is in many cases to translate directly from one language into the other, and how a paraphrase is often the only remedy. 12mo, Cloth, 253 pp. $1.50.

Latin Grammar Made Clear. (See under Petitmangin, Prof. H.)

DIX, DOROTHY

Dorothy Dix: Her Book. Messages of cheer, of wit and wisdom for all men and women—young, middle-aged and old—free from mushiness or sentimentality. A famous editor has described Dorothy Dix as "the most popular woman journalist in the world," because she "understands human nature, and with her sympathy and broad-minded tolerance she strikes a note that rings true in every heart." All she has to say out of her profound knowledge of life and human nature is pungent and sincere, and deals with all phases of our every-day life. 12mo, Cloth, 369 pp. $2.00.

"In the special niche in newspaperdom that Dorothy Dix has made for herself—that of adviser in general to the troubled, she has won high success. And so it has come about that she has been able to work out a practical philosophy of life that is shrewd, sympathetic, a bit cynical at times in its realism, honest and sincere and wholly lacking the ornaments of sentiment and romance in its brave facing of the disagreeable facts of life."—Times, New York.

"In her new book of 369 pages this fascinating writer has saturated her pages with thrilling interest for not only women readers but for a large group of men as well."—Globe, Boston, Mass.

DODGE, GRACE H.

A Bundle of Letters to Busy Girls. Helpful and practical talks to girls. 16mo, Cloth, 139 pp. 50 cents.

DORR, RHETA CHILDE

A Woman of Fifty. This unique autobiography of a most remarkable and courageous woman covers one of the most revolutionary periods of time in history—from virtually the beginning of a concerted movement to organize the women of this country in the fight for equality in politics and industry to the time when these hitherto unattainable causes were firmly established in our economic and governmental systems.

As journalist, lecturer, editor, and writer, the author has taken part in virtually every event that marks her generation; was the only woman war correspondent with the famed Russian Women's "Battalion of Death" on the last Kerensky offensive on the Eastern Front; spent three years in "after war" Europe, and is to-day in the thick of things in this country. Few men or women have met and overcome as many obstacles in life or fought harder for ideals as has the author of this volume —and fewer could relate their experiences in such a frank, forceful, and grippingly interesting style as this book reveals. There are no pages in which interest lags. 8vo, Cloth, 482 pp. $2.50.

DOUGALL, LILY

†The Summit House Mystery. A story of tragic intensity, pulsating with emotion. 12mo, Cloth, 345 pp. $1.50.

"This is a good book to recommend to the intelligent layman."—Courier of Medicine.

The Psychic Treatment of Nervous Disorders. Translated by Smith Ely Jelliffe, M.D., and William Allen White, M.D. After more than twenty years' success in relieving neurasthenia, insomnia, hysteria, and other nervous disorders, by psychic treatment, Dr. Paul Dubois, eminent Professor of Neuropathology at the University of Berne, Switzerland, has made public the character of his work and describes many of his patients' personal ailments and how he handled them. 8vo, Cloth, 484 pp. Copious index. $3.50. Half-Leather, $4.50.

"This book has no superior in conception, plainness of thought, and completeness of detail."—Medical World, Philadelphia.

"Those of our readers who are interested in the subject and desire to be familiar with the views and methods of one of the best authorities, should avail themselves of this book."—Journal of Osteopathy.

The Education of Self. Supersedes the earlier translation, issued under the title of "Self-Control and How to Secure It." A valuable addition to the flood of light which Dr. Dubois has already shed upon the subject of self-control, enumerating the causes which contribute to its loss, the resulting occurrence of nervous disorders, and the method by which these unfavorable factors may be eliminated. 12mo, Cloth, 350 pp. $1.75.

"Thoroughly wholesome and stimulating, teaching important lessons of conduct."—Living Age, Boston.

"Provides a philosophical and directly helpful discussion as to what self-control may accomplish and how it may be acquired."—Detroit Free Press.

"The lessons of such a wise book, if read and pondered over, will make happier many a life and sick-room and save physicians' bills."—Portland Oregonian.

The Psychological Origin of Mental Disorders. In this estimable little volume, Dr. Dubois exhibits the same human sympathy revealed in his previous works. 12mo, Cloth, 87 pp. 75 cents.

FISCHER, LOUIS, M.D.

Health-Care of the Baby. (17th Edition Revised.) The importance of this new edition may be realized when it is understood that the great recent advances made in the management and feeding of normal infants have made necessary radical changes in diet, particularly in the quantity of milk given. Complete instructions are given for feeding healthy and full-term infants as well as for premature, sick, and delicate babies. What to do in emergencies and accidents is well covered and wise counsel is given regarding what action to take in treating the principal diseases and affections of childhood, including a complete daily routine to follow in airing, bathing, clothing, and diet. The principal elements in the prevention of disease and in the hardening of infants against taking cold are completely described. A new chapter has been added describing the use of the Ultra Violet Rays in the treatment of rickets for a general restorative and their influence on the growth of the child. Also the use of Vita Glass for the summer home is fully described. A classic for the nursery and the home. Generously illustrated. 12mo, Cloth, 267 pages. $1.00.

"It is a book that can be recommended heartily to all families where there are babies. It needs no recommendation to doctors and nurses. They know about it already."—Democrat and Chronicle, Rochester, N. Y.

Reveals Scotland and Wales as Irish provinces, colonies, and political dependencies for centuries. Records surprizing Irish military conquests, political settlements, and cultural and missionary enterprises. 8vo, Cloth, 378 pp. $4.00.

"It is well for the Irish that they should have this vision of a glorious past, when men of their race were the evangelists of religion and learning in barbarian-ridden Europe."—The Post, Birmingham, England.

Ireland and the Foundations of Europe. (Companion volume to "Ireland and the Making of Britain.") A new series revealing truths, amply authenticated, regarding Ireland's glorious past which may prove revolutionary to those whose knowledge of history has been gained through orthodox channels. It covers a period about which little has heretofore been known regarding Gaelic activities—the Middle Ages—and reveals Irish influences as the major force in the civilization and stabilization of all Europe. A vast amount of research covering a period of many years, and extending into scores of almost unknown sources, has yielded information which is now presented for the first time in modern times and most of which has never before appeared in English. It is of special interest to those of Gaelic or Scottish descent as well as to all lay-readers interested in history and truth. It is indispensable to historians. 8vo, Cloth. Map of Hibernicized Medieval Europe and chronological tables. $4.00.

HALSEY, FRANCIS W.

Great Epochs in American History. (See Bryan, Hon. William Jennings, The World's Famous Orations; Lodge, Henry Cabot, The Best of the World's Classics; Rowson, S. H., Charlotte Temple; Pryde, David, What Books to Read and How to Read.) Edited, with Introductions and Explanatory Notes, by Francis W. Halsey. Aim to present striking accounts of ten great epochs in the history of the United States, from the landing of Columbus to the building of the Panama Canal. In large part, events composing each epoch are described by men who participated in them, or were personal eye-witnesses of them. The editor has endeavored to present as impartial and unbiased a view of the various events recorded as was possible and has taken pains to secure accounts by men of widely varying opinions in instances where there were differences of opinion. The description of the Firing Upon Fort Sumter, for example, is given both by Horace Greeley and by Mrs. Mary B. Chestnut, a Southern woman and close friend of all the leaders of the Secessionist party. Similarly the first battle of Bull Run is described by Edmund Clarence Stedman, then war correspondent for the New York World, and also by General Joseph E. Johnston, the Confederate Commander, and the subject of Reconstruction is handled by General John B. Gordon, of the Confederate Army, and by Abraham Lincoln. These instances are enough to show how free from partisan feeling this work is, its sole aim being to tell the truth. 10 vols., illustrated with frontispieces. Bound in cloth, half-leather, and full-leather. Sold only by subscription.

Seeing Europe With Famous Authors. Edited by Francis W. Halsey. HAWTHORNE, JULIAN

Prince Saroni's Wife. And the Pearl-Shell Necklace. Two novels. In one volume. 12mo, Cloth, 117 pp., 75 cents; Paper, 15 cents.

HAWTHORNE, NATHANIEL

The Yarn of a Yankee Privateer. (Edited by Nathaniel Hawthorne; introduction by Clifford Smyth.) The publication of this volume of rare interest and of historical importance is the result of strange coincidences. Several years ago an unsigned manuscript, yellow with age, was found among some of Hawthorne's old papers. Its origin would have remained a mystery but for the finding, several years later, of a series of papers edited by Hawthorne in a long forgotten magazine for the year 1846. The old manuscript proved to contain chapters of the printed series which had never been published. The author, who eventually was found to be Dr. Benjamin Frederick Browne, vividly narrates his adventures aboard an American privateer in the War of 1812; his capture and confinement on the isle of Barbados and in the ill-famed Dartmoor prison, and gives perhaps the only first-hand account of what led up to the Dartmoor massacre—the killing of American captives in this English prison. The illustrations are reproductions of old prints, drawings, etc. 12mo, Cloth, 326 pp. Illustrated. $2.00.

HAYDEN, ARTHUR

Spode and His Successors. This volume is the result of long and arduous exploration and will be indispensable to every one who is interested in English pottery and earthenware. This is the only complete and authentic record of the Spode-Copeland Factory and its productions which has been put into print. The author has traced the story of the Spodes from the beginning through all developments, filling up gaps, and dissipating many legends that have grown up concerning them. This volume will be noteworthy alone for its illustrations, which have been taken almost entirely from pieces in private collections. There are twenty-four plates in full color, mounted and tissued, and sixty-four half-tone plates. Super Royal 8vo, Cloth, 224 pages, 88 illustrations. Limited Edition. $25.00.

HEXAGLOT BIBLE, THE

Comprising the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments in the original tongues. The work presents the Scriptures of the Old Testament in six languages, the Hebrew, Greek, Latin, English, German, and French, and the New Testament in Greek, Syriac, Latin, English, German, and French. The texts are conveniently arranged in six parallel columns, three columns on each of two opposite pages. Edited by the Rev. Edward Riches De Levante, M.A., Ph.D. Assisted by competent Biblical scholars. The prominent feature is the analytical character of each reference. The Bible student can, at a glance, find out four distinct points: (a) What the original Hebrew or Greek of any word is; (b) its literal meaning; (c) a correct and trustworthy exegesis, and (d) what are really parallel passages. The Hexaglot Bible is uniquely available for the rapid acquirement of French, German, Latin, or the older Greek, Hebrew, and Syriac—for here man's most beautiful thoughts, exprest in the accepted purest, most elegant diction of these various tongues, appear. Having learned the elements of a language, you can read the language itself with close, continued interest, in the Hexaglot, referring instantly when in doubt to the English, directly opposite. Six volumes, quarto, Cloth, $60.00; Sheep, $70.00; half Morocco, $90.00.

The texts are those of the highest authorities. The Hebrew is that of Van der Hooght, carefully revised. The Greek in the old Testament is Dr. Tischendorf's latest edition, with gaps supplied in brackets, from various sources, and in the New Testament, Dr. Tischendorf's eighth edition similarly supplemented. The Latin of the Old Testament is the Clementine edition of the Vulgate, and in the New Testament, Dr. Tischendorf's edition of the Codex Amiatinus, with gaps supplied in brackets, from the Clementine edition. The Syriac (in the New Testament only) is based on the noted "Biblia Sacra Polyglotta." The English is the Authorized Version; the German, Martin Luther's translation, and the French is the translation by David Martin with revisions.

It is not only a sumptuous book for a library, but is also a book of comparative versions which will be of incalculable convenience and value. . . . Each version has been committed to a scholar specially qualified for editing it, and the whole has been produced in a style of printing which places the work at the head of the Biblical texts of this country.—British Quarterly Review.

"The Hexaglot Bible is, I am satisfied, the most satisfactory available presentation of the Scripture in parallel versions of the six great languages. As the great Origen in Alexandria more than fifteen hundred years ago magnified the value of the Scripture by presenting it in several versions, so does this great work promise to do."—Chancellor H. M. MacCracken, D.D., of New York University.

HILL, ROYAL

The Stars and Constellations. A simple and practical guide-book of the heavens intended specially for those who are not proficient in astronomy. It gives easy helps with charts which will enable any one to learn the names and positions of all the important stars and constellations. The zodiacal charts show the relative size and the exact position of each star visible to the naked eye. The path of the sun is also indicated so that its precise location for any day in the year can be instantly ascertained. It includes a perpetual astronomical time-table. Large 4to, Cloth, 32 pp. $1.00.

"It is all that is needed to identify easily all the leading stars and constellations."—Prof. C. A. Young, Princeton University.

HILTON, WARREN, A.B., LL.B.

Basic Reading Course in Applied Psychology. (New Revised Edition.) A practical series of books on the application of psychology to the problems of personal and business efficiency, designed to make clear to the average man or woman the principles underlying mental operations and their utilization as a means to achievement in life. 12 volumes. Issued under the auspices of the Society of Applied Psychology. Apply for terms. (See page insert of detachable post cards facing inside back cover.)

"I consider the 'Basic Course of Reading in Psychology' the most remarkable books ever issued. I find them as fascinating as so many novels and read them as eagerly as I would the popular fiction of the day. Already I have experienced great benefit through application of the simple principles so clearly expounded. The world has been waiting for these books and the world will surely profit by them."—William Wallace Cook, Author, Marshall, Mich.

"The Society's books on Applied Psychology I consider the most valuable of any books on the subject that I have seen. I have read Spencer's Psychology, Munsterburg's Psychology, William James' Phychology, and many others, but from the view-point of usefulness these books, to my mind, are much more valuable. They are especially adapted to the purposes for which they are intended—the application of psychology to the affairs of every-day life."—Hudson Maxim, Inventor.

"In my opinion these texts should be taught in all the higher schools, thus insuring a century's advance to the present generation. Blindly I have groped for just this knowledge. The promulgators of these volumes should be hailed as benefactors of the race."—Dorothy Zimmerman, District Manager, The Supreme Tribe of Ben-Hur, Huntington, W. Va.

"I want to say that the twelfth volume alone is worth far more to me than was paid for all the volumes of Applied Psychology. You are making the world brighter and better."—John Benjamin Strasburger, City Statistician, Chicago, Illinois.

"I have been reading some of the best works on the subject of Psychology, but find it put up in the easiest form to read and understand in the Basic Course. It's just like A, B, C, the subject is made so reasonable and simple. I believe that younger students of this science who have found some of the best writers on the subject dry, uninteresting, and unintelligible, will not find this work so. My prediction is that a good many people are going to read and be benefited by this course who have never before given the subject any serious consideration or who have passed over it very lightly because it was not interesting."—M. W. Cook, Cortez, Pa.

The Heart and Blood Vessels: Their Care and Cure and the General Management of the Body. A general guide in the prevention of disease, for the public at large. Written after long medical practice, from a scientific basis and an intelligent appreciation of common needs. Breathes a benignant human spirit. It outlines in plain language the correct management of the body with regard to work, recreation, sleep, exercise, food, sex instinct, climate, and shows the way to reconstruct one's system after it has been mismanaged, at once removing nervous depression and irritability; tells how to lead a happy and efficient life even when the heart is sick and blood vessels are hardened; and helps in the choice of a physician, nurse, hospital, sanitarium, and places for recuperation in America and in Europe. 12mo, Cloth. $1.75.

"Tells in clear, understandable English, the surprisingly interesting story of the human heart, and how easily it may be kept sound without sacrifice of pleasure or money."—The San Francisco Call.

"There can be nothing but commendation for so sane and practical a treatise. He says nothing that can encourage hypochrondria or an adverse auto-suggestion. He tells us that nature intends us to be healthy and happy, and that we need do no more than obey her laws to be both."—Argonaut, San Francisco, Cal.

HOLLOPETER, WILLIAM C., M.D.

Hay Fever, Its Prevention and Cure (Revised Edition). The new fourth edition of this widely used work contains information on the latest methods of treatment and the most recent well-substantiated facts regarding the causes of Hay Fever. The Immunizing method receives extensive attention. Several sections of the book have been entirely rewritten, bringing the volume down to date and in harmony with the best practise of the day. For all who are annually sneezers this book can not fail to have special interest. It comes from the pen of an expert, and should command the confidence of all who suffer from the summer's widespread scourge. Dr. Hollopeter was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1877; served as interne in the Presbyterian Hospital of New York; and thereafter had large experience in private practice and as college professor, making a special study of diseases of the throat, eye and ear, with particular attention to Hay Fever. In this book he has written for laymen as well as physicians, and every Hay Fever victim should know what is the history, what are the causes, and what is the proper treatment of a disease which has been so baffling, so afflictive, and so inadequately understood, as told by one who in handling it has had great success. 12mo. $2.00.

"Self-interest alone should make its pages precious to all hay-fever sufferers as well as to physicians who have groped uncertainly for an efficient treatment for the scourge."—The Press, Philadelphia.

HOLY-DAYS AND HOLIDAYS

An exhaustive cyclopedia of inspiring thoughts from the great poets, authors, preachers, statesmen, and others on the important days of the ecclesiastical calendar and the leading secular holidays. The holy-days are those commemorative of the most significant facts and principles of the Christian faith. The holidays are those most widely observed in the United States, Great Britain, Ireland, and Canada. The contents include sermons and outlines, poetry, historical data, illustrations, descriptive data, etc., and are arranged in the most convenient and accessible form, and the volume includes an exhaustive bibliography, a topical index, index to authors, and index to texts. Compiled by Edward M. Deems, A.M., Ph.D. 8vo, Cloth, 768 pp. $6.00.

"This work is a treasure to which the preacher and speaker will resort for material wherever sermons or addresses are to be made suitable to the recurring anniversaries."—Zion's Advocate, Portland, Me.

HOMILETIC REVIEW, THE

An International Interdenominational Illustrated Magazine devoted to an exposition and discussion of living issues and subjects related to all branches of religious and pulpit activity. Issued monthly. 8vo, 80 pp. Subscription per year, $3.00; single copies, 30 cents. Foreign postage, 50 cents a year. Vols. I and II (Metropolitan Pulpit), and III to VIII, inclusive (Homiletic Monthly), out of print; also Vols. IX and X and XXIX to LXVII. Vols. XI to XXVIII, inclusive, and LXVIII and later, bound in cloth, each $2.00. Subscribers' copies for six months (January-June or July-December) bound for $1.25, carriage charges in both directions payable by customers. Covers for respective volumes, suitable for regular binding, 75 cents, carriage paid.

The Homiletic Review contains discussions and information on all the important practical topics and problems in theology, the pulpit, religion, and pastoral work. It secures the best contributions from the leading thinkers, writers, and preachers of the Christian world. The attitude of the Church and pulpit toward all the live issues of the day receives full attention in its pages. The Review is a practical help to ministers, theological students, and other religious workers.

REGULAR FEATURES

The General Articles every month are the expression of men who are especially qualified in the wide range of subjects on which they write, and are of vital interest to the preacher and other Christian workers. They cover travel, biography of living preachers, special occasions, literature, philosophy, science, etc.

Editorial Comment discusses current questions arising in the thought of the day, which are of moment to the preacher-pastor. These questions may concern matters of religion, theology, ethical practise, or may deal with the Church's social relations.

Speaker and Audience deals with the matter of sermons and addresses, with things especially relating to pulpit and platform. Occasional "book sermons" appear here.

The Church and Community department takes into account pastoral work in its most comprehensive relations, the active work of the church in the community, the conduct of services, tells of successful experiments in parish work, hears from the minister's wife, and conducts the midweek prayer meeting.

Religious Education furnishes exposition of the Sunday-school lessons, and provides original articles, hints in exegesis, side-lights on Biblical passages, and methods of teaching.

Social Christianity inquires into the relations of the Church in its wider relations to society, labor, industry, and business.

Selected Sermons provides sermons which are suggestive as treatments of texts or subjects which have significance in present-day life. Included are both the American and the foreign pulpit; the children's service is also provided for either in model children's sermons or in material for them, or in services specially written for this magazine.

Sermonic Material furnishes eight pages of outlines and the best selected illustrations for use in the pulpit.

Fireside Talks on Books presents an original discussion by some well-known authority, together with impartial estimates of books on religion, ethics, philosophy and related topics by competent authorities.

"This magazine is a kind of university extension service."—Reverend John Barlow, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"I can conceive no better way of getting the fodder to the flock than by a pastor being acquainted with such a magazine as 'The Homiletic Review.' It is admirable in its scope and adequacy of treatment."—Reverend S. Parkes Cadman.

"It is the most welcome magazine of its kind I have found on either side of the Atlantic Ocean. From its pages I have found more sermon helps than from all the rest put together."—Ernest Barber, Pastor, M. E. Church, Scituate, Mass.

"I think of The Homiletic Review as a veritable pastor's assistant—progressive, constructive, and sympathetic."—Rev. Charles Carroll Albertson, Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"I wish to speak of my approval of The Review and of the great benefit I derive from it. I read every issue and always get some suggestion from it as well as spiritual uplift. Speaking of the fellowship of The Homiletic Review family, I feel this very much. It is a part of one's mental and spiritual make-up."—Rev. Baxter Waters, Kansas City, Mo.

"I feel impelled to express my appreciation of the great help you are affording the busy pastor through this magazine. I always find in each number something of real practical value. Particularly I like its suggestiveness. You present principles that can be applied to the solution of the special problems of the individual parish."—Rev. Charles F. Scofield, Collegeville, Pa.

HOMILETIC REVIEW, COMPREHENSIVE INDEX TO THE

A practical and exhaustive index, including every article in forty-two volumes of The Homiletic Review. All the wealth of homiletical information contained in The Review is now placed

HOYT, J. K.

Hoyt's New Cyclopedia of Practical Quotations. (Completely revised and greatly enlarged by Kate Louise Roberts.) A rich treasury of 21,000 of the choicest of usable quotations, drawn from the speech and literature of all nations, ancient and modern, classic and popular, in English and foreign text, including outstanding phrases coined during the momentous years of the recent World War. While based on the latest former edition of a world-known work of reference and retaining its most valuable features, this NEW edition, based on the simpler plan of one topical alphabet throughout, is virtually a new work, for it has been entirely reset, contains 4,500 more new quotations and has new features of its own. Hundreds of the old quotations have been replaced by others both newer and more valuable. Contains 21,000 quotations from 3,000 Authors; 1,036 Topical Headings; 115,620 Entries in Concordance—Index; 1,374 pages. Royal 8vo. Cloth, $7.50; Buckram, $8.50; Three-quarter Morocco, $12.50; Full Morocco, $15.00. Patent Thumb-index, 75 cents extra.

Among the most important features of the work are the quotations from foreign writers, Latin law maxims, and an extensive list of French and Latin mottoes. All foreign quotations are always followed by their English translations. The Cyclōpedia contains quotations from the Greek and Roman classic authors, from the great writers of the East, of Germany, Italy, Spain, Portugal, etc. A complete list is given of all authors quoted, with the full name, the nationality, a few words of characterization, such as "statesman," "poet," "historian," the date of birth, and, if dead, the date of death. The three distinct reference keys which are afforded for finding quotations in English are: (1) The topics; (2) the entry of each significant word in the concordance, and (3) the name of the author, with the number of the pages containing his quotations. Foreign quotations can be found under: (1) the topic; (2) the author; (3) some word in the original, or (4) some word in the translation. The quotations are classified under subjects.

"The most the present reviewer can claim for himself is that he has dipt into this portly tome here and there and that he has done what he can to plumb its depths. He has found himself so agreeably allured that he has now and again abandoned his casual browsing to read a score of consecutive pages, finding many old friends, familiar as household words, and making many new acquaintances whom he will be glad to meet again."—Brander Matthews, in an article, "A Treasure House of Lost Quotations," printed in The Literary Digest International Book Review.

"It seems to me the most useful and best contrived book of its kind ever published."—Booth Tarkington.

HUDSON, H. N. (See Aldus Shakespeare.)

HUGO, VICTOR.

An Intellectual Autobiography. Translated by Lorenzo O'Rourke. It was recently brought to light from Hugo's papers and manuscripts, and is the only volume of his prose writings not heretofore published. 12mo, Cloth, 400 pp. $1.20.

"The volume is sure to awaken wide interest among readers who are in any way concerned with the mind and writings of the great French poet and novelist. Coming as it does from an epoch in his life, which is perhaps of the most vital interest in any study of his genius, the volume may be described as a sort of mind-biography. It has a literary quality which French critics have accepted as on a level with the best of Hugo's prose writings."—News, Detroit, Mich.

HUNT, THEODORE W., Ph.D., Litt.D.

Ethical Teachings in Old English Literature. The book contains 24 papers designed to emphasize the ethical and Christian element in our Old English authors. 12mo, Cloth, 385 pp., $2.00.

Literature: Its Principles and Problems. This book is especially commended to all students of literature, with the assurance that they will find its conclusions substantially sound. 12mo, Cloth, 427 pp. $1.20.

ILLUSTRATIONS FOR PUBLIC SPEAKERS, CYCLOPEDIA OF

Edited by Robert Scott and W. C. Stiles. The illustrations are entirely new; every one is fresh and drawn from an original source, from nature, from common life, from recent events, from science, from biography, from religious experience, from anecdotes, etc. The matter is arranged alphabetically under topical headings, with a thorough system of cross references. For the convenience of preachers, textual indexes are given, arranged in Biblical order and also in the alphabetical order of the topics. Large 8vo, 844 pp., Cloth, $5.00.

"A large, important, and useful work that will help enhance the utterances of men who speak in public; also after-dinner speakers, who desire to be at all times well equipped to arouse enthusiasm."—Boston Globe.

"The selections are admirable, and the books will prove useful to every one who has occasion to occupy the platform."—Chauncey M. Depew, LL.D.

"There is good evidence all through that the editors were able to discriminate between a real illustration and mere quotation or citation. All the entries in this volume are distinctly suited for public speakers' use."—Salt Lake Tribune, Salt Lake, Utah.

"The work represents wide research and shows an admirable practical arrangement of contents which should commend it to every class of speakers."—News, Chicago, Ill.

Child Training as an Exact Science. A treatise based upon the principles of modern psychology. Covers a field no other work does. 12mo, Cloth, 384 pp.; with 15 full-page illustrations. $1.50.

The Unsound Mind and the Law. A Presentation of Forensic Psychiatry. By an expert along this line of discussion. Discusses at length the various types of mental abnormality and the degrees of responsibility that may be assigned to persons classified under the different categories. The book opens with a careful examination of the general relation between jurisprudence and the treatment and restraint of those suffering from mental disorders, goes on to describe in detail the various methods of diagnosis and discrimination between different types, and, after considering hypnosis and sexual anomalies, closes with advice as to the manner in which opinions should be rendered. To those who are interested in the medico-legal aspects of crime and the degrees of moral responsibility that we are justified in assuming in various grades of mental deficiency this book will prove a most valuable assistance and authority. 8vo, Cloth, 438 pp. $3.00.

JEFFERSONIAN CYCLOPEDIA, THE

Including the important writings and utterances of Thomas Jefferson, conveniently arranged under topics, in alphabetical order and thoroughly indexed, on government, politics, law, education, commerce, agriculture, manufacture, finance, science, art, literature, religious freedom, morals, and other topics. The plan on which the Cyclopedia has been compiled is entirely new and original. The classification shows at one glance Jefferson's views, opinions, etc., at different periods on all the momentous subjects which he discussed. The writings of no other American or even English statesman have been arranged in this way. The quotations are all arranged under topics in alphabetical order, thus placing his wealth of thought, suggestion, and information within immediate reach of the user. The Cyclopedia is strikingly simple, complete, and easy of reference. Contains 9,228 extracts, besides an appendix including a number of historical documents, chronology of Jefferson's life, etc. With ten illustrations. Edited by John P. Foley. 8vo, 1,031 pp., Cloth, $7.50; Half Morocco, $12.50; Full Morocco, $15.00.

JENKS, PROF. J. W., PH.D., LL.D., and LAUCK, PROF. W. JETT

The Immigration Problem. A Study of American Immigration—Conditions and Needs. (Thoroughly revised and enlarged by Rufus D. Smith, M.A., Associate Professor of Public Economy, New York University.) Dr. Jenks, now Research Professor of Government and Public Administration in New York University, was an active member of the United States Immigration Commission, appointed in 1907, and Prof. Lauck, now Director of the Bureau of Applied Economics, at Washington, was officially connected therewith during the Commission's four years of searching work. Based upon the extended Report of that Commission, in forty-two volumes, this book's Fifth Edition has been revised, enlarged, and brought down to date by Prof. Rufus D. Smith, for this Sixth Edition. All available new data has been added to the text. The appendices now contain all Immigration Laws and Regulations from those of 1917 to the Immigration Act of 1924, together with all of the latest statistics. The three chapters written by Prof. Smith are of great importance—Immigration Problems of Other Countries, The Race Problem in the Pacific, and Present and Future Restriction. This Sixth Edition is thus made the standard compact authority on Immigration, in accordance with latest official figures and facts, holding place absolutely abreast with conditions affecting our nation's present and future. Cloth, 8vo. 744 pages. $4.00.

"This book will continue to hold its position as the authoritative digest of the reports of the Immigration Commission, and as such will serve a widely useful purpose."—The Evening Post, New York.

"The book is the most exhaustive study of the immigration problem in compact form that we have."—The Transcript, Boston, Mass.

"A non-partizan, clear-cut, authoritative presentation of a problem of pressing importance and of vital interest to all classes of citizens of the United States."—Tribune, Salt Lake City, Utah.

KELLOGG, CHARLOTTE

Bobbins of Belgium. A uniquely interesting and original book on the Belgian lace industry, telling of the lives of the workers, social and labor conditions, methods of manufacture, various types of lace, etc. The little journeys into lace-land which form the subject matter of her book are detailed in simple but moving language, colored everywhere by a fine quality of genuine feeling, and her presentation of the community and family life out of which the work originates can not fail to enlist the interest of her readers. Profusely illustrated with reproductions of original lace designs. 8vo, Cloth, $2.00.

Women of Belgium Turning Tragedy to Triumph. With an Introduction by Herbert C. Hoover. An absorbingly interesting narrative of personal experience by the only woman member of the Relief Commission, who tells in moving language the story of the unbreakable spirit sustaining the Belgians and the noble service the Belgian women have rendered and inspired in a land made desolate by war. 12mo, Cloth. 8 full-page half-tone illustrations. $1.00.

"Among the thousands of books that have been written on the war, in this country and abroad, the pen of a woman has given us the truest portrayal of the real heart of a heart-broken people."—Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

"The details of organization of the 'Soupes,' of the cantines for expectant and nursing mothers, the creation of that tragically necessary 'extra meal' for the undernourished little school children—all these are given, varied with the more dramatic scenes such as the celebration of mass by heroic Cardinal Mercier, when the enthusiasm and love of the people burst through the iron repression of all these months of restraint, and an ovation broke out that was worth the price they later paid to the occupying power."—Chronicle, San Francisco, Calif.

KELLOGG, JOHN HARVEY, M.D.

The Itinerary of a Breakfast. (Seventh Revised Edition.) The author, who is medical director of the Battle Creek Sanitarium, tells an interesting story, in non-technical language, of the new physiology of diet and digestion as revealed by recent scientific experimentation and X-ray studies. Illustrated with colored plates showing the progress of a meal through the ten gates of the human body and the relative progression of later meals. A helpful and up-to-date health book. 12mo, Cloth, 202 pp. $1.75.

"This book is one which the physician will read with interest and the layman with considerable enlightenment."—Journal of American Medical Association.

"The book tells a wonderful tale more valuable than secrets of hidden wealth of gold and gems. It should be a text-book in every public school in the world."—Charles S. Osborne, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., ex-Governor of Michigan.

LAUCK, W. JETT

The New Industrial Revolution and Wages. A business-like study of the radical changes in American theory and practice which have come in since the World War and created the present era of prosperity. It brings to light the revolutionary changes in the fundamental attitude of industrial leaders, capitalists, students, publicists and members of adjustment agencies toward wage principles and standards. The only book on the subject published. Crown 8vo, Cloth, 317 pp. $2.50.

Political and Industrial Democracy: 1776-1926. The author, who was formerly Professor of Economics and Politics at Washington and Lee University, begins his book by describing the political evolution in America from the adoption of the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776, to the present time. He then tells the story of industrial reconstruction—how wage earners are now given a voice in determining working standards to an extent undreamed of before the World War. The author names twenty of the largest railroads and industrial concerns in America that have entered into cooperative plans with employees in late years, and describes the plans in full detail. The book affords much tangible evidence of how Capital and Labor are getting together in this country and solving the great industrial problem. It will interest every man who works for or employs some one else. 384 pages. Crown 8vo. Cloth. $2.

"A very needed description of trends in American life."—Prof. Wm. F. Ogburn, Barnard College.

LAUCK, W. JETT, and WATTS, CLAUDE S.

The Industrial Code. W. Jett Lauck was Secretary of the National War Labor Board, and associated with him as joint author is Claude S. Watts, who was Chief of the Division of Investigation of the same board. A history of industrial development during the war and since the armistice was declared, a presentation, in an unbiased and non-partisan way, of the problems in the present relations of labor and capital, the principles that apply, and the enlightened opinion of different social and economic groups. The book is written with due regard for the claims of both sides and is a constructive one. 8vo, Cloth, 579 pp. $4.00.

"Without question, the whole work of industrial reconstruction during the next few years will revolve about the questions so thoroughly and so interestingly handled in 'The Industrial Code.' "—Bulletin, San Francisco, Calif.

"The progressive executive, even though he may take exception now and then to assertions made in some of the chapters, will do well to add this volume not only to his personal but also to his plant library." —Journal of Commerce, New York City.

MACARA, SIR CHARLES W.

†Recollections. The famous Brooks Agreement, "the finest example of industrial statesmanship yet framed," has prevented strikes in the cotton manufacturing industry of England for twenty years. This document was written by Sir Charles W. Macara, Bart., and in his "Recollections" he reveals his conciliatory methods of stopping strikes and bringing Capital and Labor harmoniously together. He also throws attractive sidelights on the manners and personal characteristics of some great men, besides giving a survey of conditions in the cotton manufacturing industry throughout the world. To all concerned in any way with Labor, Capital or Cotton, this book will have extraordinary significance. Crown 8vo, Cloth, 284 pp. $2.00.

MAGDA, QUEEN OF SHEBA

From the Ancient Royal Abyssinian Manuscript, "The Glory of the Kings." Now first translated into French from the original Ghese (the language of the Ethiopian priests), by Hugues Le Roux, member of the Rouen Académie des Belles-Lettres, and into English for this volume from the French of M. Le Roux by Mrs. John Van Vorst, with an introduction by Hugues Le Roux. This is the story of the visit of the Queen of Sheba to King Solomon, and of the early life of their son, told in the form of fiction, but with an historical basis, the facts being those which have been believed in Abyssinia for many generations. Experts have given the opinion that the date of the original manuscript is probably somewhere in the fifth century of our era. Illustrated with five reproductions by Michel Engueda Work, an Abyssinian artist. 12mo, Cloth, 195 pp., illustrated. $1.20.

MAGNUS, DR. HUGO

Superstition in Medicine. The story of strange practices and beliefs, of magicians, charlatans, and quacks of all descriptions, whose knaveries, mummeries and nonsense were the prevailing practices in medicine and still linger here and there in our own day. Translated from the German by Dr. Julius L. Salinger. 12mo, Cloth. $1.00.

MARSHALL, FRANCIS W.

Common Legal Principles That Every One Should Know. This volume is built on an entirely new plan which most clearly informs the average man and woman on points of law by quoting the opinions of famed judges of courts of last resort—material which could be quoted in court and accepted as final authority. Some ninety per cent of the volume is made up of such material—the other ten per cent is taken from the great writers on law as Blackstone, Kent, etc.; material acceptable in court as persuasive authority. Since, in this commercial age, we are all more or less men and women of affairs, the author had chiefly in mind the general public in preparing this remarkable treatise. Yet so authoritative is it that lawyers, bankers, real estate and insurance men, village and town officials, members of legislative bodies or those interested in legislative enactments, and law students about to take Bar examinations will find it indispensable. School-teachers who are required to instruct their pupils in our Constitutional law will find no work as satisfactory as this. Crown 8vo, Law Buckram. Two volumes, 762 pp. $10.00.

MARTIN, REV. EDWIN MOORE

They Knew Jesus. The author has selected lives of men who came into touch with Jesus Christ while He lived among men—lives that had been transformed by Him, and lives that have shown no results other than negative from such relationship—and tells the story of these individuals as they themselves might have told it to him, if face to face with him today. Preachers of all denominations will find this volume not only one of inspiration for evangelistic effort but also a model for the building of similar sermons along individual lines. Crown 8vo, Cloth, 351 pp. $2.50.

MENTAL EFFICIENCY SERIES

Ten Volumes of uniform 16mo size, made up in the most careful manner from the writings of Aristotle, Socrates, Darwin, Spencer, William James, Muenstérberg, Jastrow, Schofield, and other accepted authorities on mental science practically applied. But though in a broad way these men are the authors of these books, those who have done the actual work of collecting the material and putting it into this unusual form are a group of scientists and practical men prominent in this sort of work, not only in this country but abroad, where the study of mental efficiency has really reached a much higher plane. The great service they have performed has been to point out the practical day-by-day application of all this knowledge. The topics treated in these ten volumes are:

Poise: How to Attain It. Starke, D.

Force of Character: How to Develop It. Starke, D.

Timidity: How to Overcome It. Yoritomo-Tashi.

Influence: How to Exert It. Yoritomo-Tashi.

Common Sense: How to Exercise It. Yoritomo-Tashi.

Practicality: How to Acquire It. Nicolle, R.

Opportunities: How to Make the Most of Them. Charley, L.

Perseverance: How to Develop It. Besser, H.

Speech: How to Use it Effectively in All Phases of Daily Life. Xanthes.

Personality: How to Produce It. Laurent, H.

12mo, Cloth. Price, $10.00 the set; $1.00 a volume. In half leather, or "Luxart." Price, $15.00 the set; $1.50 a volume. Sold separately.

"Your books on Mental Efficiency are truly efficient. They show me how to do today's work and plan tomorrow's. How to put more in life and take more out of it. And in addition to that, they're fascinating."—Harold Cary, Flushing, New York.

"You have performed a new and most valuable service to those who will take the trouble to profit by it. The information contained in the books on 'Mental Efficiency' is, of course, worth only what a man makes it worth; but those, who will, can render it tremendously valuable."—Hon. Thos. Ewing.

MERTON, HOLMES W.

How to Choose the Right Vocation. Designed to help boys and young men in making their vocational decisions. In this book Mr. Merton records the results of his unrivaled practical acquaintance with the subject, and his simple, direct, and sympathetic treatment of this most important question can not fail to be of great help to all young men and women who are striving to "find themselves" vocationally. To employers, teachers, students of business problems, and all who are interested in this comparatively new field of human effort, it will also appeal strongly. 12mo, Cloth, 322 pp. $1.50.

"By following the instructions given by Mr. Merton, young men and women may be saved years of wasted effort and disappointment."—Atlanta Constitution.

MITCHELL, REV. WILLIAM S., D.D.

A Seven-Day Church At Work. The fact-story of one of the most interesting and successful experiments in the American religious world. It tells how Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church, of Worcester, Massachusetts, has solved the problem of dwindling attendance, having won out against all the distracting materialism of the age, to become in two brief years, an active factor in Worcester's social and spiritual life every day in the week. It is work such as this, the author believes, that will "bring about a new reformation in our evangelical churches." His volume is full of practical details for the use of other religious workers who are trying to solve similar problems. 12mo, Cloth. Illustrated. $2.00.

MODERN SERMONS BY WORLD SCHOLARS

Ten volumes of over seventy sermons, Edited by Robert Scott and W. C. Stiles, with introduction by Newell Dwight Hillis, D.D. Each sermon, given entire, was selected (oftentimes by the preacher himself) as most representative of the authors' style and force. The topics embraced are of timely interest and furnish excellent reading for the layman, as well as for the clergyman. Daintily and substantially bound, small 12mo size. In a Box. Bound in cloth or half leather. Sold only by Subscription.

MOORE, DOROTHEA

†An Adventurous School Girl. This story of a schoolgirl of the days of the Jacobites opens with the news of the coming of the rebels, and the flight of everybody—except Lettice Fairfax and a maid, who are kept fast there by the illness of Lettice, with the result that she finds herself unwillingly embroiled in high affairs which carry her to London—and to Newgate itself. It is a good story in which every girl will revel. 12mo, Cloth, 286 pp., with several full-page illustrations in black and white and frontispiece in colors. $1.50.

NEWMAN, E. M.

Seeing Italy. An intimate story by an experienced traveler, covering the chief places and objects of interest in Italy. An intensely interesting narrative which includes something to meet every personal preference—for those who prefer art, architecture, ruins, history, human interest, and scenery. Read in advance of the trip it will prepare travelers in an ideal manner for what they are to see; carried by tourists in Italy it will prove invaluable as a reference. 8vo. Cloth. 298 photographic illustrations. $5.00.

Seeing Russia. The only uncensored pictorial and written account of present-day Russia since the Soviet Government came into power, illustrated with hundreds of superb photographs such as: the bedroom of the late Czarina; playroom of the little Czarevitch who was shot to death with his parents; how the wild boys of Moscow go to bed; Jewish colonists; inscription placed near the shrine of the Iberian Virgin reading "Religion—Opium of the People," etc. 8vo, Cloth, 410 pages, 309 illustrations, with Maps in Color. $5.00.

Seeing Egypt and the Holy Land. A delightfully readable account of the things and places most worth seeing, together with many practical suggestions of great value to travellers, enlivened on almost every page with anecdotes and personal experiences of the author. Among the three hundred photographic illustrations, all original, are some superb views of forbidden Mecca and its sacred Kaaba; probably the best existing photographs of Petra; views of Tel Aviv, near Jaffa, and other Jewish colonies in Palestine; the Holy Sepulcher at Jerusalem, etc. 8vo, Cloth, with 300 illustrations from original photographs. $5.00.

Seeing Germany. The only travel-book on Germany to appear since the World War—an anecdote-spiced account, superbly illustrated from his own photographs, of what the author himself has seen in this fascinating land. Mr. Newman finds a new spirit in Germany and he writes of the young republic and of its people with a zest which instantly communicates itself to the reader. All along the way the author delights us with his experiences and gives us episodes from the lives of famous Germans, and curious legends and bits of dramatic history. He has also given us those valuable bits of information regarding where to stay, what to eat, tipping, passports, etc., which have made his other "Traveltalk" books so popular. 8vo, Cloth. 300 photographic reproductions. $5.00.

NOURSE, PROF. E. E.

OEHLER, DR. GUSTAV FRIEDRICH

†Theology of the Old Testament. A scholarly and comprehensive exposition. Edited by Prof. Geo. E. Day, D.D. 8vo, Cloth, 522 pp. $4.00.

OGILVY, JAMES S.

†Relics and Memorials of London City and London Town. In two volumes, each containing over fifty finely reproduced illustrations in color from paintings by the author. A permanent and worthy record, in picture and text, of many buildings and places of great historic interest, now fast disappearing, in that older London soon to be chiefly a memory—that London of the Great Fire, of the terrible Plague, of Goldsmith and Johnson, of the Tower and the Strand—also a like enduring and attractive record of the newer London, of Sir Christopher Wren, and Westminster Abbey, and Buckingham Palace, and Dickens and Thackeray, and other places and people too numerous to mention. 4to, Cloth. Boxed. $15.00 the set.

OXENHAM, ELSIE JEANETTE

†Patience Joan, Outsider. This is the story of the adventures of a lovable little lass while attending the school of "Ups and Downs," as it is nicknamed. The adventures Patience Joan goes through prove enthralling reading and carry one through an intriguing plot and a maze of incidents. A splendid book for girls. 12mo, Cloth. $1.75.

PADOVAN, ADOLFO

†The Sons of Glory. A study of genius as manifested in the world's greatest poets, artists, philosophers, prophets, scientists, and explorers. Translated from the Italian by Duchess Litta Visconti Avese. 12mo, Cloth, 306 pp. $1.50.

PALMER, JOHN WILLIAMSON

For Charlie's Sake, and Other Lyrics and Ballads. Sixteen poems embracing lyrics of pathos and sentiment and ballads of war. 12mo, Cloth, deckle edges, gilt top, 95 pp., ornamental cover. $1.00.

PARKER, JOSEPH, D.D.

†The People's Bible. This twenty-eight volume library, by one of the greatest preachers and theologians the world has ever known, is both guide and interpreter to the treasures of the entire Bible, so arranged as to meet the wants of the ordinary Bible reader as well as the requirements of students and ministers. In the ordinary sense it is not a Bible Commentary. Its scope is broader and less technical. It is essentially a guide to Biblical wisdom. Exhaustive special indexes in each volume and a complete Index volume make the contents easily accessible. Each volume complete in itself. In 28 vols. 8vo, Cloth. $1.75 per vol.

†The Pulpit Bible. The entire text of the Bible is printed in large, clear type, with bright and suggestive illustrations in an ample margin opposite each significant verse. The author's notes alone run to over 750,000 words. The notes are all original and they indicate the special pulpit use of each verse (where available) in the Bible. Each note is thus a suggestion for a sermon. Where space has not permitted a sufficient treatment of any passage, a copious detailed index indicates in which of Dr. Parker's other books the particular interpretation is provided. 4to, Full Morocco, 1,351 pp., one vol. $20.00.

†Studies in Texts. Six volumes containing new sermons, outlines, suggestions, etc., designed to be of value to preachers, Bible students, teachers, and other active religious workers, and useful for home and family readings. 6 vols., 12mo, Cloth. $1.75 per vol.

PARTRIDGE, WILLIAM ORDWAY

The Czar's Gift. This is an addition to the "Hour-Glass Series" by the well-known Sculptor who will be remembered as author of "The Angel of Clay," "Nathan Hale," etc. Cloth, 60 cents.

PARIS, W. FRANCKLYN

Napoleon's Legion. (Honeur et Patrie.) The only work of its sort in print—a complete history of the Legion of Honor, the most famous of the orders of Napoleon, together with the record of the establishment of the American Society of the French Legion of Honor of which the author is one of the founders. The older orders of French chivalry are traced, the present national order described from its conception to the present time, and special chapters devoted to Foreign Légionnaires, the American Society of the Legion of Honor, etc. The law governing admission, promotion, the wearing of insignia, privileges and obligations attached to the quality of Légionnaire are gone into at length. Profusely illustrated.

Subscription Edition. Superbly bound in imported green polished Morocco leather, artistically pressed and tooled in the Empire style, printed on specially-made pure rag fiber book paper, illustrations on double-coated white plate paper, except the Honor Diplomas which are produced on white parchment. Two plates of Napoleon and the Legion of Honor decoration are in color. All copies of the Subscription Edition are signed personally by General Dubail, the Grand Chancellor of the Legion of Honor. Of an edition limited to 600 copies bearing General Dubail's signature, only a few are now available. Price $50.00.

PATTERSON, CHARLES BRODIE

Dominion and Power; or the Science of Life and Living (Seventh, New Edition). One of Mr. Patterson's most popular books, thoroughly revised; contains chapters dealing with Mental and Physical Health, Psychic Development, The Right Use of the Breath, Self Control, etc. 12mo, Cloth, 297 pp. $1.75.

Living Waters; or, Rivers to the Ocean. Seeks to show that there are simple and direct ways for attaining every desire, end, or purpose in life; that it is easier to do right than to do wrong. 12mo, Cloth, 356 pp. $1.75.

The Measure of a Man. The desire uppermost in the mind of the author is to carry a word of hope to those who feel their need of greater life and light. 8vo, Cloth, 297 pp. $1.75.

The Will to be Well. The author's latest thought on the ill-important subject of mental and physical health. 8vo, Cloth. 297 pp. $1.75.

In the Sunlight of Health. Characteristic common-sense, inspiring philosophy, and wise comment. Cloth, 12mo. $1.75.

PAYOT, JULES, Litt.D., Ph.D.

The Education of the Will. Has passed through thirty editions since it first came out in French. Translated by Smith Ely Jelliffe, M.D. Prof. Payot ably discusses the possibilities which lie in a judicious training of the will, he covers the relations to intellectual labor of athletic exercise, bodily hygiene, eating, etc. 12mo, Cloth, 448 pp. $1.75.

Will-Power and Work. Authorized translation by Richard Duffy. This sequel to "The Education of the Will" contains a series of talks on The Theory and Practise of Self-Culture, mental efficiency, and power of accomplishment. 12mo, Cloth, 462 pp. $1.75.

The Conquest of Happiness. Translated from the French by Richard Duffy. An ideal guide for all who seek to attain true happiness. Encouraging, informative, and inspiring, based on scientific facts, yet written in a delightful style which all may readily understand. 12mo, Cloth, 421 pp. $1.75.

PETITMANGIN, PROF. H., and FITZGERALD, JOHN A., A.B. (With the collaboration of Ernest Dimnet, author of "French Grammar Made Clear," etc.)

Latin Grammar Made Clear. An outstanding grammar for school work—one that is complete enough without being crowded, one that gives an unmistakable impression of clarity by its logical arrangement, and one that is genuinely interesting. The exercises will be found to be of valuable service in helping and practically compelling the student to think, not memorize, and to acquire familiarity with the spirit of the Latin language by vital imitation. 12mo, Cloth, 333 pp. $1.50.

PETRE, EDWIN ROBERT

When You Go to Europe. In order that every tourist to Europe could have available an adequate and unbiased handbook, the 25 leading transatlantic steamship companies commissioned Edwin Robert Petre to write a volume which would accurately outline all the matters that any one who contemplated a trip to Europe should know. The result is this exceptional volume which treats of 150 subjects, contains an atlas of all lands in Europe, describes 29 countries, and is the only book of its kind with a distance map. Tells cost of ocean passage, of travel in Europe, and of ordinary living abroad; outlines what to see; gives details of how to get passports and visés; describes baggage regulations and insurance; explains the Immigration law—in fact, information about everything necessary to see any tourist through an extended trip through Europe. 16mo, semi-flexible Fabrikoid, 160 pages. Distance map; maps in colors. $1.50.

Shrines of the Great in Europe. What wanderer through storied Europe has not wished for a pocket guide to the most interesting literary or artistic landmarks? This is the only book to meet the need—a unique tourist directory of the birthplaces, homes, story scenes and working background of more than two thousand authors, painters, sculptors, musicians, dramatists, scientists, explorers, philosophers, and others—past and present—who have left their mark on modern culture. The entire contents are arranged alphabetically for quick and easy reference; first by countries and cities, so that when the traveler is in a certain town a glance at the proper page will show whether the place contains any shrine which should be visited: then alphabetically by names, so that, if following the trail of some great master, a glance at his name will show the places he helped to make famous and recall the outstanding facts about his life and work. It is the only handbook of the kind in existence, and no well-informed tourist will be content to leave it out of his kit-bag. Small 12mo. (Pocket Size.) Fabrikoid. 402 pages. $2.00.

POE, EDGAR ALLAN

The Cameo Edition of Poe's Complete Works. A dainty and handy edition, including all of Poe's prose and poetical works, with numerous explanatory notes and a striking frontispiece with each volume. "Poe's works will always remain," says Hamilton W. Mabie, of The Outlook, "one of our most precious literary possessions." European critics regard him as the greatest of American writers. About one-thirtieth of his work consists of his poetical writings; by far the major part is vivid, intense, highly imaginative romance. Ten volumes. 6⅜ x 4 inches. Tastefully bound in Cloth and in dainty Half Leather. Sold only by subscription.

POLLOCK, HORATIO M., and MORGAN, WILLIAM S.

Modern Cities. An important record of Progress in the World-Wide Awakening for Their Betterment. Treats every topic connected with City Building and City Life as related to Social Improvement. 12mo, Cloth. With 16 full-page Illustrations. $1.50.

"I think the authors have written a remarkable book. . . . I know of nothing that has been written, or printed, that would make a more valuable text-book on this whole vital problem."—Hon. Brand Whitlock.

POMEROY, H. S., A.M., M.D.

The Ethics of Marriage. Frank and earnest discussions of the present abuses of marriage and parenthood, with helpful advice and suggestions for the integrity, purity and happiness of married life. 12mo, Cloth. 192 pp. $1.25.

POST, EMILY

Etiquette. ("The Blue Book of Social Usage." Entirely New Edition. The acknowledged authority. Besides embracing all of the topics treated in previous editions, there are many entirely new subjects in this new edition, such as: "The Woman in Business," "American Neighborhood Customs," "When You Are a House Guest," "Etiquette in Washington," "Flat Silver and Its Usage," new material on weddings, embracing Catholic and Jewish weddings, the wedding where both bride's and groom's parents are divorced, etc. The author's position in American society, her achievements as a novelist and essayist, and her wide acquaintance with social and diplomatic circles of the European capitals, enable her to write on the subject of etiquette with ease and accuracy, and to give her volume something that no book of etiquette now before the public contains, namely, the welding of the form and spirit of social life in so ingenious a fashion that we not only learn the rules of social intercourse, but we actually live them out in the reading of the book. Crown 8vo, Cloth. Many new illustrations. $4.00. Full Leather, $7.50.

Parade. One of the most revealing books of fiction published in recent years, because it deals with the aspirations and ambitions of every woman to get into society, and to climb after she gets in. 12mo, Cloth. $2.00.

The Personality of A House. ("The Blue Book of Home Design and Decoration.") This delightfully original volume tells how to give character to a home—how to make it express, in its architecture, colors, and setting, all that is most attractive in the personality of its occupants. Mrs. Post is the daughter of the late Bruce Price, one of the foremost architects of his day, and she has always been noted for her knowledge of color and arrangement and for her faultless taste. In fact, she is professionally associated with a prominent firm of architects, as a consultant. Chapters on how to plan and build a new house, and chapters on how to put distinction and charm into an old house are especially attractive features. The book is mainly devoted to the interior—the best decorative effects, the right furniture, rugs, hangings, etc.—and is as rich in suggestions for the apartment-dweller as for the house-owner. Her chapter on color is superb—one of the best expositions of the subject ever written. The entire volume is practical and authoritative, yet written in a sparkling style which in itself is an inspiration to the reader. 8vo, Cloth. With 63 full-page illustrations in half-tone, and a color chart. Cloth, $4.00; Full Leather, $7.50.

RICHMAN, JACOB

Laughs from Jewish Lore. The only book of its kind in the English language—a representative collection of Jewish wit and humor. These folk-tales and anecdotes give the reader an insight into true Jewish character and habit of mind and though genuinely funny and witty, they are not to be confused with the familiar "Hebrew yarn" which is offensive and not Jewish, but merely about Jews. The introduction throws most interesting light on the subject of Jewish humor. 12mo, Cloth, 397 pp. $2.00.

ROBB, JOHN F.

Patent Essentials for the Executive, Engineer, Lawyer, and Inventor. (New and Revised Edition.) From this volume, written in easily understood language for the layman, business men, engineers, young patent solicitors, recruit patent examiners, inventors and mechanics, students of patent law, lawyers with but occasional patent cases, assistants in patent law-offices, and foreign patent agents or solicitors will gain a splendid knowledge of the essential facts regarding the protection of patents, how to secure them, what is patentable, and the procedure of the Patent Office. This new edition contains also the 1927 revisions of the Patent laws; amendments to the rules of practise of the Patent Office putting into effect the 1927 changes in the Patent statutes; the 1927 amended Patent statutes themselves together with certain new forms of value; and material bringing the law of employer-employee rights up to date. The author is a patent attorney of wide experience, who writes interestingly and authoritatively on his subject. Crown 8vo, Law Buckram, 467 pp. $5.00.

"Any one seeking to learn the rudiments of patent soliciting will find therein a systematic statement of the rules and a very illuminating discussion of the art of drafting claims. To the already established practitioner, it will convey many valuable suggestions."—Thomas Ewing, Attorney-at-Law, New York City.

Eat Your Way to Health. A Scientific System of Weight Control. (New Edition, thoroughly revised and greatly enlarged.) An ideal volume for laymen, nurses, dietitians, and physicians, interestingly written in easily understood non-technical language, showing clearly the vitaminic and caloric value of foods in their relation not only to weight control but to high blood pressure, teeth, and general health. The new material contains among other things three lists of menus of three tasty, inexpensive, and easy-to-prepare meals a day for two weeks in summer and two weeks in winter—(1) for Weight Reduction, (2) for Weight Maintenance, (3) for Weight Increase. A thoroughly safe, scientific, and sensible work by an authority—the result of 20 years' research and practice. 12mo, Cloth. $2.00, net.

"There are many books on this subject but this is the best one we have seen. It can be recommended to patients, as the diets contained in it are most easily arranged and can be followed without difficulty or discomfort."—Dr. Douglas H. Stewart, in Medical Review of Reviews, New York City.

ROSENTHAL, DR. RICHARD S.

The Rosenthal Linguistry System in French, German, Spanish, and Italian. This system has met with world-wide success because it is the natural method of learning a language. It commences by associating words with ideas. By this means the student wastes no time with unnecessary rules of grammar and syntax, but begins to use the language itself at once by saying things that mean something and will be of practical use to him. Every minute devoted to this system results in usable knowledge. The distinguishing feature of this method is the proper selection of a vocabulary that can be employed to advantage in every-day life. This common-sense system of learning foreign tongues in the easiest and most natural way is supplied in four languages, French, German, Italian and Spanish. 12mo. Price for any one language, $6.00.

The Language Phone Method

The one best means for learning a language successfully. The Rosenthal Linguistry volumes, in conjunction with a phonograph and the recently created Language Phone New Process records—which insure the most perfect reproduction of the human voice yet developed—the student is enabled to hear in the clear, cultured voice of a native professor the right pronunciation of every word as he learns its meaning. This gives him a speaking as well as a reading knowledge of the language from the very first lesson, something that can be obtained by no other system of home instruction. Terms and descriptive literature will be sent on application. (See page insert of detachable post cards facing inside back cover.)

ROTHE, RICHARD

†Still Hours. Selections from the writings of Richard Rothe. Translated by Jane T. Stoddard. Introduction by John Macpherson, M.A. Crown 8vo, Cloth, 425 pp. $3.00.

SADLER, WILLIAM S., M.D.

The Mind At Mischief: Tricks and Deceptions of the Subconscious and How to Cope With Them. The author leads his readers through hitherto unexplored regions of that mysterious world within us, pursuing the "subconscious" to its secret lair and letting us see it in the performance of its benign acts and also of its incredibly malicious and harmful tricks. Dr. Sadler has drawn upon his twenty-three years' experience as director of the Chicago Institute of Research and Diagnosis for a large number of interesting cases by way of illustration. In untechnical language he explains such cases and tells what methods are being used to cure them. Dr. Sadler is an authority in this field, the author of many books on mental hygiene. This volume more nearly meets the popular demand for information on the workings of the mind than any other work for the layman. 8vo, Cloth. $4.00.

SALEEBY, C. W., M.D., F.R.S., Edin.

†The Progress of Eugenics. In 1909 Dr. Saleeby, under the title of "Parenthood and Race Culture," told the story of the Eugenic movement up to that date. He now reviews its progress; deals many a blow at the open opponents of eugenics; and protests vigorously against those who seek to identify the science with theories which he regards brutal in spirit, immoral in principle, and impossible in practise. Crown 8vo, Cloth. $1.50.

Library of Religious Poetry. A collection of the best poetry of all ages and lands, comprising 1,888 poems, and representing 716 authors. The work includes poems on nature; poems based on historical characters and events; poems of country, patriotism, home; poems relating to Scriptural places, scenes, characters, the seasons; poems on life, God and the Trinity; praise, prayer, the Bible, Crucifixion, the Resurrection, death, judgment, hell, heaven, etc. Fifteen portraits. Royal 8vo, Cloth, 1,038 pp. Indexes of authors, subjects, and first lines. $7.50.

SCHAFF-HERZOG ENCYCLOPEDIA OF RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE, THE NEW

Embracing Biblical, Historical, Doctrinal, and Practical Theology, and Biblical, Theological, and Ecclesiastical Biography from the Earliest times to the Present day. Based on the celebrated German Hauck-Herzog Realencyklopädie für Protestantische Theologie und Kirche. Prepared by more than six hundred scholars and specialists under the supervision of Samuel Macauley Jackson, D.D., LL.D., Editor-in-Chief, Associate Editor with Dr. Philip Schaff, of the First Edition, Professor of Church History in New York University, with the assistance of Charles Colebrook Sherman, Managing Editor, and George William Gilmore, M.A., Bibliographical Editor, and the following Department Editors: James Frederick McCurdy, Ph.D., LL.D., University College, Toronto; Clarence Augustine Beckwith, D.D., Chicago Theological Seminary; Henry King Carroll, LL.D., Corresponding Secretary Methodist Missionary Society; Henry Sylvester Nash, D.D., Cambridge Theological School; Albert Henry Newman, D.D., LL.D., Baylor University, Texas; John Thomas Creagh, D.D., Catholic University of America, Washington; James Francis Driscoll, D.D., St. Joseph's Seminary. Complete in twelve 8vo volumes, aggregating about six thousand pages and an Extended Index, forming a Supplementary 8vo Volume of 211 pages, compiled with great care, by Prof. George William Gilmore, Associate Editor of the work, to make available, with the least possible expenditure of time to the reader, all its rich treasures of knowledge. In this Index, vocabulary titles are printed in Small Capitals; and all entries are intended to register passages where actual information is given upon the topic suggested. It is notably a working Index, which the student will appreciate for its frequent convenience and its great practical value. Price of the 13 volumes in Buckram, $72; in Half Morocco, $102; in Full Morocco, $128.

"It contains the best and latest information, put together in a catholic spirit, free from rash theorizing and immature conclusions."—Prof. A. H. Sayce, D.D., LL.D., Oxford University.

"Its extent, variety, and accuracy of information are notable. Its digest of facts and its tabular statistics make it indispensable for reference."—M. Woolsey Stryker, D.D., LL.D., Pres. Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y.

"In its original form this work has been familiar to students for many years. In this edition the original articles have been reconstructed and brought up to date by distinguished American theologians, under the able editorship of Dr. Jackson. Two features are specially worthy of note: The insertion of hundreds of biographies of men of the present generation on the same pages as those of ancient and Scripture history, and the remarkable and extensive bibliography attached to the articles. The latter is probably the most useful feature of the present edition, and could hardly be excelled."—Rev. F. B. Meyer.

"Throughout the entire work there is manifested a spirit of fairness and broad-minded charity towards all. Where a subject admits of discussion, both sides, or all sides, are usually represented by their best available advocate, and this same spirit is evidenced in all articles of a sectarian character."—Herald, Rochester, N. Y.

"It offers a great variety of information, clearly and compactly given, and more interesting to general readers than those who never meddle with reference books can easily understand."—Times, Hartford, Conn.

"It is universal in its scope, embracing all religions, all sects, all creeds, and all variations of religious thought and philosophy, and it covers every phase of ecclesiastical and theologiccal discussions."—Record, Los Angeles, Cal.

SCHARLIEB, DR. MARY

†The Welfare of the Expectant Mother. Shows how the health of a nation depends largely on the welfare of the mother during the months before the birth of her child, and details what can be done to strengthen and sustain her during this trying period, thus safeguarding the life and health of the next generation. Crown 8vo, Cloth. $1.50.

SCHENCK, FERDINAND S., D.D.

Modern Practical Theology. A manual of homiletics, liturgics, poimenics, archagics, pedagogy, sociology, and the English Bible, for the use of preachers, instructors, and students. In each main division of the subject, reference-books and practical studies for students are indicated, the main object of the book being to put theories into practise. 12mo, Cloth, 330 pp. $1.00.

The Ten Commandments and the Lord's Prayer: A Sociological Study. These are striking applications of the everlasting truth contained in the Commandments and the Lord's Prayer. In an original treatment of the great maxims of civilization, the author has been successful in attaining the medium between overstraining a statute and abating its force. 12mo, Cloth. $1.00.

SCHODDE, PROF. GEORGE H.

(See Commentary on the New Testament—Weiss.)

SCHOFIELD, ALFRED T., M.D., M.R.C.S.

†Nerves in Disorder. This work aims to dispel ignorance regarding all functional nervous diseases and to set forth scientific principles for successfully treating these troubles, not only by physicians, but also by the sufferers themselves. Present-day life tends to constantly work the brain harder and the body less. This tendency is resulting in an increase of nerve disorders, in a growing menace to bodily health and strength. Dr. Schofield shows how to find out the causes of this wear and tear of the nerves. He cites many cases of sufferers. He explains many cases of remarkable cures. In regulating the economy of health, in attaining the even balance between body and mind vigor, in avoiding, checking, or curing all forms of nervous troubles this work will be found invaluable. 12mo, Cloth, 218 pp. $1.50.

"Dr. Schofield tells in understandable language what functional nervous diseases really are, and the reading of this book will do much to relieve the needless sufferings of nervous people which are due to a lack of understanding of the disease."—Boston Transcript.

SCHOFIELD, ALFRED T., M.D.—Cont'd.

†The Home Life in Order. This book deals with subjects of pressing and every-day interest to us all. Dr. Schofield writes not alone of the household and its hygiene, but of the human body as to its organization, functions, and needs in the matter of care. The author is a prominent physician and lecturer of London. 12mo, Cloth, 345 pp. $2.00.

"Dr. Schofield is a good example of the highest type of modern physician, broad-minded, scientific, clear-headed, and equipped with an enormous fund of information bearing upon the subjects of which he writes."—Good Health, New York.

"Dr. Schofield has a very clear way of putting facts and theories that are generally credited with a sort of inherent obtuseness."—The Springfield Republican.

†The Force of Mind; or, The Mental Factor in Medicine. The action of the mind in the cause and cure of many disorders is considered from new and scientific standpoints in this work, with suggestions for the practical use of this knowledge by physicians and laymen. The author shows that the mental factor is the one out of many ever present in some form in all diseases and how this information can be used by physicians and patients. This volume is endorsed and used as a text-book by the founders and practitioners of the Emmanuel Movement. 12mo, Cloth, 325 pp. $2.00.

"The sanest attempt we have seen to deal with the mental factor in disease. It is a book that every physician ought to read. It will help him to understand why the personal factor counts so much toward the physician's success or failure."—The Medical Standard.

†The Springs of Character. A study of the scientific sources and qualities of character. All that concerns the training of the young and the perfecting of our own lives in every-day professional or business life is treated by the author. 8vo, Cloth, 259 pp., topical index and list of books on the subject. $2.00.

"All the subtle and occult as well as educational and outside agencies that tell upon the developing character are exhaustively considered."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

†The Unconscious Mind. Fourth Edition. Its object is to establish the fact of an unconscious mind in man, and to trace in brief some of its powers and the various ways in which they are exhibited. The work seeks to show that this mind is the seat of character and of conscience and spirit-life, and a most important factor in psychical and physical life. The subjects of habit, memory, muscular action, therapeutics, education, sensation, disease, character, sex, etc., are discussed in their relation to the unconscious mind. 8vo, Cloth, 453 pp. With diagram. $3.00.

"It is one of the best works that has been our privilege to examine on the application of the principles and results of the New Psychology. . . . The work has a therapeutic as well as psychological value. It is a work that every college professor and every public-school teacher, as well as every physician and minister, will enjoy."—Baptist Commonwealth, Philadelphia.

SCHUYLER, WILLIAM

Under Pontius Pilate. New Edition. 12mo, Cloth, 352 pp. $1.50.

"The book has the merit of making the events in the life of Christ seem like actual history and as being connected with the great Roman Empire in an intimate way. We can never fully understand Christianity until we give Palestine and its events in Christ's day an exact historical perspective."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

SCOTT, ROBERT, and GEO. W. GILMORE, Editors

The World's Devotional Classics. Selections forming a set of ten volumes born in the hearts of consecrated men, lived in their lives, and redolent of their saintliness. From the writings of sixty-four such men, covering a wide range. All periods between the old Jewish congregation and the modern Christian Church, all branches of the historic church—Western and Eastern, Latin, Greek, Coptic, Jacobite and Protestant—have been drawn upon. Under different conditions of time, culture, and environment, these writers are seen to be united in breathing and magnifying the life lived in the Spirit of God. For inspiration to private and public devotion these volumes will be found ever abounding and helpful. 16mo, Cloth; in a box. Sold only by subscription.

"Little jewels in any minister's library. They have a real and vital mission."—Rev. K. E. Irvin, Dubois, Pa.

"The selections must approve themselves to all who have religious insight and literary sensibility."—President Charles M. Stuart, Garrett Biblical Institute.

"The richness, beauty, and wealth of thought contained in these volumes make them lasting fountains of inspiration."—Rev. F. W. Tingley, Acton, Mass.

"I have often felt the need of books on devotions and in these ten volumes I find my need supplied."—Rev. W. C. Martin, Pastor M. E. Church, South Durham, N. C.

SCURFIELD, HAROLD, M.D., D.P.H.

SERGIEFF, MOST REV. JOHN ILIYTCH

†My Life in Christ. Extracts from the Diary of the Most Reverend John Iliytch Sergieff (Father John). Demy 8vo, Cloth. $3.50.

SERMON BIBLE, THE

A sermon library, containing 4,800 sermon outlines with more than 24,000 homiletical references and embracing the whole of the Sacred Scriptures. It gives the essence of the very best homiletic literature of the present generation, and it is a source of inexhaustible help to the preacher, student, or other Christian worker.

The supreme value of The Sermon Bible lies in its fertility of suggestiveness. Many a preacher or speaker grows weary at times of "seeking for suggestive hints." He wanders over acres of miscellaneous writing and can hunt up nothing pertinent. The process is an exhausting preliminary to the making of a discourse. It will be entirely obviated by judicious resort to the volumes of The Sermon Bible. Upon thousands of text-topics the desired aid will be instantly discovered, and the mind will be set going in the right direction, with an initial impetus toward original thought.

In 12 volumes. 12mo, Cloth. $2.00 per volume; $24.00 per set.

FEATURES OF THE CONTENTS

The plan of the work, in general, gives under each text, each being in its consecutive order from Genesis to Revelation: (1) Outline of important sermons by eminent preachers which exist only in manuscript or periodicals, and are thus inaccessible; or, (2) less full outlines of sermons which have appeared in volumes that are not well known or easily obtained; or, (3) reference to or very brief outlines of sermons which appear in popular volumes such as are likely to be in a preacher's library; and (4) full references to theological treatises, commentaries, etc., where any help is given to the elucidation of the text. Thus the preacher, having chosen his text, has only to refer to the Sermon Bible to find some of the best outlines and suggestions on it and very helpful references to all the aids available.

ARRANGEMENT OF VOLUMES

SHIRLEY, THE HON. RALPH

A Short Life of Abraham Lincoln. The arrangement of peace with the Central Powers has called up so many allusions to Lincoln's handling of the Southern States at the close of the Civil War that this concise and authoritative account of the part he played in preserving the Union and suppressing slavery meets a considerable popular demand. 12mo, Cloth, Illustrated. $1.25.

". . . The bulk of Lincolniana is marred by a tendency to make a god of our great war president; and out of our intense admiration for the man, we have insisted that the bare facts, far from belittling him, tend rather to show more clearly than does panegyric what a moral giant he was. It appears that Ralph Shirley also holds some such view as is here expressed; for there is not a touch of the usual delirious praise in the compact yet comprehensive volume before us. Throughout this story of Lincoln's life is almost bald in its simple factuality; yet we have never read anything on Lincoln that left a more distinct impression of greatness than does Mr. Shirley's work. . . . The book ought to be valuable for supplementary reading in schools."—Journal, Minneapolis.

SHRINER, CHARLES A.

Wit, Wisdom, and Foibles of the Great. Together with Numerous Anecdotes Illustrative of the Character of People and Their Rulers. A fascinating collection of stories that introduce the great men and women of history in a most intimate way. The personal lives of these people, whose public acts form such an important part of history, have been hitherto largely sealed books. But their contents are now revealed in surprizing and interesting form in this authoritative work. Royal Octavo, 696 pp. $5.00.

"A book that is a whole library in itself of the most fascinating reading is 'Wit, Wisdom and Foibles of the Great.' For the person who finds pleasure in reading there can be no more fascinating book, and, of course, it is a gold mine for quotations and witty and humorous stories for public speakers and writers."—San Francisco Call.

"That's mighty nice. I much appreciate the volume."—Theodore Roosevelt.

"So much of the entertaining and the useful can rarely be found bound together as in this book."—New York World.

"A treasure-house of events, incidents, and anecdotes of distinguished people, which a busy man often wants but has not the time to search for. It is a monument of industry, and of judgment and discrimination in selection, which writers and speakers will find most useful."—Hon. Chauncey M. Depew.

"A veritable treasury of interesting pictures of the men we desire to know."—Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus.

"A most entertaining, informing, and useful book. It is filled with apt illustrations of a wide range of subjects of human interest and many most dramatic incidents."—Augustus Thomas, Famous Dramatist.

SMART, ISABELLE THOMPSON, M.D.

The Mysteries of Life. Four volumes that tell plainly and purely the story of sex that is so often difficult for parents to explain and that develop in children a wholesome contempt of impurity. These volumes will counteract the sordid ideas of sex which children many times receive from vague unwholesome whisperings from sources outside your home and will enable you to win their confidence and impart to them the mysteries of life in a clear, understandable way. Warmly recommended by Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of the Juvenile Court of Denver, Colo.; Edwark Bok, of the Ladies' Home Journal; Rev. C. H. Parkhurst, New York; Rev. Francis E. Clark, President United Society for Christian Endeavor; Charles W. Eliot, ex-President of Harvard, and many other prominent authorities.

BOOK I. What a Mother Should Tell Her Little Girl.

BOOK II. What a Mother Should Tell Her Daughter.

BOOK III. What a Father Should Tell His Little Boy.

BOOK IV. What a Father Should Tell His Son.

Small 12mo, Cloth. 75 cents each. $3.00 per set, boxed.

"I have long contended that it was important to teach parents how to advise their own children concerning the mysteries of life, and the set of books—'What A Father Should Tell His Son,'—'What A Mother Should Tell Her Daughter,'—etc., seem to me to be especially well prepared to this end. The four volumes are well prepared and deserve a wide circulation, especially among parents. I hope these books will meet with the reception they deserve."—Judge Ben B. Lindsay of the Juvenile Court of Denver, Col.

"I have now had an opportunity to read the four little books by Dr. Isabelle Thompson Smart, and they seem to me to cover the ground in a very direct way, and yet with that self-restraint that I feel should be characteristic of books on this general subject. I hope they may have a wide sale."—Edward Bok, Editor of The Ladies Home Journal.

SMITH, F. BERKELEY

Parisians Out of Doors. It is said of the French that they live out of doors, and Mr. Smith in this book gives a true picture of this real life of the Parisian. 12mo, Cloth, water-color frontispiece by F. Hopkinson Smith, and numerous drawings and photographs by the author. $1.50.

In London Town. The hotels, the music halls and those who frequent them, the gay procession on the Strand, and in fact all the phases that go to make up every-day (and night) life in the great British maelstrom are flashed before the reader's eyes in a captivating fashion. Cloth, profusely illustrated with sketches and photos. $1.50.

"It is brilliantly written. The glimpses of London are not at all like anything we are accustomed to in descriptions of London."—Brooklyn Eagle.

SMITH, GOLDWIN, D.C.L., LL.D.

The Moral Crusader: William Lloyd Garrison. A biographical essay, founded on "The Story of Garrison's Life, Told by His Children." With Portrait. 12mo, Cloth, 200 pp. $1.00.

SMITH, ISABEL COTTON

The Blue Book of Cookery and Manual of House Management. (Introduction by Emily Post.) This is not "just another cook-book," but an original and authoritative guide for the preparation of foods and for house management. All the originality and importance of this volume would be of limited value unless it were written by so capable and practical an authority as Isabel Cotton Smith. It contains more than 2000 recipes; gives complete information on the management of house and home, with invaluable suggestions for table economy, and includes everything for every season and every day in the year, for every possible repast from breakfast to late supper and from teas and picnic meals to specially designed menus for children at home and at school, as well as menus for vegetarians. Crown 8vo, Washable Fabrikoid, 665 pp., $2.50. Dark blue full flexible Morrocco leather binding, round edges, gold-edged paper, $5.00.

"The Blue Book of Cookery appeals to me as encouraging to the art of American cooking. It contains the most distinguished array of delicate and dainty recipes for the home that I have seen here."—Joseph Boggia, Chef de Cusine, Hotel Plaza, New York.

"I went over all the recipes and I find them so attractive and wonderful. I extend to the authoress my admiration for her accomplishment."—L. Paquet, Chef de Cuisine, Hotel McAlpin, New York.

"I have never seen an American cook-book as comprehensive as The Blue Book of Cookery. Every recipe is so good, so easy to make, that even an amateur cook could not make a mistake. The illustrations, the table service, and the fancy dishes are as excellent as the menus."—Frederick Guillot, Chef de Cusine, Hotel Astor, New York.

"It is the most complete and interesting book of its kind. Every menu and explanation of recipes is so nicely and plainly presented. I gladly recommend the book."—Roger Cretaux, Chef de Cuisine, Hotel Roosevelt, New York City.

"It seems to me a very good book for the housewife and contains many excellent sugestions."—Eugene Thomann, Chef de Cuisine, Waldorf-Astoria, New York City.

SMOOT, THOMAS ARTHUR, D.D.

The Standard of Pitch in Religion. This work discusses the part in universal harmony taken by the individual—how it is to be done with benefit and without discord, and its results. Unusual and pleasing. 12mo, Cloth, 195 pp. $1.00.

SPENCE, EXELL, and NEIL

†Thirty Thousand Thoughts. Thirty thousand choice illustrations, gathered from the best literature of all ages and all countries. For enforcing and enlivening written or spoken words this work aims to be useful to all classes of writers or speakers. Edited by the Very Rev. H. D. M. Spence, D.D.; Rev. Joseph Exell, M.A.; and Rev. Charles Neil, M.A.; with introduction by Rev. Dean Howson, D.D., assisted by a large corps of collaborators. In six volumes. Royal 8vo, Cloth, 3,230 pp., per volume, $6.00; per set, $36.00.

FEATURES OF THE CONTENTS

This Cyclopedia of Illustrations supplies material found in no other reference or other work. It has placed the entire range of literature under contribution. The volumes contain an immense variety of illustrative extracts and quotations, choice and carefully selected literary gleanings of the highest order, anecdotes aiding to define moral and religious truths; historical parallel similitudes—in brief, useful and suggestive thoughts gathered from the best available sources, on all subjects. THE CHURCH.—Church Seasons, Hymns, Ascriptions, Canticles, Sermons, Beatitudes, Commandments, etc. MAN AND HIS LAWS.—His Nature, Constitution, Character, Actions, Influences, Ethics, Sociology, Philosophy, etc. SCRIPTURE.—Bible History, Biography, Geography, Natural History, Ceremonies, Laws, Times, Seasons, Events, etc. THEOLOGY.—Christians, Dogmatics, Prophetics, Miracles, Superstitions, Saints, Divine Attributes, etc.

"It is a veritable thesaurus of valuable information and beautifully expressed thought."—The Interior, Chicago.

"In the spirit of the largest catholicity, and yet without sacrifice of religious fidelity, extracts are taken from ancient and modern preachers of every church and school; from books and from periodicals; from theologians and philosophers, like Prof. Huxley."—British Quarterly Review.

SPURGEON, CHARLES HADDON

†The Treasury of David. An original exposition of the book of Psalms, containing also a collection of illustrative extracts from the entire range of literature, a series of homiletic hints upon almost every verse, and a reference list of writers upon each verse. Mr. Spurgeon considered this the great literary work of his life. It necessitated almost twenty years of research and original writing. Its object is to bring within easy access a profusion of entirely new and original information and light on all the Psalms, without partiality to any single one or group. Its illustrations aim to meet every requirement of the Bible or theological student and to supply homiletical suggestions and illustrations which shall offer the best assistance to the preacher. To laymen in reading the Psalms, this work will disclose new beauties and meanings. It will be of great value when used in connection with home devotional readings. Complete in seven volumes. 8vo, Cloth, per volume, $2.50; per set, $17.50. Sold separately or in the set.

ARRANGEMENT OF THE VOLUMES

Vol. I. Psalms 1-26, 496 pp.
Vol. II. Psalms 27-52, 396 pp.
Vol. III. Psalms 53-68, 496 pp.
Vol. IV. Psalms 69-103, 488 pp.

Vol. VI. Psalms 119-124, 378 pp.
Vol. VII. Psalms 125-150, 491 pp.
(With index to 7 vols.)

"It contains more felicitous illustrations, more valuable sermonic hints, than can be found in all other works on the same book put together."—The Christian Herald, New York.

"This work will prove a storehouse of perpetual spiritual suggestions to the thoughtful preacher."—Zion's Herald, Boston.

"It is surpassed by no other work we have seen on the Psalms."—Louisiville Christian Observer.

"It will prove a standard work on the Psalms for all time . . . invaluable to all preachers and indispensable to every minister's library."—William Ormiston, D.D., New York.

"It is the life-work of the Prince of Preachers. No minister of the Church of Christ for 1800 years has drawn and held such a number of hearers so long. If the secret of his power is here revealed, it will be a Treasury priceless in value for centuries to come."—W. H. Vandoner, D.D.

†Sermons. Nineteen volumes, containing 402 sermons preached from 1856 to 1889, inclusive. 12mo, Cloth. $1.50 per volume.

"It is not too much to say that, as sermons, they stand alone, combining with their pure evangelical doctrine a directness, a simplicity, a transparency, and an effectiveness of style unequaled by any other published sermons by men now in the pulpit or by those of other generations."—The Standard, Chicago.

"Spurgeon's sermons are full of the Gospel and they are full of wise and well-illustrated suggestions as to how one may most effectively preach the Gospel."—Bishop John H. Vincent, D.D., LL.D.

"There are no sermons better worth a preacher's study than Spurgeon's. Preachers ought to study the great models of preaching as artists do their masters, in order to learn their art. Certainly a preacher-peer among the great models was Spurgeon. No preacher can afford to be without his sermons."—Wayland Hoyt, D.D., LL.D.

†My Sermon Notes. A selection from outlines of discourses delivered at the Metropolitan Tabernacle. In the development of his themes, Spurgeon's ideas were so prolific and so virile that the reader may easily develop many sermons from one. Consider not only the sermon notes themselves but the illustrations also, and these four splendid volumes offer material which the average preacher probably could not exhaust in years. In four volumes. Vol. I, Genesis to Proverbs, 298 pp.; Vol. II, Ecclesiastes to Malachi, 388 pp.; Volume III, Matthew to The Acts, 392 pp.; Vol. IV, Romans to Revelation, 408 pp. 12mo, Cloth. $1.50 each. Set of four volumes, $4.50.

Illustrative Anecdotes. Arranged under subjects and topics by Louis Albert Banks, D.D. Cloth. $1.75.

†The Salt-Cellars. A selected collection of the best proverbs and quaint sayings with homely notes thereon, collected for twenty years from ancient and modern literature and folk-lore. Chosen and preserved with a view to their usefulness to teachers and speakers in giving point and force to moral lessons. 8vo, Cloth, 733 pp. $2.25.

STANDARD BIBLE DICTIONARY, A (See Bible Dictionary, A New Standard.)

STANDARD DICTIONARY, THE FUNK & WAGNALLS NEW

A new Creation from A to Z. Four years of time and more than $1,500,000 of money were spent in its production. Over 380 Editors and Specialists were engaged upon it. It has about 3,000 pages; gives over 455,000 living vocabulary terms; contains more than 7,000 illustrations; has dozens of important features not found in any other dictionary.

By a system of grouping applied to the names of fruits, coins, weights, measures, stars, trades, etc., the facts concerning this class of words are given with very great fulness. For example, under "African" are given the names of the principal African tribes; under "constellation" are given the names of all the constellations; under "apple" and the other fruits are given the names of the different varieties, often running into hundreds; under "architecture" a list of all architectural terms is given. This feature is exclusive with the Funk & Wagnalls New Standard Dictionary. For the first time in any dictionary lists of Americanisms and Briticisms are given under these words, and each of these is also defined in alphabetical place.

The custom in lexicography heretofore has been to arrange a dictionary into several separate and distinct departments—the main vocabulary, a department of proper names, one of geographical names, another of noted names in fiction, and still another of Bible names, and a section of encyclopedic matter, etc., etc. In the arrangement of the Funk & Wagnalls New Standard Dictionary, every word is given its own place in the vocabulary, so that those who consult the book are required to look in only one place for the word that they seek—its proper alphabetical place in the vocabulary. This, it is believed, is the first time that this has been done in any English dictionary.

EXCLUSIVE POINTS OF SUPERIORITY

The Funk & Wagnalls New Standard is the ONLY Dictionary that

1. Covers its entire contents under One Alphabetical Order—a great saving of time.
2. Gives the common, present-day meaning of words first, the obsolete meaning last.
3. Carries two keys for pronunciation on every page of its vocabulary.
4. Uses as one of these the key recommended by the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association for adoption by that Association.
5. Presents a consensus of correct pronunciation by the decisions of 25 Experts from the leading educational institutions of the English-speaking world.
6. Makes a point of definition by definitive statement.
7. Includes in its vocabulary the simpler spelling of English words recommended for adoption by the Simplified Spelling Board.
8. Follows a systematic method of compounding words.
9. Gives the key-words to the contents of all pages, for aid in consultation.
10. Contains rules governing grammatical and rhetorical construction.
11. Gives the rules for the simplification of spelling.
12. Employs the best and shortest system of respelling for pronunciation—the Revised Scientific Alphabet, 42 symbols for the 42 sounds of the English language.
13. Gives the rules governing the formation of the plurals of nouns, correct forms of address, etc.
14. Gives the name of the female of the principal animals under the name of the male, as, horse, mare.
15. Gives the antidote for each poison under the poison itself, and repeats them all under the antidote.
16. Makes a point of systematically correcting the common errors of speech.
17. Gives 32,000 quotations, in the author's own words and spellings, crediting author, volume, page, section or stanza; publisher and date of publication.
18. Gives 7,500 separate lists of synonyms, with discussion of more than 23,000 synonymous terms.
19. Gives antonyms—nearly 5,000 of them.
20. Gives the exact date of an event, if obtainable, in biographical, historical, geographical, and other entries.
21. Shows the latest change in form of government of territorial divisions in America and Europe.
22. Records a day-by-day history of the world, covering 31,000 facts in this record alone. In subscription editions only.
23. Presents the most authoritative and latest data on Geological Science as a result of consultation with experts of the U. S. Geological Survey.
24. Shows pictorial illustrations carefully directed by experts in specialties—such as Orville Wright in aviation, Frederick Sammis in wireless telegraphy, etc.
25. Has made a feature of illustrations representing appliances for protecting human life.
26. Locates Bible-names by book, chapter, and verse, so as to be easily found.

"There is no single book of reference so useful and so accurate as the Funk & Wagnalls Standard Dictionary."—Edward S. Holden, Librarian, United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y.

"I am really astonished at the amount of information compressed into so small a volume. You have given us a biographical dictionary, a geographical gazetteer, and an encyclopedia under the guise of an English dictionary. Your dictionary will for me supersede several dictionaries that I have been obliged to use together in order to gain the information now furnished in this one volume."—W. H. P. Faunce, D.D., LL.D., President, Brown University.

"It is the most complete and useful lexicon of the English language yet published."—Guy Potter Benton, D.D., LL.D., President, The University of Vermont.

STANDARD DICTIONARY, THE PRACTICAL

Also published as The College Standard Dictionary. Edited by Frank H. Vizetelly, Litt.D., LL.D. An unparalleled achievement in abridged dictionary making. Outranks the Funk & Wagnalls Desk Standard Dictionary as the largest abridged dictionary published. It is, in reality, only semi-unabridged, for it contains 140,000 vocabulary terms—about 40,000 more than its nearest competitor. One outstanding feature is the ample treatment given to faulty diction. The subjects specially edited for this volume, so as to provide the latest material, are Anatomy, Biology, Botany, Chemistry, Church Terms, Engineering, Entomology, Forestry, Geology, Medicine, Mineralogy, Pathology, Physics, Physiology, Psychoanalysis, Psychology, Radiotelegraphy, Radiotelephony, Therapeutics, War Terms.

SIMPLE PRONUNCIATION SYSTEM.—The system of pronunciation is simple and easily understood.

ACCURATE ILLUSTRATIONS.—Over 2,500 tasteful illustrations of high definite value.

COMPOUNDING FEATURE.—The difference between compound words and broken words at ends of lines is invariably indicated.

FOREIGN WORDS AND PHRASES.—There are eleven pages at the end of the book devoted to Foreign Words, Phrases, etc., current in English Literature.

CAPITALIZATION FEATURE.—Only such words as require capital initial letters are capitalized, thus providing a sure guide for capitalization.

FULL AND EXACT DEFINITIONS.—All words are defined by definitive statement, and the meanings of terms are given in simple words instead of by abstruse and often ill-defined synonyms.

CLEAR ETYMOLOGIES.—All etymologies are traced back in direct line, there being no guesses or incursions into cognate languages.

ERRORS IN SPEECH AND WRITING.—It makes a point of systematically correcting errors in Speech and Writing.

PREPOSITIONS, SYNONYMS, AND ANTONYMS.—It provides over 1,000 prepositions, illustrating their correct use, and furnishes 8,000 synonyms and antonyms.

ENGLISH CLASSICS FEATURE.—Meanings of all reputable words used in the English Classics by the Fathers of English Literature: Chaucer, Spenser, Shakespeare, Bacon, Jonson, Milton, and others of like fame.

"In its scholarship, convenience and usefulness one of the best dictionaries now existing."—E. A. Alderman, Ph.B., LL.D., D.C.L., President, University of Virginia.

"It is so far superior to any other American dictionary of its size that it will be welcomed by every one who wants a handy reference book."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"For every one who speaks or writes the English language this Standard Dictionary will prove a most helpful and unfailingly accurate guide to correct speech and writing."—Portland Oregonian.

"None may question the scholarship and executive ability which have gone into the making of this new and remarkably comprehensive work of reference."—Providence Journal.

"A wonderful volume! We have been studying it carefully, off and on, for about six weeks, and have not yet found it wanting under any test we have applied."—London Methodist Recorder.

"These two essentials—handy size and wide-ranging vocabulary—have been met in this new volume in a manner never approached by a dictionary not of unabridged size."—Portland (Ore.) Express.

STANDARD DICTIONARY, THE DESK

Abridged from the Funk & Wagnalls' New Standard Dictionary. Contains 83,000 terms of all kinds in its one vocabulary order; 7,200 Proper Names of all kinds; 11,700 lines of Synonymic Treatment and 754 Antonyms; 1,200 pictorial illustrations, 1,200 foreign phrases. In addition to its other features, many of them exclusive, the Funk & Wagnalls Desk Standard Dictionary contains numerous full-page illustrations, scientifically correct and unusually attractive, which visualize for you the information sought, such as the page plates of Agricultural Implements—Bark of Trees—Examples of Architecture—Types of Land and Water Birds—Types of Cattle—Types of Dogs—Food and Game Fishes—Types of Flowers—Types of Horses—Types of Fowls—Common American Leaves, etc. James C. Fernald, L.H.D., editor. Large 8vo, Cloth, 902 pp., $2.00; Indexed, $2.50; Leather back, $2.50; indexed, $3.00. Flexible Leather, Indexed, Boxed, $6.00. Exquisitely bound in full crushed Levant, gilt edges, hand tooled, raised bands, boxed, $12.00.

SOME EXCLUSIVE FEATURES

ONE ALPHABETICAL ORDER.—The only Dictionary arranged for Secondary School use in one alphabetical order throughout.

A DOUBLE KEY.—The only Dictionary that uses the key recommended by the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association and the Text-Book Key used for indicating sounds in primers, spellers, readers and text-books generally.

SIMPLER ENGLISH SPELLINGS.—The only Dictionary for such use that includes in its vocabulary the simpler spellings of English words recommended for adoption by the Simplified Spelling Board and the American Philological Association.

COMMONEST MEANINGS FIRST.—The only Dictionary for such use that gives the commonest meanings first, following with the less common, archaic and obsolete.

SYLLABIC DIVISION.—The only Dictionary for such use in which the syllabic division of words at the ends of lines has been systematized as an aid to writers and printers.

IN ITS ETYMOLOGIES.—The only Dictionary for such use that in its etymologies systematically transliterates all Greek, Arabic, Hebrew, Sanskrit and other terms, for greater ease of consultation, that they may be readily read by persons having no knowledge of the original languages.

COMPOUNDING SYSTEMATIZED.—The only Dictionary for such use that follows a systematic method for the compounding of words, and indicates all hyphenated compounds by the double hyphen (=) to distinguish them from words divided at the end of lines by the single hyphen (-).

"The Desk Dictionary is excellent in its arrangement, in its mechanical devices, in its recognition of simplified spelling, and in its admirable adaption for daily use (as distinguished from occasional consultation)."—Professor Brander Matthews, Columbia University.

"This is a dictionary that should be in every man's office today, and of which Sir Gilbert Parker, the novelist, writes from London: 'I have been delighted to see that this new Desk Standard Dictionary contains innumerable examples of information usually absent from books of reference.' "—Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

"I admire its compact and convenient arrangement, its listing of all words under one head, its clear indications of pronunciation, its recognition of modern spellings."—Professor Hall Grandgent, Harvard University.

STORY, MARGARET

How to Dress Well. (The Blue Book of Personal Attire). A valuable treatise by an authority which considers dress for women from both the artistic and the practical view-points, and provides sound information on the principles of tasteful and attractive apparel. Not only does this book give details for enhancing one's personal appearance, for slenderizing the stout, for broadening the slender, for the selection of head-wear and other accessories, but also practical guidance for the selection and testing of materials, choosing of laces and furs, budgeting the dress allowance, and for the care and up-keep of the wardrobe. 15 illustrations and two full-page color charts. 8vo, Cloth, about 400 pages. $3.50.

"'How to Dress Well' is a veritable encyclopedia of clothes. Colors, fabrics, design, clothes for occasions, shopping manners and proportionate expenditure are supplemented by detailed directions for the care of the body."—Evening Post, Chicago, Ill.

"The book is enjoyable to dip into at any time. Its appeal is not only to those of great wealth but to any woman regardless of the amount she may have to spend on her attire."—News, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I think you have summed up a technical subject in a wonderfully constructive and entertaining way."—Carolyn T. R. Lewis.

TAINE, HIPPOLYTE ADOLPHE

Balzac: A Critical Study. Translated, with an appreciation of Taine, by Lorenzo O'Rourke. No writer was better qualified to pass judgment upon the great French realist's genius than Taine, his no less gifted contemporary. In this biography he critically analyzes Balzac, the man, and Balzac, the writer. Unlike the usual biography this study of Balzac by Taine is intensely interesting because of the author's graphic style and the human element which predominates. 12mo, Cloth. $1.00.

THOMAS, KEITH J.

†Personal Power. A book for mental development written by a practical man of affairs who clearly points out ways to develop will power, mental concentration and winning personality. Through his peculiarly gripping style the author calls up in his readers all those aspirations which lead to the highest and best things of life. He gives practical directions for understanding human nature and explains the basic impulses that move men to definite action, explaining the processes of mental evolution and giving ideas for the discovery and development of natural talents. The philosophy of failures and their utility is expounded so that the reader may be guided in the employment of power to achieve success and happiness at home and in business. The book is intended to stimulate the ambitious, encourage the despondent, and lead the seeker in the path of joy as well as of prosperity. 12mo, Cloth, 312 pp. $1.75.

"The young man who adopts the text and advice that follows can not but be stirred to great issues. Read and study it, because it points the way to success and honor in life."—Andrew Carnegie.

"Mr. Thomas' suggestive book avoids the error common to volumes of its kind, most of which acknowledge no limit to possibilities of any man who is convinced of his own powers. It shows how to develop the natural talents, explains the uses of failure, and suggests the best ways in which to make sure of the pleasures of life."—New York Times.

WIMSATT, GENEVIEVE

A Griffin in China. The personal adventures of an American girl (whom the Chinese termed a Griffin) who went to China a few years ago, learned the Chinese language, ate Chinese food, frequented Chinese temples, and dwelt among the Chinese. She dilates on Chinese art, superstitions, and customs, and takes the reader with her into the theaters, shops, restaurants, barber shops, and even to a Chinese funeral. It is not a book of travel, but a very true book of information about China and the Chinese—pictures of every-day life among a much-misunderstood people. Seventeen photographs of places and personages illuminate the book. The explanations given of various art objects, many of which are pictured, may permit one who has Chinese curios and antiques, to identify them and perhaps to read their symbols and markings. Crown, 8vo, Cloth, 272 pages. $3.00.

"The author of this interesting volume is to be envied. She has the unusual ability of seeing the interesting in the things which to most of us are so commonplace as to escape our least attention. Unlike so many people with a flair for writing, she made no attempt to diagnose the source of China's sorrows; rather, she has delved into a little appreciated side of Chinese life and given us a picture which causes one to wonder if in spite of floods, famines, and constant warfare, the lot of the every-day Chinese is not a rather happy one, from his own point of view. This book should be an inspiration to many foreign residents of China who complain of nothing to do in the way of following up an interesting hobby, who say that collecting is too expensive a pastime for them. In her chapters on finger masks, shadow shows and silhouettes, the mud men of Tientsin, and popular personages in Chinese art this versatile lady points the way to the fascinating pastime of collecting which is well within reach of the average purse and which might even prove to be eventually lucrative. A glimpse at the modern Chinese woman fails to bring to light evidence of much that is unusual in the position of the interesting sex, in fact merely substantiates what everyone knows, that geography has little to do with woman's commanding position. We commend this clever bit of workmanship both for its unusual theme and for the wealth of information it contains upon subjects concerning which most of us are too lazy to inquire."—The China Weekly Review, Shanghai, China.

XANTHES

(See "Mental Efficiency Series.")

YEZIERSKA, ANZIA

Children of Loneliness. A collection of vivid, gripping short stories which describe as no other author has done the loneliness, the aspirations, and the struggles of the immigrant. Herself an immigrant, Anzia Yezierska is one of the few to make the fight from the tenements to success and retain the imagination and the will to write of the innermost aspirations and the deepest sufferings of these newcomers to our shores. There is a vigor and intenseness about these stories that can scarcely fail to make a profound impression upon the reader. 12mo, Cloth, $2.00.

"'Children of Loneliness' pictures vividly that tragedy which is the gulf between the immigrant parents, still clinging to the old ways, and their Americanized children. The book has color and a dramatic quality."—New York Times Book Review.

YORITOMO-TASHI

(See "Mental Efficiency Series.")

YOUNG, LILLIAN E.

Pussy Willow's Naughty Kittens. A fascinating story and picture book. The story is simply and delightfully told, with plenty of happy and amusing incidents, to insure enraptured attention. The 19 multicolor illustrations are not only beautiful cut through a new and unique arrangement are especially appealing to children. Prominent in several of the full-page illustrations are doors so arranged that they may be opened, exposing the characters in the illustrations on the following page. In this way the child's interest is kept at fever heat for finding out what new surprize awaits behind these closed doors. 8¾ inches wide and 10¾ inches high. Beautifully illustrated. Aluminum cutting panel included. Cloth. $2.00.

YOUNG, ROBERT, LL.D.

†Young's Analytical Concordance to the Bible. (Revised Edition.) Unquestionably the greatest Bible Concordance ever issued. Exhibiting 311,000 references, marking 30,000 New Testament readings. It gives the original Hebrew or Greek of any word in the English Bible with the literal meaning of each, together with parallel passages. This is the only authorized edition in America.

THE 20th EDITION marks a great advance on all editions previous. Thoroughly revised with scrupulous care. Valuable and important SUPPLEMENTS in the shape of Index Lexicons to the Old and the New Testaments have been made, which will prove of great service to those unacquainted with Hebrew or Greek, including a Complete List of Scripture Names and a Sketch of Explorations in Bible Lands.

In one volume, 4to, Cloth, 1,244 pp., $7.50; Half Morocco, $15.00. With Denison Thumb-Index, 75 cents extra.

Bible Paper Edition. Full limp Morocco, $24.00; Cloth, $17.00, both styles with Thumb Index.

FEATURES OF THE CONTENTS

Its Analytical Character.—It gives at a glance the various shades of meaning of related words represented in the English by one word. Arrangement of Proper Names.—The proper names of all persons and places, unlike most concordances, are given in their alphabetical order with meanings. COMPLETE PRICE LIST

This list is arranged alphabetically by authors and, in addition, under subjects or series. For greater convenience a few books are listed also by title.

The code words, in italics, which may be used in ordering by telegraph, are from Bentley's Complete Phrase Code, Improved. The original meanings of the Bentley Code have been disregarded, and our own titles have been substituted. The Bentley Code, therefore, should not be used in messages containing orders for our books. Our cable address is Eginn, Boston, New York, or San Francisco.

The conditions under which keys for teachers' use may be obtained will be furnished on application to any one of our offices.

A CONCISE CATALOGUE

of the Publications of

GROSSET & DUNLAP

1929-1930

The Publishers invite the careful attention of all interested in the dissemination of good literature to the contents of this catalogue, as it is the most important offering ever made of good books at modest prices.

GROSSET & DUNLAP, Publishers
1140 BROADWAY (at 26th Street) NEW YORK

FOREWORD

IN this catalogue you will find listed not only the best works of fiction, but a splendid assortment of clean, wholesome books for boys and girls, and delightful series of children's books of decided educational value, entertainingly written.

In building the home library nothing could be better than the Grosset & Dunlap books, for they enable the reader to purchase two books for the price of one. And moderate prices do not mean that these books have been compelled to suffer either as to workmanship, durability or attractiveness, for they will be found in every way desirable volumes to add to the library.

Wherever books are sold, Grosset & Dunlap publications may be obtained; but where bookshops are not available, any books will be sent on receipt of price by the publishers.

Keep this catalogue where it will be easy to refer to it.

GROSSET & DUNLAP, Publishers
1140 Broadway (at 26th Street)
NEW YORK

THE aim of the publishers in compiling this INDEX OF GOOD FICTION has been to furnish the book-lover and the book-buyer with a list of nearly all of the fiction successes of recent years, now available at popular prices. Popular Copyrights are re-issues of books that have been on the market in the higher-priced editions for a period of about two years. They are not books upon which the copyright has expired. The same copyright protects both the original edition and the Popular Copyright. These books are printed from the same plates as the original editions. All are complete and unabridged and are reissued by a special arrangement between the author, the original publishers and Grosset & Dunlap to be sold at a popular price.

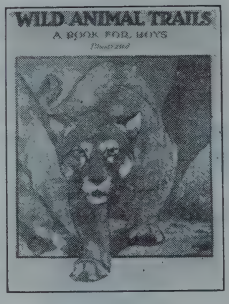
CHUCKLES AND GRINS....F. K. Mathiews

It is a book boys can grow up with, for there is something a boy can turn to in this big jumbo book every day in the year. Perhaps you would like to know how to do magic tricks, or how to make a skate sail, or how to do the squirm dance, or how to make bows and bow strings. This book tells you how.

WILD ANIMAL TRAILS....F. K. Mathiews

Let's take the trail, boys, that leads through this big jumbo book. First we'll have some wonderful adventures—all about the "thousand dollar reward," "the quest of the diamond cave" and other red-blooded thrills. Then we'll meet a lot of wild animals in stories by Dr. Hornaday, "Grizzly" Smith and others. You'll find them the best wild animal yarns you've ever read!



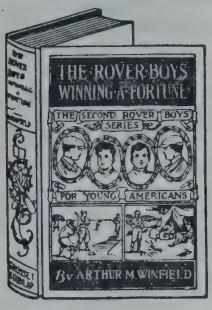
COMING THROUGH ..... Edited by F. K. Mathiews

This is a book of sports for boys—the articles on sports feature many of the well-known figures in athletics, being written either by them or about them. Among those contributing are "Hurry Up" Yost, Football Coach of Michigan; Burleigh Grimes writes on Baseball; Ralph H. Barbour, Harold M. Sherman and others write on the other sports.

The Famous Rover Boys Books

By Arthur M. Winfield

No stories for boys' reading ever published have attained the immense popularity of this favorite series. Over three million copies have been sold. Any lad of mettle is certain to revel in these captivating stories—and each new volume is hailed with delight by boys and girls everywhere.



12mo. Bound in cloth, Stamped in colors, well illustrated.

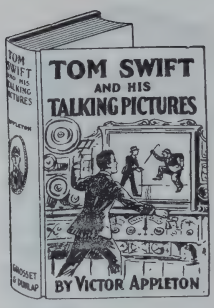
The Tom Swift Books

By Victor Appleton



Every boy possesses some form of inventive genius, and there is no real, live boy who has not planned at some time to invent a marvelous machine which will revolutionize the world.

It is the purpose of these spirited tales to portray in a realistic way the wonderful advances in land and sea locomotion and the conquest of the air, and to interest the boy of the present in the hope that he may be a factor in the development of the future. Tom Swift is a bright, ingenious boy, and his inventions and adventures make the most interesting kind of reading.

The Tom Slade Books

(Endorsed by the Boy Scouts of America)

By Percy Keese Fitzhugh

"Let your boy grow up with Tom Slade," is a suggestion which thousands of parents have followed during the past, with the result that the TOM SLADE BOOKS, by the same author as the ROY BLAKELEY STORIES, are the most popular boys' books published today. They take Tom Slade out of the unwholesome surroundings of Barrel Alley and carry him through a series of typical boy adventures through his tenderfoot days, through his manly experiences as a scout, through his gallant days as an American doughboy in France, back to his old patrol and the old camp ground at Black Lake, and so on.

Beautiful individual picture wrappers in colors. Handsomely illustrated.

The Roy Blakeley Books

(Endorsed by the Boy Scouts of America)

By Percy Keese Fitzhugh

In the character and adventures of Roy Blakeley are typified the very essence of Boy life. He is a real boy, as real as Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer. He is the moving spirit of the troop of Scouts of which he is a member, and the average boy has to go only a little way in the first book before Roy is the best friend he ever had, and he is willing to part with his best treasure to get the next book in the series.

The books are all beautifully bound, with fascinating illustrations, and with irresistible wrappers showing Roy Blakeley and his famous grin.

THE RICCARDI PRESS BOOKS

The Riccardi Press Books are printed in the font specially designed by the late Mr. H. P. Horne for The Medici Society of London. It is now in use in two sizes, 14-point and 11-point. A special handmade paper, with Riccardi watermark, is employed throughout, except where otherwise stated. The volumes are issued under four headings, and are with one exception published in two alternative styles of binding: boards, canvas back, paper label, and silk bookmarks and limp vellum, gold lettering, silk ties. In some cases special editions printed on vellum are issued, such copies being bound in limp Kelmscott vellum. Omission of prices signifies that the volumes are out of print in the vellum edition. The publishers are occasionally able to inform customers where these copies are to be obtained.

All editions are strictly limited and the type is distributed after the edition has been printed.

I. ILLUSTRATED QUARTO SERIES, in 14-point type, comprising illustrated editions of selected works of the highest literary quality.

II. SCRIPTORUM CLASSICORUM BIBLIOTHECA RICCARDIANA, in 14-point type, in a smaller quarto, printed throughout in blue and black.

III. OCTAVO SERIES, in 14-point or 11-point type, consisting of selected works, whether reprints or now first published. Illustrations are in some cases reproduced from the original editions.

THE NEW WORLD LOOSE LEAF ATLAS

The world is ever moving, changing, progressing. Each passing month leaves its mark upon the map. New cities are born; new counties are created; even new nations sometimes spring into existence. Railroads extend their lines; new water routes are opened; new lands are discovered, and every change makes the old-fashioned, permanently bound atlases more and more out of date, less and less accurate and dependable.

The New World Loose Leaf Atlas is not bound in the old-fashioned way. It is in reality a collection of maps held firmly together by a loose leaf binder from which individual maps, when they become obsolete, may be removed and replaced by new ones.

It is generally recognized that maps have become indispensable in business, in school, and in the home. They are essential to complete understanding of the newspaper dispatches we read each day and of the great international questions which are constantly arising. The maps, however, must be down to date and complete, otherwise the false impressions will result in worse confusion than if no maps at all were consulted. Since bound atlases become old within a few months after their pu chase, the New World Loose Leaf Atlas alone pr vides a satisfactory, convenient and economic solution.

Each owner of the Atlas receives twice a yea sets of Correction Maps to be inserted in his Atl in place of the old ones which have become obsole through recent changes. These maps are printed o single pages, uniform in size with those in the Atla so that when they are inserted, the book is as cor plete and down to date as on the day of purchase

Not only is the New World Loose Leaf Atl under constant revision and improvement but it TO-DAY

Graphic Pictures Of Actual Condition

The Physical and Economic maps are full vital information, enabling one to visualize existi conditions in all parts of the globe. The maps sho relief, climate, temperature, vegetation, populatio mining and agricultural products, and many oth phenomena.

THE ATLAS THAT NEVER GROWS OLD

The World In Maps

The maps of Foreign Countries show the world as it is today. Every country is shown on large scale and in great detail. For instance, five pages of maps are devoted to France, three to China, seven to South America, nine to Canada, etc. These maps, show the mountains and hills in gray, water areas on the 78 Historical Maps in the New World Loose Leaf Atlas. This series of maps will enable you to trace the whole course of events from ancient times to the present day.

History Is Graphically Told

The Maps Of The United States

are exceptionally fine ones, being engraved on large scales with a vast amount of detail. Many of the states are shown on double page plates. With very few exceptions, these maps show every post-office and railroad station in the country, as well as all counties, rivers, reservoirs, parks, etc. Every mile of railroad, both steam and electric, is shown.

Complete And Usable Indexes

The index of each map appears on the pages immediately preceding and following the map, so that a place may be located quickly by means of the index references. The indexes include every county, or other minor sub-division, city, town, village, and hamlet with latest population figures.

The 390 Maps In The Atlas

vary in size but most of them measure 11 x 18 inches. The pages are uniformly 13½ x 19½ inches and have four holes punched along the inner edge, to fit over the posts of the binder. The removable front cover holds the sheets firmly in place and is itself fastened to the back cover by screws at top and bottom. When new sheets are to be inserted, these screws are easily loosened by twisting them with a silver coin.

The loose leaf binder is covered with handsome, red fabrikoid and stamped in gold and blue.

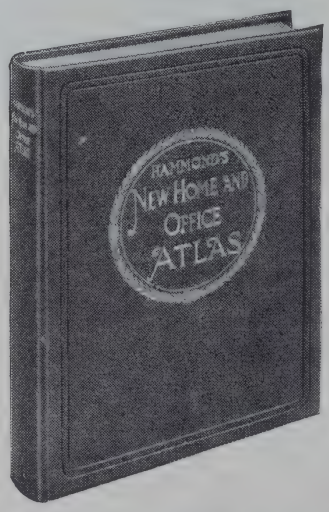
The Necessity For Such An Atlas

is best illustrated by the rapidity with which important changes have occurred in the past. Every year since the New World Loose Leaf Atlas was first published, changes have affected from 64 to 128 of its pages, and Correction Sheets have accordingly been mailed subscribers for insertion in their books. This clearly shows how quickly a bound atlas becomes obsolete and unreliable, and how economical and essential are this Loose Leaf Atlas and its Correction Sheet Service.

PRICE, including two installments of Correction Sheets, $50.00.

HAMMOND'S HOME and OFFICE ATLAS

This splendid new book contains a complete series of political, historical, physical, and economic maps. Among them are 99 pages devoted to the countries of the World, the Canadian provinces, and the states of the United States as they are today. The maps are most complete in detail including all railroads and practically all cities and towns. Many of the maps occupy two or more pages.



SPECIAL MAPS

History is graphically told on the historical maps in the Home and Office Atlas. This series enables one to trace the whole course of events from ancient times to the present day. By examining the maps depicting political boundaries at various periods of the world's history, it is possible to read a fascinating romance of the rise and fall of empires, of conquest, exploration, colonization, commerce. There are 32 pages of these historical maps.

Sixteen pages are devoted to physical and economic maps of the World, the Continents, and the United States, printed in colors to show economic, physical, climatic, vegetation, and population features.

THE ILLUSTRATED GAZETTEER

This thirty-two page section of the atlas describes the countries of the World and is profusely illustrated by halftone reproductions of some of the World's rarest and fairest views. The gazetteer starts with Afghanistan and proceeds alphabetically, telling, in concise but comprehensive paragraphs, of the physical characteristics, principal mining and agricultural products, communications, and government of each country.

THE INDEXES

These include a very complete index of foreign cities arranged alphabetically for the whole world, an index of cities of the United States having 100 or more inhabitants, and an index of Canadian cities. The latest population figures are used in all these compilations. There is also a two-page Gazetteer-Index of the countries, states, and colonies of the World, giving area, population, and capital.

A HANDSOME BOOK

Substantially bound in blue leatherette, a beautiful new binding material more durable than either cloth or leather. The title is embossed in gold on front and side. The top of the book is handsomely gilded.

SIZE OF BOOK, CLOSED, 10 x 12½ inches. 250 PAGES.

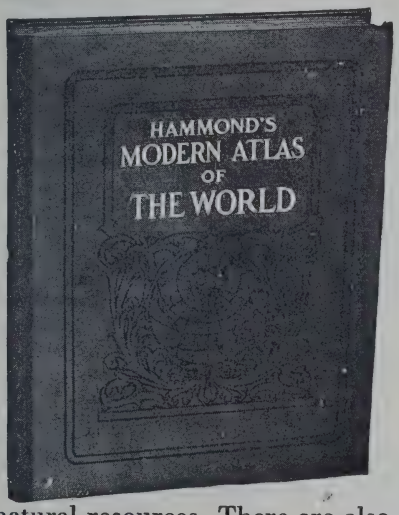
HAMMOND'S MODERN ATLAS OF THE WORLD

THE RECOGNIZED STANDARD FOR TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

The new and enlarged edition of this fine atlas contains 194 pages of colored maps and complete indexes. Every map plate has been thoroughly revised to date or entirely re-engraved, so that the atlas shows THE WORLD AS IT IS TODAY.

The book includes separate maps of every foreign country, every state of the United States and every province of Canada. They show all counties (or minor sub-divisions), railroads, cities and towns, and include the latest changes in names and boundaries.



In addition to the 128 pages of down to date political maps, the Modern Atlas contains 16 pages devoted to PHYSICAL and ECONOMIC MAPS of the World, the grand divisions, and the United States. This new feature is of unusual value, because it presents graphically much information that cannot be obtained elsewhere. These maps, printed in 6 to 14 colors, show at a glance physical features, annual range of temperature, industrial, agricultural, non-productive regions, and natural resources. There are also maps showing the notable long distance air flights of the past year or two, as well as other helpful and interesting aviation information.

A very COMPREHENSIVE INDEX OF CITIES AND TOWNS is included in this splendid atlas. This compilation, alphabetically arranged for the whole world, contains the latest population figures for each place, the index references and the plate where it will be found. The advantage of having one A. to Z. index is apparent, for a town may be found instantly, even though the country in which it is located is not known.

Other indexes give the latest population figures and index references for all incorporated cities, towns, and villages in the United States and Canada. Another helpful compilation is a GAZETTEER-INDEX of the World. This is an alphabetical list of grand divisions, countries, states, colonial possessions, etc. with area, population, capital, and index references of each.

Size of book when closed, 10 x 12½ inches, 194 Pages of Maps and Index.
Durably Bound in Red Silk Vellum DeLuxe with attractive stamping.

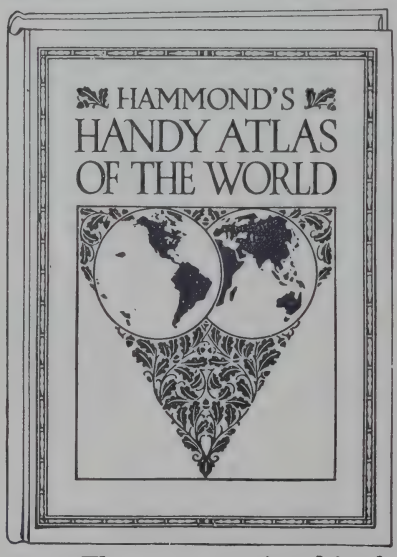
HAMMOND'S HANDY ATLAS OF THE WORLD

THE IDEAL DESK ATLAS WITH COMPREHENSIVE INDEX

The most remarkable feature of this atlas, and the one in which it surpasses all others of its size and price, is its COMPLETE INDEX OF CITIES AND TOWNS, alphabetically arranged for the entire World. Here is a compilation so comprehensive that every city of importance may be found instantly, together with its latest population figure and index references for locating it on the proper map of the atlas.

OTHER VALUABLE COMPILATIONS, occupying 60 pages, include a Gazetteer-Index of the World, Index of Cities and Towns of the United States, Population Statistics of States, and Distances Between Larger Cities of the United States. The Gazetteer-Index gives the area, population, capital and index references of all grand divisions, countries, states, colonial possessions, etc.



The Handy Atlas, in addition, contains 100 pages of the FINEST MAPS OF THEIR SIZE that have been issued. They include individual plates for each state of the United States, each province of Canada, all new and old nations of Europe, and every other portion of the World.

These maps, printed in three or four colors, show accurately the topographical features, the railroads, stations, cities and towns. The maps of states are arranged alphabetically and indicate the NAMES OF THE DIFFERENT RAILWAYS.

HAMMOND'S HANDY ATLAS OF THE WORLD contains 160 pages. The size is 6 x 8 inches when closed.

Hammond's READY REFERENCE HISTORICAL ATLAS

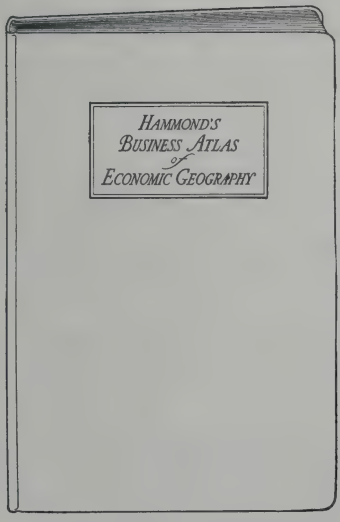
THE Ready Reference Historical Atlas contains a new collection of reliable historical maps, affording the student of history an invaluable reference work at a low price.

The contents of this book include over 70 maps illustrating different parts of the world from the time of the Chaldeans in 3800 B. C. down to the present day. There are maps of the ancient empires of Babylonia, Persia and Syria and the Roman Empire, maps of the Holy Lands, ancient Greece and Italy with plans of the ancient cities and maps illustrating the changes in Europe down to the close of the Great War. There are also detailed maps of the Western Front showing the several battle lines. The various periods in the history of England, France, Poland and Italy are portrayed by groups of maps. The history of the United States is illustrated by a series of maps showing each period, from the days of the earliest explorers and grants down to the present time.

The maps are accompanied by a valuable index which enables one to locate instantly any tribe, region or country shown in this collection.

Size 10¼ x 13½ inches, 32 pages, board binding. Price 75 cents.

HAMMOND'S BUSINESS ATLAS OF ECONOMIC GEOGRAPHY



THE maps in this new work do not confine themselves to political features, but embrace many sides of physical, commercial and economic geography, and present in a concise and graphic way information not readily secured elsewhere. Nothing is of greater importance to the student of geography than the connection between such phenomena as climate, temperature, rainfall, vegetation, and relief of the land.

The Atlas contains PHYSICAL MAPS showing relief and temperature; CLIMATE MAPS showing rainfall, atmospheric pressure and the prevailing winds; NATURAL VEGETATION MAPS showing the forests, grasslands, deserts, tundras, etc.; ECONOMIC MAPS, showing the agricultural and mineral products, industrial areas, etc.; POPULATION MAPS, illustrating the density of population, also POLITICAL MAPS, LANGUAGE MAPS, RACIAL MAPS and OIL AND GAS MAPS.

PHILIP'S COMMERCIAL MAPS

These new maps are the largest ones that have been published and show many details that cannot be included on those of smaller dimensions. For instance, mail steamship routes are distinguished from other steamship routes, while all distances between ports are given. Coaling stations, oiling stations, and wireless stations are located. Railroads are emphasized and, on some of the maps, are shown in different colors to indicate the gauges. The maps are correct as regards new international boundaries, new countries, railroad developments, etc.

The engraving is of the highest type, while the beauty of the maps is enhanced by the attractive color work.

THE MAPS

WORLD ON MERCATOR'S PROJECTION—Size, 46x84 inches; equatorial scale, 320 miles to the inch. In addition to features mentioned above, it shows navigable waterways, ship canals, cables, and the points at which American and British consulates are located. GOVERNMENT MAPS

FOR WHICH WE HAVE BEEN APPOINTED SALES AGENTS

(CARTE INTERNATIONALE DU MONDE AU MILLIONIEME)

Since 1909, government departments in all of the principal countries have been cooperating in the preparation and publication of a series of uniform maps on a scale of 1:1,000,000 (or 16 miles to the inch). Each country has undertaken to prepare maps of certain regions; the total number of sheets required to cover the land surface of the globe is approximately 1,000, of which over 100 have been completed and are now available. Each sheet covers four degrees of latitude by six degrees of longitude and is generally printed on paper, 26x32 inches in size.

The maps are printed in four or more colors; all water, including seas, rivers, lakes and marshes, are shown and named in blue; three classifications of roads and the telegraph lines are indicated by red symbols; and railroads, international boundaries, cities and towns, are shown and named in black. On most of the maps, the elevations are shown by gradation of tints, while on others they are indicated by brown contour lines.

Practically all of Europe, Asia Minor, India, and Brazil have been mapped. The United States is thus far represented by three sheets: Boston, covering an area 40 to 44 degrees north latitude and 66 to 72 degrees west longitude; San FranciscoBay, 36-40N., 120-126W., and Point Concepcion, 32-36N., 120-126W. Argentina, Central America, Chile, Egypt, Japan and Siam have also issued sheets. Further information regarding the maps that have been published and the territory they cover will be furnished upon request.

Prices: Paper Sheets . . $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00

UNITED STATES GEOLOGICAL SURVEY MAPS

(TOPOGRAPHIC SHEETS)

The United States Geological Survey, which, since 1882, has been engaged in mapping the United States, has surveyed about 1,200,000 square miles, or two-fifths of the entire country. About 2,500 topographic maps of areas, known as quadrangles, have been published in sheet form.

The boundaries of these quadrangles are meridians of longitude and parallels of latitude. The standard size of the maps is 16x20 inches. They are published on three scales: 1:62,500, or about 1 mile to the inch; 1:125,000, or about 2 miles to the inch; and 1:250,000, or about 4 miles to the inch.

The maps show all bodies of water, such as lakes, marshes, streams, and springs in blue; contour lines, indicating the heights of all parts of the area, in brown; and generally all political boundaries, railroads, wagon roads, trails, cities, towns and the names of natural and other features in black.

Each quadrangle, or sheet, is named for some prominent feature within it—such as a lake, mountain, town or city—and the maps should be ordered by that name. Index maps showing the locations and names of quadrangles mapped in each state have been prepared, and will be furnished upon request.

We are the largest distributors of these sheets in America, excepting, of course, the Survey itself. ORDERS ARE FILLED THE SAME DAY RECEIVED.

UNITED STATES COAST AND GEODETIC SURVEY

This Survey publishes a series of navigation charts of the oceans, bays, harbors, and rivers along the coasts of the United States. These charts show in fathoms or feet the depths of the water at frequent intervals; lights, beacons, buoys, dangers, wrecks, etc., are also indicated by symbols. The names of towns, hills, high buildings, and other landmarks are given for the guidance of mariners, but interior land points are omitted. The maps are generally in black only, so that courses, sailing directions, etc., can be legibly marked thereon.

We give below a brief list of the general charts most frequently required. A complete catalogue describing all charts and other Coast and Geodetic Survey publications will be furnished upon request. The regular government prices are maintained by us.

SAILING CHARTS

These charts are intended for the use of the navigator to fix his position as he approaches land from the open sea or when sailing between distant coast ports. These retail at 75c and are as follows:

NO.	TITLE	SIZE	NO.	TITLE	SIZE
1000	Cape Sable to Cape Hatteras	34x41	8002	Dixon Entrance to Cape St. Elias	31x40
1001	Chesapeake Bay to Straits of Florida	34x41	8502	Cape St. Elias to Shumagin Islands	34x42
1002	Straits of Florida and approaches	34x41	8802	Aleutian Islands to Seguam Pass	34x41

7002	Cape Flattery to Dixon Entrance	29x40	9400	Arctic Coast of Alaska	26x43

GENERAL CHARTS

These charts are intended for coastwise navigation when the vessel's course would mostly be within sight of land with her position fixed by landmarks, lights, buoys, and characteristic soundings. Those of the Atlantic Coast, (retail price 75c each), are as follows:

NO.	TITLE	SIZE	NO.	TITLE	SIZE
51	Nantucket Shoals to Montauk Point	35x44	1111	Charleston Light to Cape Canaveral	30-43

1110	Cape Hatteras to Charleston Light	32x44	1351	American Shoal to Dry Tortugas	25x38

COAST AND HARBOR CHARTS

These are intended for close coastwise navigation, for entering bays and harbors, and for navigation of harbors and smaller waterways. They are on larger scales than the general charts and contain more detail. Practically every bay and harbor is included. Prices vary from 25c to 75c.

UNITED STATES HYDROGRAPHIC OFFICE

The Hydrographic Office of the United States Navy issues charts of the coasts and harbors of foreign countries. These are generally printed in black on heavy paper, and show the depths of the water at frequent intervals, lights, beacons, buoys, landmarks, dangers, wrecks, etc. A catalogue of the Hydrographic Office charts and publications will be furnished at 50c, the government price.

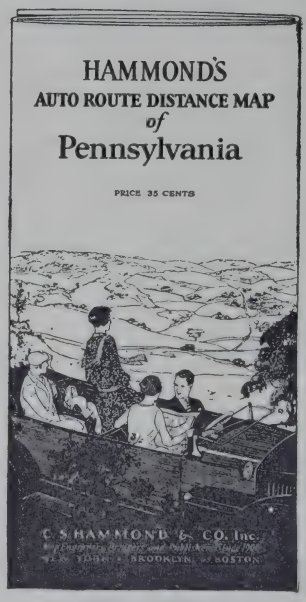
HAMMOND'S AUTO ROUTE DISTANCE MAPS



Size,
when folded, 5x9½ inches

These maps have been especially prepared for the motorist: only information that is essential and valuable to him has been included, thereby making these new road maps the most useful series he can secure.

The two route questions most frequently asked by motorists are "Which Way?" and "How Far?"—and these are the questions which these new maps answer fully. The through auto routes, that is, the long distance highways most frequented by tourists, and the shorter auto routes alone are shown, together with the towns along the roads. The distances between these towns are indicated in small figures, while the total distances between the larger cities and route junctions are designated in large red figures.

On maps of those states which have adopted a highway numbering system, the routes are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the poles or posts along the roads. Remarkable legibility has been obtained by the elimination of all non-essential detail. However, many features of value to tourists are included and several of these appear on no other road maps now on the market. These include state parks, airports, forest fire lookout stations, automobile ferries, etc. Large scale maps of congested areas are printed on the reverse side of the map. Especial attention has been given to lake, mountain, and seashore resorts.

Each map is completely indexed. Not only are cities, towns and villages included in this index but rivers, lakes, reservoirs and other points of interest to tourists. The maps are printed in dark blue and red on blue paper and are folded to convenient pocket size. Each map measures 24 x 36 inches.

COMPREHENSIVE MAP OF THE UNITED STATES

A COMMERCIAL MAP RIGHT IN SIZE FOR THE BUSY MAN—SIZE 38 x 25 INCHES

THIS map is just right in size and subject matter for the use of the man of affairs who wishes to have in portable form a comprehensive view of the commercial centers and principal transportation routes of the entire continental portion of the United States and the adjacent parts of Canada and Mexico. It is not overloaded with detail or marred by the excessive use of color but portrays in most legible form, the information about "high spots," railroad lines, etc. needed by every executive and sales manager. When mounted on map-tack board with edges bound and rings attached as shown in the above illustration, it becomes at once a wall map, a miniature "map tack system" and a handy desk map as well.

Cities and towns are shown in black, the size of type indicating the relative importance of places, so that the larger commercial places in any state or province may be readily selected.

Railroads are shown and named in a separate color, and even in the most congested regions these lines of communication are clearly portrayed. State boundaries are shown in a light border tint and the interior of each state is uncolored. This layout permits of advantageous use of colored marking by crayon or water colors for the separation of territorial limits or the employment of map tacks. In the assignment of sales territory and sales routing work, this map mounted on map-tack board is unexcelled. In sheet form it is just right to fit under a glass-covered desk-top; folded in pocket form, it is indispensable to the traveler. The map may also be had mounted on cloth with wooden rollers top and bottom.

SALES RECORDING OUTLINE MAPS

These maps are printed in black only, and are ideal for the display of temporary or permanent records of distribution. The number of customers, subscribers, or policy-holders in each country, state, or county may be noted; the territory allotted different salesmen, distributors, or collectors may be readily outlined; the gross volume of business in the different civil divisions may be recorded and compared. Health and mortality statistics, church and school attendance, when noted on these maps will convey conditions more graphically than tabulations or charts.

OUTLINE MAPS OF THE WORLD

These maps show the boundaries and names of countries, having ample white space for the insertion of special figures or symbols.

FOR SALES EXECUTIVES

OUTLINE MAPS OF STATES

In this collection, there is a separate map of each of the 48 states, showing and naming the counties but omitting all other details. The county name in each case appears in small type near one of its boundary lines thus leaving blank the major portion of the county to permit the addition of special data.

The boundaries and names of counties are printed in blue upon a good grade of white bond paper, upon which notations can be made in ink, crayon, pencil or water color. The maps measure 8x10½ inches, and are printed on paper 8½x11 inches, the size of a business letterhead.

SMALL SIZE GENERAL MAPS OF STATES

These maps are printed in color and in full detail, but on account of their convenient size, 8x11 inches, they are used extensively by sales executives and statisticians. The maps show the counties in different colors; the railroads are indicated as well as cities and towns. There are two plates containing two states each, viz., Massachusetts and Rhode Island; and Maryland and Delaware. With these exceptions, each state is shown on a separate 8x11 map printed on paper 11x13½ inches in size.

MISCELLANEOUS MAPS

In the following compilation are included brief descriptions of many (but not all) of the maps in our vast stock—the largest assortment of geographical publications to be found in any establishment in the World. In order to include as many maps as possible, only the character, size, scale, and price of each one are given, but a more detailed description of any item will be promptly furnished by telephone or letter, upon request

EXPLANATION OF ABBREVIATIONS

The descriptions are grouped under nine general headings, namely: Series of Maps, The World, Africa, Asia, Europe, North America, United States, Oceania and South America, in the order named. Under these headings are compiled the descriptions, first, of maps of these divisions, and then, alphabetically arranged, those of the countries and states in them. Individual maps, issued as part of a series, of uniform size and nature, are described only under the heading "Series of Maps," but cross-reference by number to this series is given below the names of the individual countries or states. For example, we have 14 different maps of Kentucky; four are given special descriptions under that heading, followed by reference numbers to ten series, in each of which a map of Kentucky is published and sold separately.

CHARACTER OF MAP

For the sake of brevity and simplicity, the maps have been assigned descriptive terms, according to the features they emphasize or the manner in which they show them. Some of these descriptive terms are defined below. It should be explained, however, that these descriptions apply only to this compilation and are intended merely to differentiate between the various maps of the same area.

A General Map shows the political sub-divisions, the routes of railroads, simple topographical features, cities and towns.

A Railroad Map is one on which the railroads are named, and, on some, are printed in individual colors.

A Road Map shows the automobile routes and is of especial value to the motorist.

An Orographical Map is one on which the different elevations are shown in different tints.

A Topographic Map is one on which the elevations are indicated by contour lines.

An Outline Map is printed in black only and generally shows no detail except country, state or minor division boundaries.

A Base Map is printed generally in black but contains some detail, more or less complete.

A Geological Map shows the geologic formations and strata by different colors.

An Economic Map locates the principal mining operations, designating the mineral produced and also indicates the chief agricultural products of the different regions.

Other terms will be self-explanatory.

SIZE OF MAP

SCALE OF MAP

The figures in parentheses ( ) represent the scale of the map, that is, the number of miles to one inch on the map.

PRICE OF MAP

The price in each case is preceded by a letter which indicates the style in which it is furnished at the rate given, viz:

C—Mounted on cloth, flat.

D—Dissected on cloth and folded to pocket size. The paper map is first cut into sections of equal size, and then they are mounted on cloth with blank spaces between the different sections, so that the finished map folds readily and compactly. A very durable format.

F. M.—Mounted on cloth with plain wooden rollers top and bottom.

P—Printed on paper, and folded in pocket cover.

P. C.—Mounted on cloth, and folded in pocket cover.

S—Printed on paper, and furnished in flat sheet.

At the prices quoted we will pay transportation charges to any point in the United States or Canada.

MAP MOUNTING

The demands for this class of work have been steadily increasing and have necessitated enlarging our facilities until we now have the largest and best equipped Map Mounting Department in the country. Here we delicately mount the torn fragments of some rare map or parchment for some collector and execute quantity orders for the trade and for large corporations. Our workmanship is invariably of a superior quality; satisfaction is guaranteed.

STYLES OF MOUNTING

PLAIN BACKING. The map is mounted upon muslin that has been dampened and stretched across an oak frame. When removed from frame and trimmed neatly, the reinforced map lies flat. Rates: three square feet or less, 75c; larger maps 25c per square foot.

FULL MOUNTING. The map is backed on muslin as above, then wooden rollers are fastened by strong brads to the top and bottom of the map. Rings are attached to the top roller so that the map may be suspended. Rates: three square feet or less, $1.25; larger maps 40c per square foot.

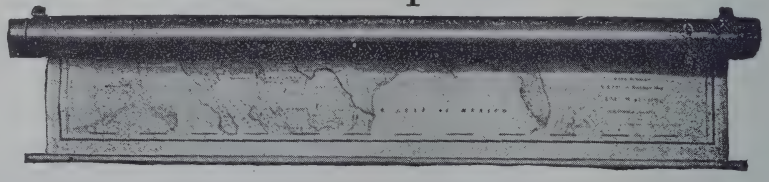
STEEL CASE MOUNTING. The map is backed on muslin with wooden roller at the bottom and an extension of one to three feet of white paper mounted across the top. To this extension is attached a spring roller (similar to a window shade roller) which is then inserted in the steel map case described below. Rates may be readily calculated by adding the price of the case as given below to the cost of full mounting as stated above.

DISSECTING ON CLOTH. The map is first cut into sections of equal size, which are then mounted on cloth with blank spaces between the different sections, so that the finished map folds readily and compactly. Rates: three square feet or less, $1.20; larger maps 40c per square foot.

MAP-TACK BOARD MOUNTING. Maps are frequently mounted on map-tack board, which is a preparation of wood and cardboard. It is then possible to insert map tacks for special designations as described on pages devoted to Map Routing System and Map Tacks. After mounting the map on the board its edges are bound with tape and eyelets are punched for suspension purposes. Rates: three square feet or less, $1.50; larger maps, 50c. per square foot, except that maps longer than 10 feet or wider than 4 feet require a frame and hence the charge is 60c. per square foot.

HAMMOND'S MARKING SURFACE. Mounted maps, when treated with this waterproof surface, may be marked with colored crayons to indicate any special data. The markings may be easily removed without injuring the map. The charge for applying this surface is 20c. per square foot. China marking crayons, any color, 15c. each.

Steel Map Case



The Steel Map Case has more points in its favor than any other design for containing individual maps. It is made of heavy sheet steel, in a single piece, with edges turned over, japanned in dark green. When map is rolled up, the moulding on bottom fits snugly into slot, thereby making it dust-proof. Because of its construction, it is exceedingly strong, and so light that a child can easily carry the largest sizes, and, also takes up less room than any other unit. By removing cap at right end, adjustments may be made without the use of any tools. Being made of metal, it is not affected by moisture, or other climatic conditions. These unit cases may be hung one above the other, without interfering with the operation of any one.

THE NEW PHYSICAL GLOBE

FOR THE SCHOOL AND LIBRARY

THIS latest addition to our large line of globes is designed to fill a special need which has been felt for a long time. This globe which shows the height of land and depth of water as well as the political boundaries, is being extensively adopted for school and library use.

THE NEW 12-INCH PHYSICAL GLOBE

The teaching of geography embraces a wider field to-day than ever before, and this globe has been designed to meet some of the new requirements not shown on the ordinary globe. Physical features are especially prominent. The height of land from below sea level to 12,000 feet and over is shown by means of seven different tints of brown and green, and the depth of water down to 3,000 fathoms and over is shown by five distinct tints of blue. The coast-lines, river courses and lakes are well defined in a blue tint and the principal railways, cities and towns and all names are in black. Ocean distances aregiven, currents named and the direction of their flow is indicated by arrows. The political boundaries are distinctly over-printed in carmine and embrace all of the latest changes.

THE NEW PHYSICAL GLOBE IS MADE ONLY IN THE POPULAR 12 INCH SIZE

NEW GEOGRAPHICAL GLOBES

PLAIN STAND GLOBE

ALL of our globes are of the very highest grade. The maps are carefully engraved, beautifully lithographed in ten permanent colors and are down-to-date in every particular. The balls are finished with an extra fine grade of varnish and, hence, can be washed without injury. The mountings are attractive and substantial, and the entire product presents a striking appearance; we guarantee satisfaction. All twelve and eighteen inch globes are equipped with Metal Hour Discs, and each is accompanied by a manual, fully explaining the various features of the apparatus.

PLAIN STAND GLOBES

No. 801. Diameter of Ball, 8 inches. Height on Stand, 14 inches ..... $ 7.70

FULL MOUNTED GLOBE WITH MOVABLE MERIDIAN

COMPARISON OF SIZES

(8, 12 and 18-inch sizes)

Though not usually known, the superficial area of an 18-inch globe is over five times that of an 8-inch globe and more than two and one-quarter times that of a 12-inch globe. On account of the clearness of the engraving which is correspondingly larger, we strongly recommend the 18-inch globe for general purposes.

TABLE STAND GLOBES

The globes illustrated on this page are mounted somewhat more substantially than the popular priced ones on the preceding pages. All the globes in these new series are 12 inches in diameter. The maps are down to date, are lithographed in nine attractive, fadeless colors and perfectly fitted to the balls. The surface of the globes is treated with a special scratchproof and waterproof varnish. The bases are made of heavy metal and are beautifully finished. A piece of felt at the bottom of each base protects table, stand or desk from being scratched or marred.

At the left is a globe that is readily adaptable to any type of home or office. It measures 25¼ inches from the bottom of the base to the top of the globe ball. All metal finished in sprayed dark bronze, high lighted with gold.

LIBRARY TABLE GLOBE

A LOW STAND GLOBE OF HANDSOME APPEARANCE

To those who are satisfied only with the best in library and office furniture, yet lack the floor space for a high stand globe, this handsome new product will have an irresistible appeal. It may be placed on the desk or library table and, because of its low stand, may be examined by one while seated in a chair. It is probably the only globe of its size that may be satisfactorily examined in this way.

Every part used in its construction is of a superior quality. The imported map and horizon circle printed in ten beautiful colors, the wrought brass meridian, hour disc and other fittings, and the American walnut stand with soft, oil finish, altogether present a rich, pleasing appearance.

The globe ball is 12 inches in diameter; its map is down-to-date, showing all the latest changes in international boundaries, etc. In order that the surface may be washed, high grade varnish has been applied, which adds a permanent and attractive luster to the bright colors of the map.

The solid walnut stand, a superb example of the cabinetmaker's art, occupies a space only 17½ inches square; its height is 16 inches.

WIRE STAND GLOBES

These popular globes are frequently used in classroom work, each pupil having one on which to follow the demonstrations by the instructor on one of our larger globes. For children commencing the study of geography, these wire stand globes will be found as serviceable as a larger globe.

Since the eight inch size is very nearly as detailed as those on the heavier stands, it is often found satisfactory for office and home use. Many of the features included in our larger globes appear in smaller scale on both sizes of the wire stand globes.

Mounted on very substantial wire bases, these globes present a very good appearance. The maps show all the principal countries and cities, including the latest geographical changes. The surfaces are varnished. Each globe is packed in a separate carton.

THE MERCHANT SHIPPER'S GLOBE

FOR THE OFFICE AND LIBRARY

THIS globe embraces many new and novel features heretofore not embodied in a similar work. The map is entirely new and gives all the latest boundaries throughout the world, including the new boundaries in Europe, the Mandatories in Africa and the Pacific, etc. These boundaries are shown in a distinct tint, thus eliminating the heavy colors so objectionable on a high class globe. The ball, 18 inches in diameter and surrounded by a hand-cut brass meridian, is mounted in a beautiful polished solid mahogany stand. In the center of the stand, below the ball, is an accurate compass 8½ inches in diameter and covered by a glass plate. The horizon circle surrounding the globe is in colors and shows all the divisions with greatest precision. On the top of the ball is a brass hour circle which enables the user to tell the exact time of any place in the world. Ocean distances between ports are given in nautical miles and distances between principal cities are given in statute miles. Cities, towns, railroads and rivers are also shown. The finish on the ball is of such high quality as to permit its being washed with a damp cloth. The height from the floor to the top of the brass meridian is 45 inches and from the floor to the horizon circle is 34½ inches. Only the highest grade of workmanship is put into this beautiful and useful globe and it will make a worthy addition to the finest office or library.

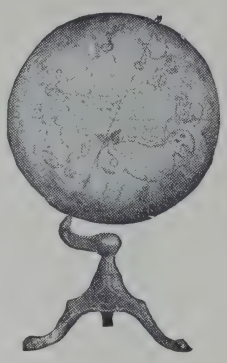
CELESTIAL GLOBES



SHOWING the configuration of the stars and the constellations. The stars are shown up to the ninth magnitude on these globes. This is an important thing to be taken into consideration when ordering celestial globes. The mythological figures are printed in gold while the stars printed in white against a deep blue back-ground, present a very pleasing and striking appearance.

CELESTIAL GLOBES furnished in the same mountings as TERRESTRIAL GLOBES at 20% addition in price, and are supplied only in 12 inch and 18 inch sizes.

Mounted on terrestrial pole unless otherwise ordered.

HAMMOND'S
IMPROVED PLANISPHERE

Size, 16 x 16 inches

This apparatus shows for every hour of the year, the principal stars that are visible at that time. It is substantially made of heavy board and is attractively printed in colors, with the heavens in a pale blue. On the front is a circular opening, representing the horizon. A series of other openings form a semi-circle about the horizon opening, and along the sides of these smaller openings are printed at even intervals the hours of the day from 4 P.M. to 8 A.M.

Beneath these openings is a movable disc bearing a map of the sky and a circular calendar of the days and months of the year. By revolving this disc until the day of the month is adjacent to the hour on the front, a star map for that particular hour appears in the circular opening. If the northern point of the planisphere is then held in that direction, it is possible to identify easily all the more important stars and constellations, for the planisphere is in effect a mirror of the sky containing the names of constellations and the stars of the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd magnitudes.

On the sky map, the constellations are printed in blue and are connected by broken blue lines. Stars of the first magnitude are shown and named in red; those of the second and third magnitude in black. The Ecliptic is shown by broken red lines.

On the back of the planisphere is printed a list of the stars with their right ascension and declination. This list forms in reality an index for locating the different stars, and is a valuable feature to be found on very few other planispheres.

The planisphere is enclosed in an attractive box 16 inches square, and ½ inch deep. An explanatory book and a set of tacks representing the planets are included.

THE POPULAR GEOGRAPHICAL GAME

AMERICAN CITY LOTTO

Here is a game that is more than a mere pastime for children; more than an idle means of amusement. American City Lotto possesses all the elements of a good game, arousing interest, excitement and friendly competition, but in addition it teaches the players many helpful facts of geography. The leading cities and their locations, the state capitals, state flowers and nicknames are examples of the knowledge acquired while playing. Furthermore, it entertains adults as well as children. It is easy to learn and so fascinating to play that youngsters and grown-ups become intensely interested in the game.

American City Lotto consists of twelve playing cards, each bearing the names of five cities in four states and 240 small cover tickets, each containing one of these city names and with one, two or three stars added in the cases of state capitals and largest cities. The players hold one or more cards before them and the cover tickets are placed face down on the tables. One at a time these are picked up and read aloud by one player, who gives the ticket to the player having that city on his card. It is then placed at the proper place on the playing card, and the round terminates when one player gets a complete state covered. Each player is credited with a point for each star he has exposed and the winner gets five extra points. Another round then commences; this continues until one player makes 49 points which ends the game.

The playing cards are heavy yellow board, 9 x 5½ inches, printed in green and brown; the cover tickets are red and blue 8-ply cardboard. Enclosed in box 10x6x1½ inches with title printed over map of the United States in four colors.

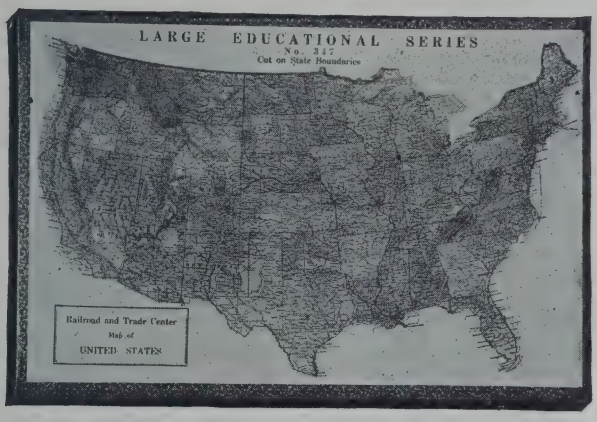
HAMMOND'S MAP PUZZLES



These are jig-saw puzzles of maps that are dissected on county or state lines. Accurate maps printed in bright colors are carefully mounted on a special composition board. They are then sawed into many intricate pieces, most of them representing the size and shape of the sub-divisions.

Assembling these pieces into complete maps is both entertaining and instructive as it encourages the study of geography.

With the exceptions of Puzzles Nos. 247 and 256, each box has as a label the same map used for the puzzle within. Puzzles Nos. 247 and 256 are enclosed in a box bearing a beautiful cover design in four colors. The puzzle pieces are protected from loss by a seal of glassine paper entirely covering the open box.

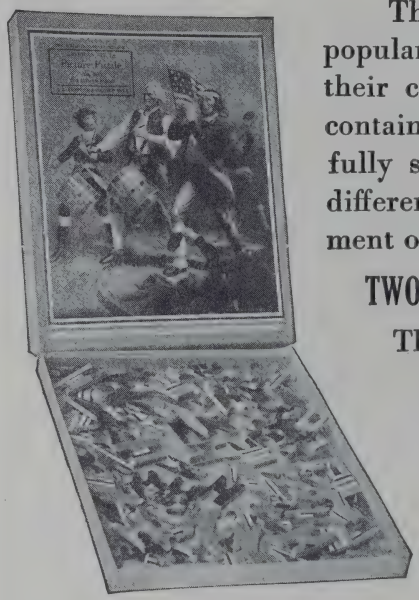
HAMMOND'S JIG-SAW PICTURE PUZZLES



This attractive line of puzzles is very popular with youngsters who delight in their charming pictures and handsome containers. The subjects have been carefully selected to appeal to children of different ages, and there is a wide assortment of sizes and prices.

TWO PICTURE PUZZLES IN EACH BOX

There are pictures on both sides of the puzzle pieces, so that each box really contains two puzzles. Great care is exercised in their preparation. The pictures, mounted on composition board, 3/16ths of an inch thick, are carefully sawed into many pieces, which are immediately packed in the boxes and sealed with glassine paper to prevent loss. The cover of each box bears a duplicate of one of the puzzle pictures.

In each of the eleven series listed below, there are six different boxes containing two picture puzzles.

HAMMOND'S LITTLE FOLKS PICTURE PUZZLES

In addition to the large assortment of jig-saw picture puzzles described on the preceding page, we make this fine collection of die cut puzzles for younger children. These are enclosed in equally attractive boxes containing from two to five different puzzles. The pictures are mounted on composition board, ⅛ inch thick, and, after varnishing, they are die cut into odd shaped puzzle pieces. With each set are included complete, full size copies of the pictures, which assist the children in assembling the puzzles.

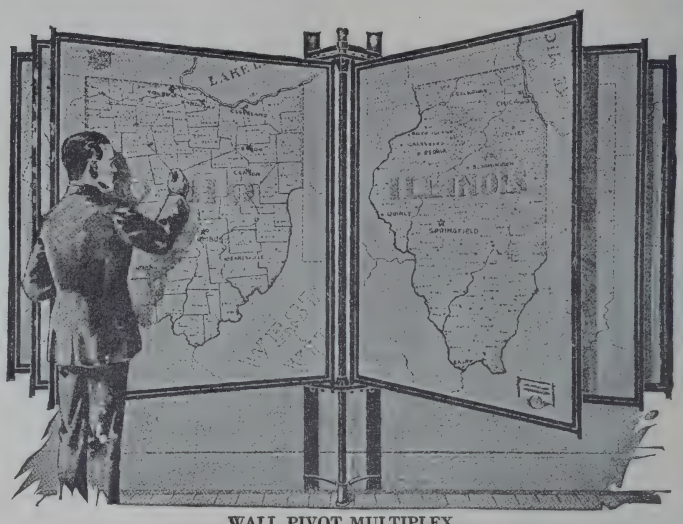
The Wall Pivot Multiplex

The Loose-Leaf Idea Applied to Large Maps

Makes Large Maps More Useful and Saves Space



WALL PIVOT MULTIPLEX

All wings of this fixture pivot or swivel from left to right or vice versa, and when not in use the wings can be compactly bunched together and closed flat against the wall.

The multiplex comes attached to two strips of hardwood ready for fastening to the wall.

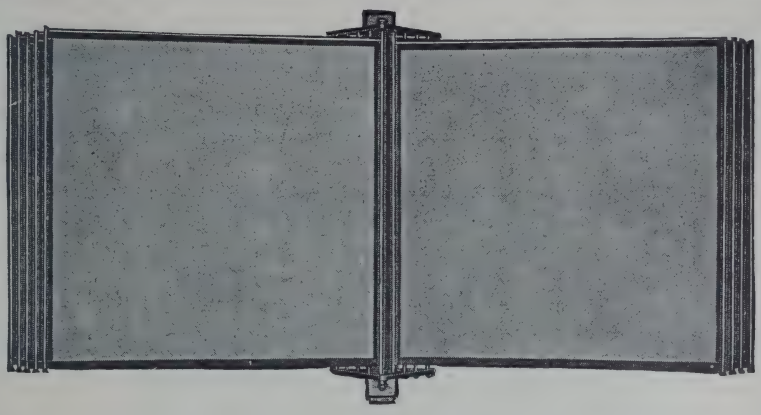
The fixture is built of strong steel castings with one inch steel tubing upright extending to the floor around which the wings swing. All metal parts of the fixture are finished in hard baked black enamel.

The full capacity of the WALL PIVOT MULTIPLEX is ten wings in the three sizes given below. These wings are of half inch steel tubing electrically welded at joints and the filler is of composition board ready for mounting of maps and is especially adapted to use of map tacks.

STYLE	WING SIZE	CAPACITY	PRICE COMPLETE	PRICE OF EACH WING
No. 6 a	40 x 48 Inches	10 Wings	$123.25	$ 9.75
No. 6 b	50 x 48 "	10 Wings	134.25	10.45
No. 6 c	48 x 60 "	10 Wings	150.75	12.10

If fixture is desired with fewer wings, deduct from total cost, the price of individual wings not required. Wings may be purchased separately at rates given.

MULTIPLEX WALL FIXTURE



This outfit is designed on the loose-leaf principle and provides complete visibility of sales and territory maps at the proper eye level. It will place your entire territory before you so as to enable you to visualize it, analyze distribution, and plan economical routing of your sales force so that they may work to best advantage at lowest cost. The wings are removable so that any map can be taken out and used separately. Each wing holds two maps.

These fixtures are built according to tested designs, which have been used for years in the offices of the foremost selling executives in the United States. All frames are black enameled and wings are steel, electrically welded, and black enameled, double baked.

This wall style comes in the variety of sizes and wing capacities listed below:

MAP TACKS

THERE is almost no limit to the possibilities for using these tacks on maps and diagrams to indicate special details. There is nothing more graphic or interesting than statistics represented by these indicators of attractive and well contrasted colors, which catch and hold the eye. They have been used in municipal budget and health exhibits to show, for instance, the proximity of houses and factories, the prevalence of certain diseases, and the comparison of present and proposed transit facilities. In business enterprises they may be used to indicate the routes of traveling salesmen, the territories allotted to agents, sections controlled by competitors, etc.

Lowest Prices and Efficient Service on Your Magazine Subscriptions

REALIZING the need of an Agency through which booksellers could route to the publishers the magazine subscriptions they received, Harper & Brothers twenty-three years ago organized The Franklin Square Subscription Agency.

The need for such an Agency has been proven by the steady growth of The Franklin Square Agency.

We are serving now a very large majority of the bookstores and department stores of the United States and Canada and handle for these bookstores and department stores almost $1,000,000 worth of subscriptions each year.

In addition to granting very liberal commissions to booksellers on their magazine subscriptions, we have developed an exceptionally rapid, accurate service in the forwarding of subscriptions to publishers. Our triplicate subscription order book makes the handling of subscriptions by the booksellers exceptionally easy and eliminates complaints.

The Franklin Square Agency also cooperates with booksellers in building up their magazine subscription business by supplying them with very attractive subscription catalogues and circulars for distribution to their customers. This promotion material as well as the subscription supplies are furnished without charge.

We gladly extend our services to all booksellers. If you wish further information, write to

MISTAKES

To avoid mistakes in ordering, customers should always

1. Give full and exact titles.

   When ordering from a series, state explicitly which numbers in the series are desired.

2. State definitely whether you wish editions with answers or without, with vocabulary or without.

   We cannot hold ourselves responsible for your neglect to specify when editions with answers or vocabularies are wanted.

3. State which binding is desired — paper, boards, or cloth.

   Books not otherwise described in this list are bound in cloth.

4. When books ordered are for introduction, this fact should be stated, with the name of the school or college into which they are to be introduced.

SHIPPING DIRECTIONS

Shipping directions should be given with great care, and it should be distinctly stated whether books are to be sent by mail, express, or freight. If by express or freight, state by what line.

REMITTANCES

Remittances should be made by post-office orders, express orders, or checks on New York, Boston, or Chicago.

NOTE

That goods sent as ordered are not returnable, except by previous agreement.

That all claims for deduction should be made on receipt of goods.

That books sent by mail, or sent to others for enclosure, are at purchaser's risk.
